 W. J. Hammond is erecting a spacious and commodious home between Second and Third streets. The building will be 44x38, story and a half and built in bungalow style. This will be a $5,000.00 residence and will be one of the attractive homes of the city when completed.
 E. H. Whelan and family, with the exception of Edmund, and Miss Mollie Condon, started Wednesday morning in a car for Sioux City, Iowa, where they will visit friends and relatives. They will also visit relatives and friends at Storm Lake and Creston, Iowa, before their return.
 Doctor Corbett and his sister are expecting two other sisters, Mrs. Miller and Mrs. Kneppshild, also a cousin, a Miss Corbett, on the Saturday night train. After resting for three or four days, the entire party expect to go to Denver for a few weeks via the "Overland" route.

 Smith Merrill is just completing a dairy barn that will be the best equipped in the country. Smith never did believe in doing things by halves and now has a dairy barn that any man would be proud to own. The barn is 34x60 and is built so that it is as sanitary as any dairy barn in the state.
 The carpenters have just completed Harry Haffner's new home on West Douglas street. This is one of the finest residences in the city. The building is 36x36, two stories and an attic, modern throughout. This fine home does much to improve the western part of Douglas street, which is fast becoming one of the nicest residence sections of the city.
 Frank Geis, Dan Kelly, Wm. Shaughnessy and Jacob Hirsch motored to Lincoln last Saturday in Mr. Geis' car. The boys bring nothing but good reports from the southern part of the state. They all had a splendid time, and judging from their appearance they must have met some warm weather. While in Lincoln the boys purchased a new threshing rig for their neighborhood.
 Band rehearsals will be on Tuesday and Thursday nights at 8 o'clock. Concert will be given Friday nights of each week on the corner of Douglas and Fourth Street. The Second Division Band was organized last Monday night with sixteen members, with the prospect of six or eight more being added within the next week. This organization will meet at the public school house Monday nights at 7:30 o'clock.
 Mr. and Mrs. David Riser left last Tuesday morning for Milford, Neb., where they will make their future home. Mr. and Mrs. Riser have been residents of this county for a good many years and still own their farm, which is one of the best in this county, northwest of this city, upon which their son is now living. Dave say that if he gets tired of the southeastern part of the state that he will return to good old Holt.

 J. E. Vincent left last Sunday morning for Millard, Neb., to spend a few days with Mrs. Vincent, who is staying at the home of his parents there. Mrs. Vincent has been in a hospital in Omaha but was discharged about two weeks ago and has since been staying at the home of his parents.
 Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Rector of Orchard and Mr. and Mrs. Sam Lopp of South Sioux City, were in the city last evening visiting friends. Sam is spending his vacation at Orchard and says he could not resist the temptation to visit this city, which he called home for so many years while running on the Burlington between here and Sioux City. Sam says that he is coming back next week and will spend several days with his friends in this vicinity.
 Hon. Abraham L. Sutton, the next governor of Nebraska, renewed acquaintances with old Holt county friends Wednesday evening and Thursday while attending a session of the district court in chambers. As an "old-timer" and a homesteader in the early "eighties" in Holt county the judge had opportunity to revive many former friendships. The old Sutton homestead, north of Stuart, was settled upon by the progenitor of the future governor in 1884 and final proof was made before J. H. Meredith of O'Neill. Later the judge homesteaded for himself west of Stuart in what is now Rock county.
 We spent a few hours last Friday in the hustling little city of Atkinson. Atkinson, in common with every other town in this section of the state, is prospering and gives evidence of substantial growth. We were shown through the magnificent new furniture store room of E. J. Killmurry. Mr. Killmurry has one of the largest and nicest equipped furniture stores in this section of the state, in fact he has a store that would be a credit to Omaha, and he carries an exceptionally large stock. The building, being built for his store is so constructed that it shows his stock off to advantage. Ed is an old O'Neill boy, having been born and raised on a farm a mile north of this city, just half a mile north of where the editor spent his boyhood days, and we rejoice in his prosperity and hope that the people of the western part of the county will appreciate, by substantial patronage, his efforts to give them a first class furniture store. Balin Brothers have commenced the erection of a two story store building, just forty feet east of the John McNichols corner. The building will be of brick, with terra cotta trimmings. One of Atkinson's old land mark was torn down and this building is being erected in its place. The residence portion of the town is also rapidly improving and all the residents seem contented and happy.
 Maria McDonald has filed suit in the district court of this county to recover the sum of $20,000.00 damages alleged to have been sustained by the plaintiff, while a passenger on the defendant company's road in February of this year. In her petition she alleges that on February 15, 1916, she purchased a ticket at Felix, Wyoming, for transportation to Gillette, in the same state. That the platform of the station at Felix was not of sufficient length and that the train crew did not stop the train so that she could step from the platform to the step of the car she wished to board. She alleges that she was compelled to walk on the ground, several several feet from the platform, to board the car and that the step of the car was at least three feet from the ground. In order to board the car she was compelled to place one knee on the step of the car and while raising the other foot the train started with a jerk and she was thrown against the iron of the steps and car, with the result that she was severely injured and that said injuries are permanent. She believes that $20,000.00 would compensate her for the injuries she received upon the above date, and she asks judgment for that amount and costs of suit.

 Margaret Werner brings suit against the Burlington and Chicago and Rock Island, through its receiver, for $35,000.00 for damages alleged to have been received while a passenger of the Rock Island on October 8, 1915. In her petition she alleges that on the above date she purchased a ticket at Okarchee, Okla., for Omaha, over the Rock Island. She traveled over that road to Lincoln. As the Rock Island was temporarily out of business on account of a derailment the car was switched to the Burlington for transportation to Omaha. After the said car had been attached to the Burlington the car in which she was riding was run into by a switch engine with the result that she was thrown from her seat and against other seats of iron, wood metal and glass and that she was severely injured and is now suffering from what is known as "Railroad Spine." That all of said injuries are permanent and that she will never be able to perform any work or labor. By reason of said injuries she was taken to a hospital in Lincoln and afterwards taken to her home where she was attended by a physician until December 3, when she was taken to the Nickolas Senn hospital in Omaha, where she remained from December 5th, until January 18th, where an operation was performed. She alleges that she will always be lame and will be unable to walk without the use of a cane and thinks that a judgment of $35,000.00 with costs of suit would about recompense her for the injuries and sufferings she underwent as a result of the accident.
 O'Neill was one of the hottest places in Nebraska last Saturday and Tuesday. On these dates the thermometer registered 102 degrees. Plenty hot.
