LOCAL MATTERS

Sam Beaver has been quite ill for the last week.

J. W. Shippey took the train Tuesday evening for Gillette, Wyoming, to look over the homestead country.

Precinct assessors of the county met with County Assessor Coyne Tuesday to discuss the coming assessment and draw supplies.

Services will be held next Sunday, April 2nd, at the German Lutheran church. Services on this date will be in English.—Rev. William Ullerich, Pastor.

Jay Butler, one of the old-time citizens of Inman, was a pleasant caller at these headquarters last Tuesday and inspected the workings of the linotype.

The four day old babe of Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Waid died on Wednesday of last week and was buried in the Protestant cemetery last Thursday afternoon.

Clear Golden and Frank Harrington, who are attending the state university, came up from Lincoln last Saturday night to spend the vacation week with home folks.

After roaming two years for the Western Union in different capacities Miss Myrtle Powells' smiles again greet patrons of the telegraph department of the O'Neill News & Cigar Store.

On Monday and Tuesday of this week John Brennan moved his stock of merchandise to the brick building formerly occupied by Frank Campbell, where he will have better accommodations to handle his trade.

George Bay, one of the hustling and prosperous farmers of Paddock township, was a caller at these headquarters last Tuesday and left the necessary coin to extend his subscription to this household necessity another year.

This office is in receipt of a letter from J. B. Mellor in which Jess informs us that he has left California and will spend a couple of weeks visiting with relatives in Denver before he returns home, about April first.

Clarence J. Miles, candidate for the republican nomination for governor, visited O'Neill Wednesday, bound west. Mr. Miles while making no address here visited for several hours and is optimistic of the result April 18.

If a member of the county board votes against submitting the proposed bridge bond issue to the people and then volunteers to bring in his constituents to hear arguments in favor of it, is he "really" opposed to the bond issue?

L. A. Ott, of Joy, was a caller at these headquarters yesterday and had his name enrolled upon The Frontier's subscription list. He informs us that his father, O. E. Ott, who moved to Tennessee last spring, is in love with the southern country, thinking it about the finest spot on earth.

Hy Nightengale, of Atkinson, candidate for the democratic nomination for clerk of the district court, was in the city the latter part of last week in the interest of his candidacy. Mr. Nightengale is one of the pioneer residents of the county and says things look very bright for his nomination at the primaries next month.

The Protestant ladies of the city met at the Golden Hotel last Tuesday and organized an association to help improve the cemetery. They expect to raise enough money to put in a water plant, and otherwise improve the conditions of the grounds. They will give a chicken pie dinner on April

8. Let all who are interested come out and help.

Miss Genevieve McNichols, of Atkinson, candidate for the democratic nomination for county superintendent, was in the city last Saturday and Sunday in the interest of her candidacy. Miss McNichols is making a very favorable impression upon the voters and we have heard many express themselves as believing that she would be successful in winning the nomination next month.

Dr. W. H. Mullen came over from Bloomfield last Saturday to spend a few days visiting friends in the city and to take in the K. C. initiation here Sunday. Doc is still employed selling life insurance for the Commonwealth Life of Omaha and is rated as the best insurance solicitor in the state. He has many friends in this city and county who are glad to note his success in his chosen line of work.

Pat Stanton came up from Tilden last Saturday night to attend the K. C. initiation here last Sunday. Pat is a candidate for the democratic nomination for representative from Madison and Platte counties, contesting for the nomination with our old friend Dick Regan, who has filled the position very ably for the past six years. Whichever man wins that district will be ably represented at Lincoln next winter.

Some of the boys had better practice making tight hose connections or else petition the city to get some new gaskets. They seemed to be losing a good deal of pressure at the fire the other day with hose leaks and defective hydrant. A good time to get these things fixed is the present as you are in considerable of a hurry after the whistle blows. We understand that the standpipe was within five pound pressure of being full, or 47 pounds.

T. V. Golden, who has spent the past winter at Palm Beach, California, returned home last Thursday night. His daughter, Miss Lillian, who accompanied him on his trip to the coast, stopped off for a visit of a few days with friends in Lincoln and arrived home Saturday night. Mr. Golden says that they had a very pleasant time during their absence but that California has no charms for him and he was glad to be once again back to his old love, O'Neill and Holt county.

Byron Mossman of Inman, who is one of the republican candidates for county assessor, was in the city last Tuesday and favored this office with a pleasant call. Mr. Mossman is one of the pioneers of the county, having lived for several years in the north-west part of the county, prior to his removal to Inman township, some fifteen or twenty years ago. He has been making an active canvass for the nomination and says that if successful at the primaries he will wage an active canvass for the election in November.

Arthur F. Mullen came up from Omaha last Saturday night and attended the K. C. initiation in this city Sunday. Art is a candidate for election as democratic national committeeman from this state, in opposition to J. C. Dahlmnn, and expresses himself quite confident as to the outcome of the battle of ballots. While we were never a close friend of Art Mullen's if we were voting the democratic ticket we would vote for him for national committeeman; he is deserving of the honor and would reflect credit upon the position.

The Misses Hilda and Helen Gallagher, twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Gallagher, were entertained by their friends in the eastern part of the city last Tuesday, the occasion being the celebration of the sixth birthday of the "Gallagher twins." It was a real surprise upon the "twins" but Mrs. Gallagher, was equal to the occasion and served the little guests with a very delicious and appetizing lucheon. We have heard some of those who were there express themselves as hoping that the birthday of the "twins" would come at least twice a year.

Members of the board of county supervisors will listen to the pro and con arguments in regard to the proposed hundred thousand dollar bridge bond issue at a special session next week. The board in session this week, after listening to several opinions regarding the bonds, decided on suggestion of Mr. Tomlinson to meet Wednesday, April 5, and continue in session several days thereafter to explain the proposition to any who may at the present be in the dark regarding it. Any and all taxpayers of the county are cordially invited to attend the meetings. So say the boosters of the proposition who are members of the county board.

Enemies of the prohibition amendment to be submitted in several states this year are circulating the following through the telegraph columns of the newspapers in an attempt to prove their assertion that prohibition does not prohibit: "Cottonwood Falls, Kan., March 25.—A wild gooseberry bush, has been growing more than 47 years in the forks of a big white elm tree on the farm of Arthur Ice, near this town. How the gooseberry bush became grafted on the elm nobody knows. It was discovered by Mr. Ice's father when he homesteaded the farm. At first it was not given much attention, but of late years it has been carefully guarded."

Spencer Advocate: Petitions have been circulated and filed for Meyer Brandvig to become a candidate for representative on the republican ticket. Mr. Brandvig at first was very much inclined to refuse to accept, but in view of the personal solicitations that have come to him from friends throughout the county, it is understood he has concluded to yield and will file his acceptance to the petitions. Mr. Brandvig is a man of strong convictions and has right ideas in the matter of legislation. He possesses the ability and personality to make a good representative. We have not heard of any other aspirants and it is likely he will come down to the general election face to face with Hon. Christ Anderson, the present representative, who has a record which he is not averse to bringing before the people.

W. W. Watson, of University Place, Neb., but for many years a resident and business man at Inman, was in the city last Tuesday and made this office a pleasant call. Mr. Watson is still heavily interested financially in this county and has a very warm spot in his heart for this section of the best state in the union. Mr. Watson extended his subscription to this household necessity while here and complimented the office force upon the paper we were now issuing, saying that The Frontier was the best newspaper that has ever been printed in this county. Needless to say the opinion and compliments of Mr. Watson were thoroughly appreciated by the editor and we shall endeavor to issue a better newspaper in the future than we have in the past and desire to thank Mr. Watson for his expressions of good will.

Last Tuesday evening Mr. and Mrs. William Carson of Dorsey, who expect to remove from the county shortly, in a few weeks, were royally surprised when about twenty of their friends and neighbors came flocking into their home to give them a farewell surprise. Each lady who arrived carried a well-filled basket under her arm. After spending a very pleasant evening the guests marched into the dining room at 12:30 where all did complete justice to the splendid repast, which the farmer ladies knew how to prepare. On behalf of their many friends Mrs. Davis presented Mr. and Mrs. Carson with a silver bread knife and teaspoon. The afternoon was spent in a very enjoyable manner with games and music and at 5 p. m. all departed for their homes after expressing their regrets that such an estimable couple as Mr. and Mrs. Carson were leaving the community, but wishing them God speed and success wherever they might locate.

Knights of Columbus Initiate Class.

March twenty-sixth nineteen hundred and sixteen will long be remembered by the members of the Charles Carroll of Carrollton Council of the Knights of Columbus. On this date fifty-six members were initiated into the order and the members, who were initiated upon this date, insist that it was the best initiation ever. The work of the first two degrees was put on by the officers of the local lodge, M. H. Horiskey, Grand Knight; Hugh Coyne, Deputy Grand Knight and W. J. Hammond, Chancellor. The work of the third degree was exemplified by Brother J. B. Keefe of Sioux City, Iowa, assisted by Dr. W. J. Bussey, J. F. Kevill, Bernard Daly, and L. H. Mulhall.

Members from all sections of the state and from adjoining states were present and all unite in saying that it was one of the most successful initiations they had ever attended. The initiation ceremonies were concluded at ten o'clock and thereafter the newly initiated members, as well as the old, repaired to the old Frank Campbell building where the ladies of St. Patrick's parish had prepared an elegant repast for them.

Immediately after the initiatory services newly created Knights, in company with their brothers of long standing, adjourned to the banquet room for the repast—and we violate no confidence in saying that this meal was the best ever served by the ladies of O'Neill, who are noted for their culinary achievements. The serving was done by the unmarried ladies of the Parish and we assert and will back it up by proof that such an array of Beauty was never before assembled in one building.

After the cigars were passed the toastmaster, Hon. John A. Harmon, who filled the position in his usual and exceptional style called upon the various members who were upon the toast list. Mr. Harmon in his inimitable style, called upon the first speaker of the evening, District Deputy E. H. Whelan. Mr. Whelan, as usual surprised his friends by the eloquence of his address. Ed. is always good but those who heard him on this occasion say that he excelled all former efforts. His pre-oration was exceptionally touching. He told of the history of the Irish race in America and the manner in which they had always fought and were always willing to fight for the American flag and quoting from Tennyson, said that the Irish race when battling for the country of their adoption were always ready, and were always in the front on every battlefield.

"Theirs not to reason why, Theirs but to do and die." Miss Mary Fitzsimmons, who is one of O'Neill's most exceptionally sweet-voiced singers, edified the audience with her rendition of "Somewhere a Voice is Calling."

Hugh Boyle was the next speaker on the program and in his pleasing and eloquent manner delivered an address on "The Knight and the State." He spoke feelingly of the duty that every Knight owed to humanity and his country and told the manner in which this duty should be exercised. He spoke of the duty that every Knight owed to take an interest and become informed on the great questions of the day and to make their influence felt on those who shape the policies of their country in its relation to foreign states.

Miss Genevieve Biglin, who has an exceptionally sweet and powerful semi-baritone voice, then rendered that pathetic heart-stirring melody, "When the heart is young." Miss Biglin, who has an enviable reputation as a singer, won new laurels by her rendition of this classic piece.

Brother Harmon then introduced the principal speaker of the evening, Bishop Tihen of Lincoln. Bishop Tihen is recognized and acknowledged to be one of the greatest orators, not only in Nebraska, but in the west, and he lived up to his reputation last Sunday evening. After a few complimentary remarks, reflecting upon O'Neill residents, the Bishop lauded upon an address that was the most learned and eloquent ever delivered in O'Neill. He insisted in speaking of Catholic citizenship—that what was good for the organization of the Knights of Columbus was good for the State and that if a man was a good Catholic he was a good citizen; that the history of the United States showed that when the country was in danger that there was no class of citizens that rushed to its defense in greater numbers than the Catholics who lived up to the teachings of their religion. The Bishop finished his address amid deafening applause.

The next speaker on the program was Hon. Arthur F. Mullen of Omaha. Arthur is now living in Omaha but when he spoke of the time that he had spent in O'Neill, and how glad he was to be among the old friends, and told how he felt, he was at last drawing away from the old home ties when he failed to recognize more than three who were among the candidates who were initiated that day, and admission that time removes us all from the sphere of life. He called the attention of the members to the fact that Father Cassidy, the beloved pastor of the congregation, was sick and was unable to be with us on this occasion and gave an eloquent tribute to the life and the work which Father Cassidy has accomplished in this community.

Miss Donohoe, who has been recognized as one of the sweet-voiced ladies of the county, added to her reputation upon her rendition of the popular song, "The Spring Has Come."

Toastmaster Harmon then called upon Father Loecker, of Atkinson, and Father Loecker, who had not been recognized as an after dinner talker, surprised the assemblage by giving one of the best after dinner talks we have heard for years. He complimented O'Neill Knights upon the class of entertainment they always put on and said he was glad that he was a resident of the county that has a live, wide-awake town like O'Neill as its head.

Proper Treatment For Billiousness.

For a long time Miss Lula Skelton, Churchville, N. Y., was bilious and had sick headache and dizzy spells. Chamberlain's Tablets were the only thing that gave her permanent relief. Obtainable everywhere. 38-5
