The Toggery, O'Neill

Ben & Bernie

It's Two Years Old.

But Mr. Mills Says It's Just as Good Today as When It Was First Made.

Over two years ago Mr. Mills testified to complete relief from kidney ills. He now says that there has not been the slightest return of the trouble.

O'Neill sufferers will take a deal of comfort in Mr. Mills statement.

Read what he says:

R. H. Mills, O'Neill, says: "The hurting in my back was so severe that I couldn't walk erect. It was especially severe across my kidneys and mornings when I arose, the muscles in my back seemed to be tightened. It took a couple of hours before I became limbered up. One box of Doan's Kidney Pills, which I got at Pixley & Hanley's Drug Store, cured me."

Over Two Years Later Mr. Mills said: "The cure Doan's Kidney Pills made for me has remained permanent."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Mills has twice recommended. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

One Sided.

By some queer quirk human nature is so constituted that a great many persons can see but one side to a question. The capitalist finds no middle ground between his position and that of the ardent labor advocate. The prohibitionist believes the anti-prohibitionist is either a drinker himself or in the pay of the liquor traffic. The peace propagandist holds out no hope for the man who wants peace through preparedness. The suffragist thinks the anti-suffragist is against all women. The small town and the rural district are more inflexible in their opinions than the large cities. This is caused by the comparative aloofness of the residents of small towns from their neighbors. Where people are thrown together closely, as they are in the apartments and flats of the larger cities, they are more tolerant. They allow their neighbor the right to do and think as he pleases, and take the same privileges to themselves. It has only been in the last few years that a more tolerant spirit is beginning to show itself. We have been in the habit of forming opinions about the conduct of our lives, and then rushing to the legislature to get laws passed to compel other people to live as we think they should. This has had the inevitable result of bringing a reaction among those we would seek to regulate, and we are learning, slowly—all too slowly, that our life is our own to conduct, but that the lives of other people are theirs and the right to live as they see fit is also their inalienable right. We are learning that we spend too much time pleading with the legislature, when we should be at home teaching our children the difference between right and wrong. Nothing can be gained for the strengthening of character by force of law. In education alone can we reach the end we desire. The exercises of the power of resistance and the constant overcoming of obstacles go to form character and the upbuilding of spiritual forces and better citizenship. Self-control is the supreme test of the individual. Neither history nor philosophy support the belief that character is formed by prohibitive laws.

Potato Crop.

According to figures tabulated by the Nebraska State Board of Agriculture the 1915 potato crop totaled 10,460,610 bushels. The acreage was 97,284 and the average yield 107.5 bushels per acre.

The following counties reported in excess of 400,000 bushels:

Cherry, 1,015,393.
Box Butte, 737,550.
Sheridan, 693,100.
Custer, 508,899.
Brown, 457,548.

The High Sign.

If you should happen to meet somewhere in the loop district of Chicago two apparently rational human beings who, upon sighting one another begin to make hypnotic passes, and who, upon approaching each other, proceed to rub noses, or bump foreheads, do not on that account jump to conclusions. Anything is plausible in this jumbled up old world. These are not escaped maniacs from the asylum; neither are they actors in a moving picture drama. They are only the members of the latest secret society. For you must know that since the Sunday closing law has been enforced in Chicago, it is necessary, unless one is to go thirsty, to belong to a society—preferably a secret society—and thereby to obtain special dispensation. Thus, because of this little loophole in the law, secret organizations without number have been springing up in the windy city. Among the latest to apply for charters are the Royal Sons of the Umpballuzums, the Imperial Order of the Sacred Camel, the Rumtums of the Sahara Desert and the Immortal Sons and Daughters of Howdryiam. The sacred password of the inner circle is "Here's How." Chicago's motto, it will be remembered, is "I will." The motto of these organizations is "I don't care if I do."

"Keep the Day With Gladness"

o As a religious people who do not believe the world is ruled by chance, but by an intelligent and beneficent Providence and the Most High rules in the kingdom of the children of men, o it is right that we should, from the chief magistrate down to the humblest citizen, be called to recognize and thank the beneficent Author of all our mercies.

o God has rolled the seasons round. Seedtime and harvest have come, and we have received again the kindly fruits of the earth. And because of all these manifold blessings we can say, as probably no other people have ever said, that the lines are fallen unto us in pleasant places. We should appreciate our heritage, and for it we should "enter into God's gates with praise and into his courts with thanksgiving."

Ain't It a Joke?

The new principal of the High School of Commerce lets it be known that in writing recommendations for boys going out of that school, he will include on the information card whether or not the boy smokes cigarettes. The High School of Commerce principal is a late-comer here and is doubtless ignorant of the fact that we have on the statute books of this state a law which prohibits and penalizes the sale of cigarettes, not to boys alone, but to one and all. That law, however, as every one is aware, is as much of a dead letter as the wholly disregarded "no-treat" law, and as a consequence cigarettes are sold as freely to minors as to adults, because it is no more of an offense. Yet the law-makers who pretended to take themselves seriously have repeatedly refused to modify our anti-cigarette law, and make it enforceable against the sale to school-boys, where alone such sale might be harmful. It certainly is a huge joke for a high school principal to put a cigarette smoking item on a recommendation card in a state where cigarette selling without exception is illegal.

To Whom it May Concern.

Having moved to Holt county a few months ago from Fillmore county, Nebraska, where I conducted sales successfully for the past six years, being a graduate of the Missouri Auction school, I take this means of introducing myself to the people of Holt county.

Anyone contemplating a sale in the near future, and desiring further reference as to my ability, can secure same by having your banker write to any bank in Fillmore county, or I can furnish names of people for whom I have conducted sales. And remember that I respectfully solicit your sale and will work for you from the day I date your sale until the last article is sold.

Very truly yours,

J. F. MCGRAW

Queer Quirks of News.

Philadelphia, Pa.—Sixty-three years of married life and not one cross word. Thus have Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Bodine made their home Utopia. The couple recently celebrated their sixty-third anniversary by going to the movies, after which they were given a surprise party by four generations of their family.

East Greenville, Pa.—Four fractures in four years is the record for bone-breaking held by Mrs. Henry Mumbauer. She is sixty-five years old, but the fractures in each instance have mended rapidly.

New York, N. Y.—Thomas James Nutty has grown tired of the suggestiveness of his name and the consequent ridicule. The court, when appealed to for relief, allowed him to assume the new name of Thomas James Nuttley.

Meridan, Miss.—Mrs. James Reeves, who has five grandchildren, recently presented her husband with triplets. Two are girls weighing seven pounds each, and the boy, eight pounds.

South Norwalk, Conn.—Giles Gregory has stepped from the poorhouse to a palace. When Henry Green, an eccentric, said to be worth $150,000, died, it was found that he left no will. The money went to Gregory, an almost forgotten uncle, who had been an inmate of the poorhouse for many years.

London, Eng.—Mrs. Emma Moules is believed to have reared more children than any woman on earth. They number 68. Twenty-three were her own; seventeen her second husband's and the remainder nurse children. She also had a share in rearing 107 grandchildren. She is 73 years old.

New York, N. Y.—For years Joseph Truda and his wife, Marie, wanted a baby. Finally, discouraged, Joseph deserted his wife. She adopted a child from an asylum and wrote Joseph that God had blessed her. He returned, and shortly afterward the child began to change color. A physician was called. The child was a negro.

Kirby, Vt.—Frank C. Grant, of Santa Monica, Cal., who taught school here years ago, went to the old schoolhouse, rang the bell and nineteen of his thirty-six former pupils, gray-haired and bent, responded to the call.

Wilkesbarre, Pa.—Jilted at the altar, when his bride failed to appear, Michael Zeigler proposed to Mary Noble, the bridesmaid, was accepted and married her at the home of her parents the same day.

Thompsonville, Ga.—Malachi Jenkins, a negro, has confessed that he has entered the matrimonial state twenty-two times. He is regarded as a probable president of the United States of Matrimony which he has founded.

Wilmington, Del.—While speeding between this city and State road, Engineer Eugene Jamison, of the Norfolk express, was nearly blinded when a partridge flew in his face.

Bellefontaine, O.—James McKeever of McGuffey, although totally blind, drives his own automobile when someone in the car and gives him directions. He has taken the machine apart and put it together again and is an accomplished musician.

Camden, N. J.—When the coroner was called to investigate the death of a new-born infant, he found the child had two heads and three arms. Both heads were well formed, and each had a distinct neck. The third arm grew from the neck on the right side. The mother is also the mother of two normal children.

Washington, D. C.—The Blue Ridge mountaineer who didn't know the civil war was over, has been out done by a Pennsylvania stranger who appeared in the White House grounds recently. "Hello!" said the stranger to a policeman. The cop nodded. "Is the big boss in?" the stranger asked. "Who?" demanded the policeman. "Why, Ted! Teddy Roosevelt, of course," the stranger replied.

Salisbury, Mo.—William Hammack of this town has never had a tooth pulled by a dentist or had his hair cut or face shaved by a barber. He is ninety-two years of age.

London, Eng.—The record for bearing children is believed to have been broken by a Mahatta woman in East India. She has had eight children in one year. Three were triplets, and the others were quintuplets, two boys and three girls. The mother is thirty-three years old.

Make your hens proud of their poultry house. They can't say "Thank you," of course, but they'll lay more eggs summer and winter. And that's what you are interested in most of all.

Face the poultry house towards the south and be liberal with the windows. Then you'll have a well-ventilated and sunny building which is the first requirement.

Avoid a damp location—let the poultry house be "high and dry." If a sand or dirt floor is used, it should be changed frequently. Don't overlook a single detail.

Make a wise selection of material for your new building. We will help you if you give us the word.
