If you are devoid of enthusiasm, ambition, and that quality called "pep" in the language of the "live wire," it will not be worth while for you to read any further. You may as well save your eyes. But if you are actually open to a call from opportunity, and have a fair share of ambition, then we know that you will be tremendously interested in this story.

Some wise man once said, "Important happenings occur during the blue moon season." We are not prepared to state whether this is the blue moon season or not, but we do know that one of these important happenings is going to be put on in Holt county in one-two-three order. The fact of the matter is you will have to watch closely for this proposition is going to be staged in the short period of eight weeks.

Don't get impatient and wonder why we are beating around the bush—we are merely trying you out. If you are a live wire you will have the patience to read still further. Any way, it will only take you six minutes by the clock to read the entire article.

All right, if you are now in a receptive mood, listen closely: We are going to pull off the greatest contest that has ever been staged in this county. We are going to head our list of prizes with that world famous car, the Five Passenger Maxwell Touring Car, 1916 Model. You ought to know that the Maxwell has long been noted for the service it renders.

Six prizes will be offered. You will find the full list in our ad on page five. Besides these six prizes we are going to give twenty-five per cent commission on new subscriptions to every contestant who makes a cash report each week and does not win a prize. You see everyone who tries in earnest will be bound to come out winner. Our contest is being conducted by a firm of experts in this business and one of their representatives will be at this office very soon to answer all questions and help each contestant as much as possible. Our contest is being handled by the old and reliable firm of Burgess, Johnson & Co., of Brookfield, Missouri.

The Maxwell automobile will be given to the contestant who has the most votes at the conclusion of the contest. Contestants will work only eight weeks. The other prizes will be awarded in the order listed, and the commission will be given to non-winners.

Votes will be issued in only three ways—by securing cash subscriptions to The Frontier at the regular rate of $1.50 per year, by collecting the free fifty-vote coupons from each issue of the paper and by selling advertising and job work cards. Nothing could be more simple. However, all questions will be cheerfully answered.

The thing to do is to clip out the nomination blank which appears in the big ad on another page and send it in today. You can nominate yourself as a friend.
