Banker Edward Adams, of Chambers, was transacting business in this city last Saturday.

George Davies, the Inman banker, was up from that city last Friday on a short business trip.

T. J. Coyne, M. H. McCarthy and Thomas Enright went over to Lake Andes, S. D., last Friday on a short fishing trip. The boys returned Monday evening. They say the weather was so hot that the fish were not biting very readily and they did not succeed in catching as good a string as they had anticipated. However they say they had an enjoyable trip.

The dance given at the Dorsey Hall last Saturday evening for Red Cross benefit was a success and enjoyed by all present judging from the proceeds which were $45.00. The music was donated and furnished by Miss Lina and Charles Coles and Mr. Manarick and four sons. There will be another dance given for Red Cross benefit August 25th and ice cream and cake will be sold by committee in charge. All are invited.

Frank Walton was in the city last Tuesday. Last spring Frank sold his ranch in the southwestern part of the county and went to Missouri, where he purchased an eighty acre farm. He put in a crop there and will spend a few weeks here looking after his business affairs. Frank is located near Mountain View, Missouri, and says he likes that country fine. He says the farmers down there still plow their corn with the old one-horse corn plow, used in this section a quarter of a century ago. If one man looks after twenty acres of farm land they are of the opinion that they are large farmers. Jack Keipers, for many years a resident of the Chambers country, lives near Mountain View, and Frank says that he is getting along fine. Mr. Walton expects to return to Missouri some time next month.

Modern Life and Credit

The wonderful development of our modern system of living with all of its complicated machinery for carrying on the large and small transactions of the big and little affairs of every day life is due entirely to the world's system of credit.

Credit extends all the way from the smallest "accounts" of the retail dealer up to the great deals made between great financial institutions and nations themselves.

What does credit stand for? Many credit dealings are of course, backed by a definite guaranty or "security" in some form, but to a large extent credit means "confidence"—mutual faith in the ability and integrity of both parties to the transaction.

There is therefore an element of doubt in all this great system of ours.

Still no one would consider for a minute the complete reversal of conditions back to the ridiculous simplicity and narrow limitations of barter and exchange or handling the actual cash involved in a transfer of goods or property.

All business and banking are a part of this system of credit exchange which has been so largely responsible for the world's rapid progress in everything pertaining to the betterment of mankind in every way.

To overcome the occasional losses due to such a system, remedial measures have been often suggested, and one which has proven by test to be of great actual worth as strengthening one angle of our credit system is the Depositors' Guarantee Fund of the State of Nebraska.

This law affects, of course, only the depositors of State Banks as the State can have no control over banks not incorporated under its own State Banking Laws.

However, a depositor in any State Bank in Nebraska has the protection of this fund which now amounts to over one million, one hundred thousand dollars, and it is hardly believable that a loss to depositors can be possible under this law.

Nebraska State Bank, O'Neill

GOOD INTENTIONS NO. 2.

"Intentions never made any one rich." We quote from our ad of last week. You have intended for some time to open an Account here—haven't you? How old are you? How long have you been "intending" to start banking? The years have gone by—in those years much money has passed through your hands—and now, the money is gone, most of the things, for which you spent it are gone. If you only have one, single, solitary dollar bring that dollar—mail it if you can't come—to us NOW.

"Men are judged not by their intentions, but by the results of their actions.—Chesterfield.
