New Gestation Table.
 A new edition of the gestation table published last year in Extension Bulletin No. 25 has been prepared and is being issued on a card of convenient size. The table may be had without cost upon application to the Department of Dairy Husbandry, University Farm, Lincoln.
Tire Care.
 The fabric in automobile tires should be well protected from moisture and heat by keeping all holes through the tread sealed either with tire dough or by vulcanization.
 Chains should be taken off as soon as possible after being used, since they are very destructive to the tires when run on hard ground.
 Extra tires should be carried on long trips, as very little dependence can be put on tires which have been idle for several months.—Department of Agricultural Engineering, University Farm.
Corn 60 Cents—Pork Costs 5 Cents.
 With corn valued at 60 cents a bushel the cost of feed alone for producing a pound of pork is five cents, according to Bulletin 147 of the Nebraska Agricultural Experiment Station, just issued. Among other things, the bulletin says that the most suitable supplementary feed to corn for fattening hogs seems to depend on several variable factors. Oil meal, cold pressed cottonseed cake, and tankage rank close together in the profits secured in nearly all tests. In some tests these by-products give faster gains and more profit than corn and alfalfa, and in other tests the reverse is true. The physical condition of the hogs as influenced by weather and other factors seems to determine whether alfalfa hay or such a by-product as these just mentioned is the most profitable to feed with corn for fattening hogs.
Corn and Alfalfa Best Ration.
 Corn and alfalfa again ranked first in rate and cheapness of gain in the recent experimental feeding of six lots of steers at the Agricultural Experiment Station of Nebraska. The experiment indicated not only that corn and alfalfa ranked first but that the difference in favor of this ration is even more marked than as shown in previous experiments.
 The rank of the other lots, in the order of cheapness of gains, together with the rations, is as follows: 2—Corn, alfalfa, and a heavy feed of silage during the first ten weeks.
 At the end of this time the silage allowance was gradually cut down until it was entirely stopped six weeks before the experiment closed. After the silage was stopped, cottonseed meal was added to the ration.
 3—Corn, alfalfa, and a medium feed
