Spencer Advocate: Ed. Whiting and son Dave came up from Omaha Tuesday. They marketed a couple of car loads of cattle which they shipped down from their Tripp county ranch.

The story comes from Omaha that Col. Ed was touched while in the metropolis, not very heavy, just a little, to show that the most wily of individuals will sometimes fall for it. As the Advocate gets it, the story goes that after Ed had sold the cattle and got the draft snugly tucked away in his inside pocket and was going up town to see the sights, he was accosted by a smooth looking stranger who called him Mr. Whiting and introduced himself as an agent of the government sent out to introduce the various publications on farming and stock growing issued by the government, said he understood "you are one of the prominent stockmen from the salt grass country," etc. And right there is where Col. Ed fell, that word "prominent" was more than he could resist, that's what got his angora.

When he came to and the affable stranger had vanished he was in possession of a fountain pen worth about 30 cents, and a promise that he would receive all the publications the government had ever issued or expected to issue, with a receipt in full for some of his hard earned coin. The amount does not exceed two figures. No, the stranger would not take the draft. That word "prominent" did the business.

Notice.

JOHN BRENNAN

WANTS TO SEE YOU

To my friends and customers—I have nothing to give you during the holidays. I gave you all I could and I am sure I have saved you a good many dollars in the four months I have been with you. At least my conscience is clear. I feel as if I gave you more for your money than any storekeeper that ever struck O'Neill.

The talk about me going to raise my prices or go in with the bunch is all wind. I am in with no one and I am going to cut prices more yet instead of raising them. Don't fool yourself either on the quality, I am going to sell the best grades of goods that money can buy.

Don't let these sales fool you. You saw 20 per cent discount sales here before. They want to sell a few odds and ends. Their good stuff is generally higher at those times. Even 20 per cent will not make the difference. These stores are up against the Real Thing now and they know it. They have to come out from behind the bush Cash or time—Country trade or town trade. You can't make a farmer pay two prices for meat. He knows what it is worth. Also the corn, peas, tomatoes, etc. He knows the picture on the can costs more than the stuff in it. How does the Golden Hotel charge 50c for a meal in the Dining Room and 25c in the cafe—is it better? No, its out of the same pot.

The only way for these stores to get my trade is to move out of the high rent buildings. Cut out the high priced clerks and bookkeepers. Cut out the delivery wagons, telephones and sell for cash. They have to cut out the big dinner parties, trips to Chicago, Sioux City and Omaha and get down on earth and sell goods right. The farmers are not going to pay these big expenses which do not add to the value of the goods.

Don't think I put all my good things in the newspapers. You only get them by trading here. But here is a few ticklers:

20c Men's Collars, each 7c
25c Hand Painted Pillow Tops 7c
35c Men's Neckties, each 10c
$1.50 Boys' Sweater Coats, each 88c
$2.25 Men's Sweaters, each $1.39
20c Cigar Clippings, 3 for 35c
5c Cigars, per box of 50 $1.70
5 Gal. Coal Oil (No better Oil in O'Neill 45c
Coffee that can't be beat, 5 lbs. . . $1.00
No, you can't buy it for less
No, you can't buy it for less
and don't fool yourself.

Tea, that can't be beat, per lb. . . . 42
10c Mustard Sardines, 2 for 15c
5c Cans Oil Sardines, 7 for 25c
65c Boys' Caps 25c
Some Good Water Tanks at spot Cash Prices.

Remember some of the prices I made before. Well, you can see you wasn't watching. I'll take $1,000.00 worth of Envelopes alone at the prices I offered them.

There are still a few who are paying the difference, but they are the ones who don't know.

When they can't beat my prices they knock on the goods.

When you come in and the store is crowded don't get mad and rush off some where else. Leave your order. I have plenty of goods and the prices don't change and I'll have your goods out in plenty of time. Haste makes waste. Take your time and save money.

Talk about good candy, I guess if any body in O'Neill sells good candy, Cash does it. I have candy you are paying 40 and 50 cents per pound for at 25 and 30c.
Salted Peanuts, per pound 10c

Dean Flannery performing the ceremony.

The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Irma Hoffman, while Attorney James M. Kean of Detroit supported the groom.

The bride wore a becoming gown of blue chiffon velvet trimmed with ermine with a silver-lace hat. She wore a corsage bouquet of lilies of the valley and pink rose buds. The bridesmaid wore a blue taffeta dress. Her corsage bouquet was of pink roses. During the nuptial mass, Miss Margaret Gavagan and William T. Doyle sang and Mr. and Mrs. William Manville rendered saxophone solos.

Immediately following the ceremony, a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Hoffman, 218 Lockwood street, to the immediate friends of the family. The Hoffman home was tastefully decorated with palms and chrysanthemums. The Misses Mae Collins, Cora Climie, Venus Stoll and Mrs. Grace Mousseau assisted in serving.

She is an estimable young woman and has made a wide circle of friends in the city. The groom attended the University of Michigan and the Detroit College of Law. He is now practicing law in Detroit. His former home is in O'Neill, Nebraska.

True Voice: The wedding of Miss Mayme Murray, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Murray of O'Neill, Neb. and John P. Kane, Cedar Rapids, Neb., took place at the Holy Family church of this city on Monday morning. Rev. Stephen L. Dowd performed the ceremony.

Miss Mary Hanley was bridesmaid. She wore a green broadcloth suit trimmed with marten fur and carried a bouquet of Killarney roses.

Burlington Engine the Prize Winner.

The largest engine in the Exhibit of the Baldwin Locomotive Works at the San Francisco Exposition, which was awarded the Grand Prize, was the Burlington's engine No. 6110. This is the largest road engine of the non-articulated type ever built. It weighs nearly 300 tons, is almost 84 feet long and carries 17 tons of coal and 10,000 gallons of water. Its firebox is as large as a homestead shack and the inside diameter of the front end of the boiler is 7 feet and 4 inches. It took 37 days to get this engine across the continent from Philadelphia to San Francisco.

A number of engines of this type are already in service on the Burlington's lines.

Queer Quirks of News.

Easton, Md.—Grace Marshall, imprisoned by her father twelve years because of her attempt to elope with a man of whom he did not approve, was discovered by a visiting uncle who bored through the wall between her room and his. Released the girl weighed but fifty-seven pounds and had almost forgotten how to talk.

North Manchester, Ind.—Mrs. Sarah Foster has been paralyzed and bedridden for 65 years, but bears the reputation of being the happiest, sunniest person in the county. She has her bed pulled close to the window and watches the people pass by. Visitors come to cheer her up, but go away marveling that she met their joke with a smile and their smile with smile.

San Bernadino, Cal.—Undergoing the "miracle operation," Chief Perfecto Segundo, a Cahuilla Indian blind from birth, saw light for the first time and went nearly insane from joy. The operation was extremely delicate, but the Indian refused an anaesthetic and bore the pain with Indian stoicism.

Sand Springs, Okla.—Charles Page, multi-millionaire oil man, is showing his philanthropy by building a town for widows. Bereft wives now make up more than one-fourth the 5,000 population of Sand Springs. Page has built dozens of cottages with rent, gas and fuel free; factories where the women work; a car line to Tulsa upon which widows may ride free. There is a day nursery, free attendance and a vocation school. Page encourages marriages.

Moberly, Mo.—The father of Viola Kirkendoll 17 owned a horse which had the habit of kicking at anyone who pointed a finger at it. Recently the girl procured a stick and pointed it at the horse, which kicked back violently, striking the stick and forcing it through the girl's abdomen. She died a few hours later.

North Manchester, Ind.—Five sisters, three of whom live near here. have a remarkable record. Mrs. Olive Marine is 92 years old; Mrs. Thorn is 90; Mrs. Catherine Harter is 86; Mrs. Irene Harter is 79 and the baby, Mrs. Ella Rhodes, is 68. They have all survived their husbands.

Northumberland, Pa.—Is a $250 horse that swallowed $250 in bills worth $250? William B. Miller would like to know. The other night he missed the money from his pocket and the next morning found bits of it in the horse's feed box. The remnants have been sent to Uncle Sam in the hopes of redemption.

Dublin, Pa.—When William Newsome, negro undertaker, sued Walter Blackshear for failure to pay for the funeral of Blackshear's mother, it was proved in court that Newsome had

Compared with the exquisite thinness of the Gruen Verithin other watches look clumsy.

It never fails to elicit a murmur of admiration whenever it is produced.

Let us show you this watch.
