Disastrous Fire.

Fire, of unknown origin, caused damage to the general mercantile stock of J. P. Gallagher estimated at $15,000 and to that of P. J. McManus of $7,000, last Wednesday morning. Mr. Gallagher, who carries a $35,000 stock was carrying $11,000 worth of insurance and Mr. McManus, who carries a stock valued at about $50,000 was carrying $7,000 worth of insurance. Most of the damage to both stocks was caused by smoke and water.

It was about 4 o'clock Wednesday morning when the fire whistle awoke our citizens to a realization of the fact that we had a fire. It was discovered when some traveling men were coming up from the morning passenger and was discovered by Marshal Simmons about the same time. The alarm was turned in and soon the fire boys were on the ground and although it had gained great headway, it was soon subdued and was not allowed to break through the roof. The fire started on the upper floor, which is used by Mr. Gallagher for a store room and is supposed to have originated from spontaneous combustion. The room, where the fire started, as well as the room adjoining, was badly gutted and an examination of these two rooms caused the average man to wonder how it was possible to put the fire out. Had it broken through the roof it would undoubtedly have cleaned the entire block, so that we are all fortunate it was no worse.

Mr. Gallagher is the heaviest loser, a large stock of fur coats, clothing and overcoats being burned and the greater portion of his stock being damaged by smoke and water.

Her Son Subject to Croup.

"My son Edwin is subject to croup," writes Mrs. E. O. Irwin, New Kensington, Pa. "I put in many sleepless hours at night before I learned of Chamberlain's Croup Remedy. Mothers need not fear this disease if they keep a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in the house and use it as directed. It always gave my boy relief." Obtainable everywhere. 21-5

An Expression of Appreciation.

November twenty-fifth.

Rhode-Harding.

Mr. Jack Rhode and Miss Ona Harding were united in holy matrimony at the St. Patrick's church of this city, by Father Cassidy at 8 o'clock on Tuesday morning.

The bride and groom accompanied by the bride's brother and the groom's sister, left the home of the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Mary Harding, at 7:30 a. m., walking to the church, returning at nine accompanied by several of the near relatives and partook of a bountiful breakfast prepared by the bride's grandmother.

They receive our hearty congratulations for a long and prosperous married life.

Burlington Extension Prospects Rather Remote.

Prospects of the extension of the Burlington from O'Neill to Alliance, within the near future, are rather remote, according to a letter General Manager Holdrege of the Burlington has addressed to anxious inquirers of Orchard. The reply of Mr. Holdrege to the queries is as follows:

"Your two communications addressed to Supt. F. R. Mullen, at Omaha, have been referred to me for reply. Up to this time no decision has been made as to plans for extending line from O'Neill. I am sorry that we have no definite information about the matter that can be given you."
(Signed) G. W. HOLDREGE,
General Manager."

Grady Contests Election.

Last Monday afternoon Henry D. Grady filed in the county court a complaint to contest the election of Peter Duffey as sheriff of Holt county. On the face of the returns Duffey was elected by six votes. In his petition Sheriff Grady alleges that there were errors in every township of the county. That votes that were cast for him were counted for his opponent and that votes that were cast for him were thrown out by several of the election boards and not counted, which was in direct violation of law. That the election board in Pleasantview township did not keep a list of the voters who cast their ballots at the election in the poll books, provided for that purpose, and numerous other errors are alleged to have occurred in other precincts of the county.

The contest will probably be tried some time within the next two weeks. It will be before the county judge.

Now Lookout.

When a cold hangs on as often happens, or when you have hardly gotten over one cold before you contract another, lookout for you are liable to contract some very serious disease. This succession of colds weakens the system and lowers the vitality so that you are much more liable to contract chronic catarrh, pneumonia or consumption. Cure your cold while you can. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has a great reputation. It is relied upon by thousands of people and never disappoints them. Try it. It only costs a quarter. Obtainable everywhere. 21-5

W. C. T. U.

An enjoyable afternoon was spent Wednesday, at the home of Mrs. Naylor. A mothers meeting was held, and a program prepared by Mrs. R. E. Roberts. Interesting readings were given by Mrs. Freeman. First, a selection, "When Mithers Gane," another, "Our Lady of the Mine," by Eugene Field, was well rendered. Mrs. Freeman has natural ability and is well qualified for that line of work. We hope she may favor us again in the near future. A musical selection was given by Mrs. Longstaff and Mrs. Wilson.

Money Talks at BAZELMAN'S

LOCAL MATTERS.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at the Catholic church this morning when Father Giblin pronounced the words that united in marriage Dr. Charles G. Zimmer of Norfolk, Neb., to Miss Margaret Fallon of this city, the ceremony being performed in the presence of a few of the relatives and immediate friends of the contracting parties. The groom is a prominent young physician of Norfolk while the bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Fallon, pioneer residents of this city. The Frontier joins the many friends of this estimable young couple in wishing them many years of wedded happiness and bliss.

John Dahms, an old time settler of Emmet township, died at his home northwest of Emmet last Sunday afternoon, at the advanced age of 68 years. The funeral was held last Wednesday, the remains being interred in the cemetery at Atkinson. Deceased leaves four children to mourn the death of a kind and loving father. The children are: Gustav, George, Mrs. Alf and Mrs. Morton Greeley, all of whom were at the bedside of their father in his last hours.

Levi C. Burns died at his home northeast of this city last Tuesday morning, at the age of 58 years. The body was shipped to Davenport, Neb., the former home of the family, Thursday morning, for interment. Deceased was living alone on the old Girard farm northeast of this city. Monday night he became sick and went outside and fired his gun in the air twice and called for help. Mr. Stewart, who lives on the Bradt farm and came to his assistance. He sent to town for medical help and the physician found that deceased was suffering from acute dilation of the heart and kept rapidly sinking until he passed away at 5 o'clock in the morning.

W. F. Roberts, who is attending the State University, arrived in the city last Saturday to spend a few days visiting at the home of his parents and other relatives here. Mr. Roberts was a member of the State University stock judging team that won the laurels from the eastern colleges a few weeks ago. At the time of the contest Mr. Roberts was given the honor of high man in the contest. This, he says, was an error and was made by the scoring of the members of the U. S. Dairy division of Washington, who scored the contest. Mr. Roberts says that after the scoring was corrected it was found that a Rhode Island man received the high honors, being high man in the contest, and he desired us to make note of the correction, as he did not wish to receive credit for honors to which another man was entitled. Mr. Roberts, however, was high man in Holsteins and received a scholarship and the Nebraska University team was high team in the contest.

Did Mr. Johnson Patronize You?

Fremont saloon keepers and merchants were not the only ones taken in recently by "Pete" Johnson, the Swedish hobo who was given considerable space in the state newspapers last week. Several Neligh and O'Neill business men were contributors, for Mr. Johnson campaigned in this vicinity before going to Fremont, making his headquarters at Inman.

Johnson first broke into print by blowing into Fremont from the west and posing as a western stockman. To make it good, he started operations by going to a Fremont garage and purchasing a $1400 automobile, paying for it with a check, then leaving the car with the dealer, explaining that he was going to be in town for a week or so and would not need the car until ready to go away. This thoughtful action made Mr. Johnson's paper exceedingly good at booze and other emporiums in Fremont and he waxed fat and prosperous until the checks got back to Fremont. Then he confessed and said that he only was seeking to find a place to stay during the winter. He found it all right and probably will retire to the state's manual training school near Lincoln, at least for the winter.

Johnson came to Holt county about a month ago, arriving at Inman in his private car, Northwestern palace stock, No. 41,144, one morning. As the weather was delightful at the time, he neglected to bring a coat along, but as the days grew chilly he recognized the need for one and went to work. As soon as he had accumulated sufficient funds for a coat he journeyed to O'Neill to invest, and while here discovered that John Barleycorn kept out the cold nearly as well as fine raiment, so patronized John. Then back to Inman, where he soon annexed enough to purchase the coat at an auction sale. Feeling the need of a rest, Mr. Johnson visited O'Neill, where he exchanged a few checks on an Inman bank for entertainment and a large $3.50 solid gold ring. Afterwards, with a jug of Henry Ford's new automobile fuel, he returned to Inman for a day, but again running out of supplies sold the ring for a quarter and came to O'Neill, where he negotiated $20 worth of paper. After this he invaded Fremont, with the results mentioned.
