YOUR BARNS

Are your barns filled for the Winter? Crops harvested? Hay in? Everything snug and tight for the cold weather? How about yourself-how about your money? Where is it? Why not tuck it away in an account here? Your money here is safe and while it is here no one knows anything about it. You have complete secrecy.

The county clerk, who is the clerk of the local exemption board, has received notice that Ira N. West, who registered here last June and was called in the first 300 but who failed to report and was marked as a slacker, was in the army, having enlisted in Company D. of the Wyoming National Guard, on May 28. With Mr. West accounted for there is but one man from this county, who was called and is unaccounted for, a Mr. Black, who registered at Atkinson.

Earl Faulhaber, who joined the Marine Corps some time ago and has been training since, was given a furlough and arrived home Sunday for a short visit with his folks and friends. He leaves in a few days to resume training at Quantico, Virginia.

Avie L. Cherry has filed suit in the district court praying for a divorce from Harry B. Cherry. They were married at Sioux City, Iowa, on June 26, 1916, were then and are now residents of this country. She alleges that he has been unfaithful and has been cruel and inhuman in his treatment. She further alleges that she had $721.00 at the time of their marriage, which she gave to her husband. He had between $400 and $500. They now own property worth about $2,-700. She asks for a return of the money she gave him at the time of their marriage, and absolute divorce and reasonable alimony.

"Shall I advertise with space or Avie L. Cherry has filed suit in the

"Shall I advertise with space or locals?" asks a business man of an old established newspaper. The editor answered: "If you are going to advertise a shoat for sale, a few lines of local are enough. If you have a $5,000 or $10,000 stock of goods, a few lines will not convey the impression to the people that you want conveyed. "Greatest stock of goods at Smith's" would lead the reader to ask why Smith did not take an admore in proportion to his stock. Take space to corresponnd with the business you conduct and you will create an impression on the public that will be a lasting benefit. It has been truthfully said that the effect of a good advertisement never dies."

J. P. Gallagher returned last Satur-

of a good advertisement never dies."

J. P. Gallagher returned last Saturday evening from a six weeks vacation, which he spend in Colorado and Wyoming. While away he put in several weeks trout fishing in the waters of both Colorado and Wyoming and says he had a delightful time, as the trout were striking splendidly while he was fishing. He seen several former O'Neill resident in Wyoming and says that they are all prospering. In Wyoming he says all the people are oil crazy and that is about all the people talk about in that section. He says that many men have made fortunes in the past year and that their success has created a craze in oil stock buying and that every man, no matter how humble or how small a wage he draws, invests at least part of it in mining stock. The fever is in the blood there. This was Mr. Gallagher's first vacation for several years and he says that he thoroughly enjoyed himself every moment of his absence.

Creamery Company Re-Organize. At a meeting held in this city Wednesday morning the McGinnis Cream-At a meeting held in this city Wednesday morning the McGinnis Creamcry Company was reorganized and the capital stock was increased to $100,000.00. The former capital stock of the company was $60,000. The new stock was taken by A. S. Hanford, Jr., and J. W. Strunck, of Sioux City, Ia., the balance of the stock being owned by Mr. McGinnis and a few local men.
The following officers of the McGinnis Creamery Company were elected: R. W. McGinnis, president;
J. W. Strunck, vice-president; J. A.
Dononhoe, secretary; Ed. F. Gallagher, treasurer; C. W. Crocker, cashier. The following constitute the board of directors: R. W. McGinnis, J. A. Donohoe, E. F. Gallagher, J. W. Strunck and A. S. Hanford, Jr.

The officers of the company intend to enlarge the plant and will make the local creamery the largest in the state outside of the large cities. The new capital that has been invested in the company will be used largely in enlarging the plant and preparing for
the increased business that they expect to secure.

Mr. Hanford and Mr. Strunck, the

the increased business that they expect to secure.

Mr. Hanford and Mr. Strunck, the new members of the company from Sioux City, are members of the Hanford Produce Company of that city and their investment in the local plant menas that they consider this an ideal point to build up a large creamery and they will devote their talent to that end. Several Sioux City firms have been looking toward this city with longing eyes the past few years and it has been rumored that several of the large firms of that city contemplate opening branch houses here and it
