The editor was in Lincoln last Monday and was in the supreme court when our eldest son, Julius D. Cronin, was admitted to the bar, and licensed to practice in the courts of Nebraska. He graduated from the Creighton College of Law last April, but because he lacked a month of being twenty-one years of age, he was unable to be admitted with the members of his class, so the trip to the capital city the first of the week was necessary. The "Old Man" of The Frontier naturally feels a little proud of the fact that his boy was able to secure a university degree before he reached manhood's estate.

If you have anything to sell, use the columns of The Frontier. It's a winner. There are hundreds of people in this vicinity who have used our columns to their advantage and are loyal Frontier boosters. The latest to be added to the list is D. A. Doyle. Mr. Doyle advertised a stallion for sale. It appeared in our columns two weeks and he had four buyers call to see him. Three men were disappointed for the first man that called bought. That little ad cost Mr. Doyle 40 cents and he received $150. If he had advertised this sale in any other manner it would have cost him $20 or $30 for the advertising alone and then would not, possibly have reached the man who wanted to buy. We cover the field and if you have anything you will make money by advertising in our columns.

William Laviollette came up from his home at North Bend the first of the week and has spent several days in the city visiting old-time friends. Although it has been several years since "Bill" left this city he still looks upon O'Neill as his home and says he never feels as good as when he is walking city greeting old time friends and acquaintances on every hand. From the evidence at hand we are led to believe that William is sorry that he ever left the Emerald Tinted city, where he spent the best years of his life. He has still considerable property interests here which gives him a good excuse, if one were needed, to visit his old home. Come as often as you want to "Bill" we are always glad to see you.

The "In the Days of the Long Ago" column in the last issue of The Frontier has been really the "talk of the town" ever since, and the office has received many commendations from its readers for starting the publication of this column. We shall continue the column and will try and confine the reproductions of the articles to those concerning people who are still residents of the county or who were among those most prominent, and moulders of the pioneer history of this section. If you are not a reader of this household necessity now is the time to enroll your name with our great army of readers for it is the intention of the publisher to try and make The Frontier—always a leader in Holt county newspapers—a household necessity in every home in Holt county. It is now read by 7,500 people in the county every week but we want three times that many readers. Now is the time to get started so that you will become familiar with the events of the long ago.

The local K. of C. Base Ball team suffered another defeat last Sunday. The weekly base ball fray on the local lot last Sunday, this time, between the local K. of C. team and the Newport team ended in disaster for the local boys the visitors carrying the more joyful end of a 3 to 1 score. The visitors started off fast, annexing a score in the first frame on a hit, a stolen base and an error. Our boys came back in the second and on a hit, and a stolen base, the ball was thrown wild and the runner took third, and an error scored one. It looked here like we were going to get two. The ball was thrown over first by the third, baseman the runner taking second, he stole third only to die when the next batter rolled an easy one to the pitcher. The visitors came back in the eighth and, after two were down, put over a tally on a hit batsman, a hit and another error, fumbling a hot grounder. In the ninth they put over another which proved ample to cinch the game. The game was much better played than that last week, and the improvement in the playing and teamwork of our boys was the source of much favorable comment among the fans present. The attendance was very poor, the brand of ball exhibited was deserving of a larger crowd, especially in this city with the base ball enthusiasm O'Neill has. There seems to be a lack of confidence in the ability of the boys. To the skeptical it might be well to say, with a few contemplated changes the managers have in mind and a little practice these boys will compare favorably with any team, without exception, of amateur class, in this section of the state. The batteries in Sundays engagement were: Lackoff and Jones for Newport and Watson and McBride for O'Neill. Ed. Alberts refereed.

If you haven't been attending the ball games played upon the local lots the past two Sundays, you have been missing a real treat. Watson, the twirler for the local K. C. team, true to the precepts and traditions taught him by his superior officers, refuses with a persistence that is almost uncanny to issue any free transportation—having issued but one to the 54 that applied, and he avers that he was not responsible for that breach of company discipline—but all jokes aside boys, Watson is a real pitcher, and one of the best features about his twirling art is the fact that he does not think himself the whole show, but keeps pitching a game that has been excelled but few times in this neighborhood—according to our judgement, and we were rated as a pretty good judge by the local lovers of the game a few years ago. But Watson is a real pitcher and if the lovers of the game will get out and support the team we will have a team that will be a credit to the lovers of the national pastime in this section of the state. It is the humble opinion of the writer—who heaped manage the best ball team O'Neill ever had—that Mr. Watson is as good a pitcher as Bradley, the star whom we all picked, and better than our other two men, Primley and Noah. Mr. Watson has pitched two games for O'Neill and, although he has lost both of them, there has not been an earned run made of his delivery in any of the games that he twirled, which shows his class as a pitcher. In the game next Sunday the "Old Reliable Ed Alberts" will do the backstopping and we feel perfectly safe in assuring you that you will see classy battery work in Sunday's game. The local boys are trying their best to furnish the people of this city amusement in a base ball way and they should be encouraged by your attendance.

Inman Leader: Archie Howell, the sixteen year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Dave Howell, was injured today noon, when he was struck by a gravel train shortly after the train left the station going west. Young Howell was working with the section crew, taking his father's place for the day, and according to information at hand, the boy laid down near the track at the noon hour and fell asleep. When the approaching train awoke him he made a dash across the track, but the engine hit him before he succeeded in the attempt. He was knocked into the ditch and was later picked up by the train crew in an unconscious condition. He was placed aboard the train and hurriedly taken to O'Neill where Dr. Gilligan, the railroad physician examined him. No bones were broken, but his body was badly bruised. The boy did not regain consciousness until the train reached O'Neill and then he complained of his back. He was brought back to Inman on No. 63 and taken to his home in the northwest part of town. While his condition is not considered serious he will be laid up temporarily as a result of the accident.

Late Chicago advises indicate the nomination of Hughes early tomorrow.

WORTH WHILE THINGS

Nothing in this world that is worth while comes easy. That great oak tree has struggled up from an acorn, through storm and heat. If you wish to reach greater things, you have to work for them. It is not going to be hard for you to begin your account here. Any sum you happen to have on hand will do for that. After that you have got to work—and work hard. You must pile up every dollar you possibly can here—and leave it here. Do that and a new life—a greater life—a better life will open up before you. Make the start NOW. Keep it up.

When you speak of affairs, exclude in general the word "difficult" from your reasonings and opinions. As to the word "impossible" never pronounce it!—Louis XIV.
