Judge Carlon left last Sunday morning for a short business trip to Omaha. During his absence Judge Chapman is presiding over the county court.

J. A. Pinkerman was in from the north country last Tuesday. Jim is feeling extra good over the great democratic vote cast in his precinct at the primary election and says it is an indication of how things are going this fall.

C. R. Young, one of the substantial citizens of the Opportunity country, was in town Tuesday with a load of hogs for which he received $8.80 per hundred.

Charles H. Allman, of Stuart, and Miss Emma Staher, of Rushville, were united in marriage by County Judge Carlon at the county court room last Saturday.

Frank Suchy, of the firm of Suchy Brothers, went down to David City Sunday Morning, to visit old acquaintances and friends, returning Wednesday night.

P. V. Hickey, who handles the Overland car in this territory, has sold nine cars this spring and says that he has several more prospective purchasers in sight.

A. E. Morris of Wood Lake, Neb., one of the largest ranch owners in Cherry county, and former member of the legislature from that county, was in the city Wednesday.

C. R. Peck of Dorsey and Joan Snyder of Opportunity were callers at this office last Tuesday and had their names entered upon The Frontiers' rapidly growing subscription list.

Rev. William Ullerich, pastor of the German Lutheran church of this city, left last Monday morning for Norfolk, where he went to attend a special conference of the Lutheran ministers of this section of the state. The conference will last all week.

Miss Ruth Gillespie, daughter of Judge and Mrs. B. S. Gillespie, former residents of this city, was united in marriage last Sunday at Rushville to John Allahan, postmaster of that city. Miss Ruth's many friends in this city extend congratulations and best wishes.

Roy Spindler, one of the pioneers of Paddock township, was a caller at these headquarters last Saturday and extended his subscription to The Frontier for another year. Roy says there was a great deal of democratic activity at the polls last election day, but he looks for genuine republican activities at the polls, in Paddock precinct, as well as the entire state, on next election day, November 7th.

Dr. O. K. Tiekler, veterinarian, arrived in O'Neill the first of the week and will make this city his future home. Dr. Tiekler has been practicing at Harvard, Neb., but believed this city a more desirable location than the Clay county town. He was also formerly located at Alliance.

Farm machinery will be advanced by the manufacturer to the jobber and dealer 10 per cent May 1, according to the latest advices. The rapidly increasing cost of steel is given as the reason. Structural metals have advanced more than 100 per cent since the beginning of the European war.

Miss Cecil Murphy of Portland, Oregon, arrived in the city last week and spent a few days visiting at the home of her aunt, Mrs. T. H. Enright. Miss Murphy is the daughter of Felix Murphy, who for years was a resident of this city, but who left here something like a quarter of a century ago.

The Grand Cafe opened its doors to the public last Sunday. This is one of the finest cafes in the state and gives promise of being the most popular eating house in this city. Clarence Simonson is proprietor and it is managed by William Toy, a chef who has had many years experience in managing restaurants in the larger cities of this and other states.

Michael Flannigan was down from Stuart last Monday greeting his many old-time friends in this city. Mr. Flannigan had been sick for about a year at his home in Minneapolis and lost about a hundred pounds in weight during that time. For the past three months he has been gradually recovering and came to this county a couple of weeks ago and expects the invigorating air of good old Holt to restore his old time health and strength.

Arthur F. Mullen has reason to be proud of the vote he received in this county in his race for democratic national committeeman from this state. He carried the county with a majority of 724, receiving all but 324 of the votes cast for this office. He is elected over Mayor Dahlan of Omaha with a majority that will be between 3,000 and 5,000. The Frontier congratulates this former O'Neill citizen upon his success in the first race he has made for office since leaving the good old county of Holt.

George K. Leonard, chief draughtman in the office of the state engineer, was in the city the latter part of last week and accompanied by Supervisor Tomlinson went out to Redbird and made the surveys and preliminary estimates for the state aid bridge that will be built at that point. This will be built upon the south side of the present bridge and the estimated cost is $10,000; half of this amount will be paid by the state, under the provisions of the state aid bridge law, and $2,500 by Holt county and $2,500 by Boyd county. Work will be started upon this bridge within the next two months and it is expected that it will be completed within six months.

William Clevisch, one of the pioneer settlers of this county, last week sold three quarters of land that he owned in Rock Falls to Webb Kellogg, receiving a splendid price therefor. Mr. Clevisch still retains one quarter section in that neighborhood. Mr. Clevisch will move to this city to make his future home and will either buy or build a residence here. William says that he has made what money he has in this vicinity and he expects to remain here the balance of his days. Mr. Kellogg also purchased his stock and farm machinery and he has put a man on the place and now becomes a tiller of the soil. This makes the second ranch that Webb Kellogg has purchased within the past four months and if he keeps on he will become a bloated land owner.

Official Vote of Holt County.

H. J. Hammond and J. H. Meredith, who were the official canvassers of the vote cast in Holt county at the primary election last week, completed their duties last Monday afternoon. The vote was the largest ever cast in this county at a primary election, 2,930 votes being cast, or within 627 votes of the number cast at the general election two years ago. It is generally believed that the proposition of voting $100,000.00 bonds for building bridges, which was voted upon at the election, was responsible for the great vote. That the people were nearly unanimous in their opposition to the bonds was shown by the fact that they received but 249 votes, while 2,368 voters voted against them.

The democratic party cast the largest vote in the county, 1,688, while the republican party came next with 1,184. The populist party, which was once supreme in this county, has fallen to third place, casting but 21 votes. The socialist party came next with 19 votes; prohibition 13 and progressive 5.

On the county ticket Dennis H. Cronin receives the republican, progressive and prohibition nominations. P. C. Kelley received the democratic, people's independent, prohibition and socialist nominations for county clerk.

R. O. Anderson receives the republican and socialist nominations for county clerk.

Ed Tomsik received the progressive nomination for county clerk.

R. E. Gallagher received the democratic, people's independent, prohibition and socialist nominations for county treasurer.

Hy Nightengale received the people's independent nomination for clerk of the district court.

Dave Stuart, republican candidate for clerk of the district court, was endorsed by the progressives, prohibitionists and socialists.

Peter Duffey received the democratic, people's independent and prohibition nominations for sheriff.

Henry Grady, republican candidate for sheriff, received the nomination on the progressive and socialist tickets also.

Hugh J. Boyle, democratic and people's independent candidate for county attorney, also received the prohibition nomination for the same office.

W. K. Hodgkin received the republican, progressive and socialist nominations for county attorney.

Miss Miller, democratic candidate for superintendent, received the prohibition and socialist nominations for that office.

Miss Genevieve McNichols received the people's independent nomination for county superintendent.

Miss Olivia Sturdevant received the republican and progressive nominations for superintendent.

B. T. Winchell, who received the democratic and people's independent nominations for county assessor, also received the socialist nomination for that office.
