P. A. puts new joy into the sport of smoking!

YOU may live to be 110 and never feel old enough to vote, but it's certain—sure you'll not know the joy and contentment of a friendly old jimmy pipe or a hand rolled cigarette unless you get on talking-terms with Prince Albert tobacco!

P. A. comes to you with a real reason for all the goodness and satisfaction it offers. It is made by a patented process that removes bite and parch! You can smoke it long and hard without a comeback! Prince Albert has always been sold without coupons or premiums. We prefer to give quality! Prince Albert affords the keenest pipe and cigarette enjoyment! And that flavor and fragrance and coolness is as good as that sounds. P. A. just answers the universal demand for tobacco without bite, parch or kick-back!

Introduction to Prince Albert isn't any harder than to walk into the nearest place that sells tobacco and ask for "a supply of P. A." You pay out a little change, to be sure, but it's the cheer-fullest investment you ever made!

Prince Albert is sold everywhere in topy red bags, 5c; tidy red tins, 10c; handsome pound and half-pound tin humidors—and that clever crystal-glass pound humidor with sponge-moistener top that keeps the tobacco in such splendid condition.

W. C. T. U. Speeches of Prohibition Governors.

(For Boys)
 Governor F. M. Byrne of South Dakota
 "I want you to know that I believe in the water wagon," declared Governor Byrne of South Dakota in a recent address in Mitchell, S. D.
 "I never heard anyone offer what seemed to me a single reason for a saloon. I know a good many reasons why we should not have it. We look upon the saloon as outside of legitimate business, an outlaw, that requires special regulations and a permit which has come to be termed a license.

 "I have given the most careful consideration to our prison population and have examined with as much care as possible the history and records of those unfortunate people confined there. I am convinced that the delinquency of approximately 70 per cent is directly due to drink, and many, many more to its indirect influence and effect. In fact it is rarely that I find a prisoner whose life has not in some degree been unfavorably influenced by drink on the part of himself, his parents or others, or whose delinquency cannot be traced, either directly or indirectly, to the liquor traffic.

 "In fact and in truth, were it not for the effects of intoxicating liquor, directly or indirectly, the cells of our prison houses would mold and decay for want of occupants, and we literally might tear down our prison walls. The cases of individual prisoners are constantly coming before me and it is remarkable to note the steady recurrence of the same strain, from every angle, from the judge on the bench, from the attorneys prosecuting and defending, from the peace officers and from the prisoners themselves, the ever-recurring refrain that liquor is the cause of the downfall!"

Governor George W. Hays of Arkansas
 Governor Hays of Arkansas is another enthusiastic worker for state-wide prohibition. When he signed the prohibition bill passed by the legislature, he said:
 "I believe the most manly act of my life, an act that will mean much to me, to my conscience, to my wife, to my two boys, and to the people of the state to which I owe so much, was the act I performed when I placed my signature to the bill which gave Arkansas state-wide prohibition."

Governor L. B. Hanna of North Dakota
 "I wish to say that I am in favor of prohibition. I believe in it. We have had prohibition stamped in the constitution of the state of North Dakota since statehood. I have lived here during all the years since statehood, twenty-six years, and I can say that I believe that prohibition has been a vital force for the betterment of the state, both morally and financially.
 "I believe that prohibition has done much for North Dakota, both from a moral and financial standpoint. The law is respected and easier of enforcement each year, and I am satisfied that the people of the state will never repeal it."

Governor Arthur Capper of Kansas.
 "If it is good to live in Kansas it is because the people of Kansas have made it so. Kansas people have never dodged a difficulty nor refused to face an issue. Kansas now is a good place in which to live largely because thirty years ago we dared to make the open saloon an outlaw, because we were not afraid to attack a curse as ancient as human history and put it from us forever. I am immensely proud of the fact that Kansas has more than half a million boys and girls who never saw an open saloon. And now that national prohibition and world-wide prohibition are coming just as surely as tomorrow's sunrise, Kansas has done, is doing and will do more to bring this great blessing about than any other state."

Governor Moses Alexander of Idaho.
 "The greatest stride forward in the history of Idaho is probably the prohibition law passed by the legislature.

JOHN BRENNAN
 The Man Who Put the "Bee" in Business Wants to See You.

Mail Order Houses Spreading Diseases

Women and girls in Mexico, China and Negros, Japs, all patronize the catalogue houses ordering out stockings, underwear, gloves, corsets, etc., on approval. Most of them wear them once or twice to a negro dance or Chinese ball and maybe the Ak-Sar-Ben balls in Omaha, then they are returned and sent out somewhere else till they finally land them on some one or other. Women and girls and children who would not think of eating off a hobo's plate, washed or not washed, will send and get clothes which some Negro wore to a camp meeting or chautauqua. Bed clothes, blankets, sent from one dirty place to another may finally be bought by the Queen Bee of the Village. Sometimes they use them a week or so in some sickness and rather than burn them send them back and trade for groceries or their money.

One of the shipping clerks tells of instances to his own knowledge where goods were returned at six different times before they finally stayed sold.

But as long as we don't know it what is the difference.

I have goods that are just as good as the catalogue houses, sometimes at a good bit less money. I am in shape to meet any price they can give and I will gladly figure your bill before you send for it.

I will also figure any store bill for you. And if you have your store-keeper itemize the bill so we can tell the size, color, weight, etc., I can soon convince you that it will pay you to send the dray after the goods.

You are specially requested to come and see my line of Furs. This is the last week I will offer them to you.

Now is a good time to buy corn and tomatoes by the case.

It's also a good time to buy soap and rice.

Remember that when you buy any underwear, stockings, shoes, corsets, from me that no hobo—Chinaman—Negro or Jap has tried them on or wore them to the dances.

Every Irishman should do all in their power to help Germany in this war. If Germany is wiped out now by Great Britain, Great Britain will turn and help Mexico and Japan lick us. We will never have peace on earth till England is wiped out for good.

W. H. Green of Creighton hit the nail on the head when he says. Give the people the same goods at the same prices as the catalogue houses and they will not send away.

I guess most of the people around here know by this time that I am doing it.

Idaho will prosper without saloons more than it ever did with them. There will be nearly a million dollars kept in the state that is now being sent out annually for alcoholic beverages, and that amount of money will circulate around the state in other channels, with the result that better homes will be built, there will be happier children in the schools, more devout worshippers in the churches and a more prosperous people generally."

Gov. George A. Carlson of Colorado.
 "No law with greater possibilities for good has been written so far in Colorado. When enforced, this law will stop a heavy drain on the taxpayer. It will add much in safety to every home where boys and girls are growing up. It will bring joy and hope to many a wife and mother who heretofore have not had their full share. It will put shoes and groceries in places where hunger has sometimes gnawed and cold too often pinched. It will make substantial business more substantial. Colorado people will feel again that the waste and danger and the pain and madness occasioned by this great vice are necessary for them to live, or to be happy or prosperous. We should begin at once to plan definitely to replace the saloon with the gymnasium, the lecture hall and the public library."

Lindquist & Palmer

O'Neill, Nebraska

Maine for Prohibition, was an editor of a paper in Portland that was for political reasons mildly opposed to it. I had a conversation with him that ran something like this:
 "Where were you born?"
 "In a little village about sixty miles from Bangor."
 "Do you remember the conditions of things in your village prior to prohibition?"
 "Distinctly. There was a vast amount of drunkenness, and consequent disorder and poverty."
 "What was the effect of prohibition?"
 "It shut up all the rum-shops, and practically banished liquor from the village. It became one of the most quiet and prosperous places on the globe."
 "How long did you live in the village after prohibition?"
 "Eleven years, or until I was twenty-one years of age. Then I went to Bangor."
 "Do you drink now?"
 "I never have tasted a drop of liquor in my life."
 "Why?"
 "Up to the age of twenty-one I never saw it, and after that I did not care to take on the habit."
 "That is all there is to it. If the boys of the country are not exposed to the infernalism, the men are very sure not to be. This man and his school-mates were saved from rum by the fact that they could not get it until they were old enough to know better. Few men are drunkards who know not the poison until they are twenty-one. It is the youth the whisky and beer men want.—North American Review.

PLENTY OF PROOF.

From People You Know—From O'Neill Citizens.

The greatest skeptic can hardly fail to be convinced in the face of evidence like this. It is impossible to produce better proof of merit than the testimony of residents of O'Neill, of people who can be seen at any time. Read the following case of it:
 Mrs. Della Shaw, O'Neill, says: "I have always found Doan's Kidney Pills as represented. I have used them occasionally, when my kidneys have become disordered and I have had lameness in my back or have felt run down. They have always relieved me, so I know they can be depended upon."

Way Sagless Spring

It's the exclusive "sagless" construction of this unusual bedspring that makes it so restful to lie on, so comfortable to sleep on—that keeps occupants from rolling toward the center, even though they greatly vary in weight, like the big man and the little child in the illustration above.

The Way Sagless Spring is also——absolutely noiseless.
 —all metal—perfectly sanitary—vermin proof.
 —free from loose strands or sharp corners—cannot tear bed-clothes or mattress.
 —guaranteed not to sag for a quarter century—a new spring free if it does.
