The prevailing severity of the winter has been re-sponsible for a number of unusual measures to insure the continuity of service in spite of the ice conditions. In 1904 the Swedish government, realizing the value of the water power resources of the kingdom and the part they migh be made to play in this they migh be made to play in this country's economic development, took steps toward the acquirement and utilization by the state of certain water nowers.

Dr. Manuel Amader, director of the Mexican Institute for Biological Re-serach, says he has developed a method for taking X-ray photographs without the use of radium, Crookes tubes or expensive apparatus of any kind. He used radio-active rays obtained from an electric lamp fitted with a reflector or coated with highly purified white sul-phur. While experimenting with the radio-active properties of this sub-stance, he says, he has discovered a cheap substitute for radium.

German scientists have found that glycerine is a valuable sterilizing agent. Various deadly germs when heated in It to a temperature of 248 degrees Fahrenheit were completely killed in one minute. This process is particularly valuable for sterilizing surgical in-struments for the reason that the metal Is not attacked nor is the temperature affected. Rubber tubes can be steril-zed in it, and instead of being injured, the elasticity of those which have be-come brittle is restored by the treatment.

General Sherman's epigram, "War is hell," has an apt paraphrase in a per-sonal letter recently received from a surgeon of the British forces in Flan-ders: "The war, as I see it here in the trenches," he says, "may be sammed up in three words-mud, blood and blasphemy." City men are better developed than country men, according to the report of a German army surgeon, who bases als statement on the result of the ex-amination of 10,000 soldiers. He says the farmers were inferior in carriage and in development of bone and muscle, and that he found among them more cases of curvature of the spine, flat foot and varicose veins than among the city men.

COACH FOR TEACHERS IS LATEST LAW SUGGESTION

Lincoln Neb., Jan. 31.—Military training in the high schools of the state found strong champions in Su-perintendents Waterhouse, of Fremont, and Tout, of North Platte, in the convention of city and county superin-tendents. There was no one who took the other side. Mr. Waterhouse said that when he went to Omaha, where Lincoln, Neb., Jan. 29.—A field coach for teachers, a bran new idea in edu-cation, was broached at the county su-perintendents' convention, now in sesthat when he went to Omaha, where there is military training, he was op-posed to it, but experience there made him a champion of it. He was opposed to camp life, however. He said it was the first step toward perparedness. He said that there were men going up and down the land who said there was no possibility of war. Lincoln, Neb., Jan. 29.—Governot Morehead notified the reporters, Wed-nesday, that he would not be a candi-date for governor again, and said he would issue a statement later, giving his reasons. The governor's hand was forced by the filing with the secretary of state of two petitions placing him in nomination, one filed by Lancaster county democrats and one by 55 demcounty democrats and one by 55 dem-ocrats of West Point.

The governor said that he would file a declination of both nominations with the secretary of state. He does not intend to run again and he will not. "I think it fair to the members of the party and to everyone that my po-sition be understood. I shall make a formal statement as soon as I get

----SIX MEN FORGOT ABOUT TRAIN; WRECK RESULTS

Lincoln, Neb., Jan. 23.—Inquiries so far made by the Burlington indicate that the real underlying cause of the Mascot wreck, in which five were killed Monday, was that the six men composing the crew of the freight train forgot at the same time the fact that the passage train with which train forgot at the same time the fact that the passenger train with which they collided later was on the time card. The blame has not been fixed yet, as no formal hearing has been had, but that is about the only explanation that explains. This is not unusual, railroad men say, as many as 23 at one time having forgotten an order. The fact, too, that this was the first trip the trains had made opposite each other made it easy to forget that a passenger was headed toward them. The regulations provided that the The regulations provided that the freight train should be in the clear at Mascot at the time the passenger left Atlanta.
