Left For Camp Funston.
Holt county's third quota of the National Army, consisting of fifty-seven men, left last Sunday morning at 11 o'clock on a special train for Camp Funston Kansas.

About 2,500 people were at the depot to bid the boys good bye and God speed on their journey and to wish them a safe return when they had performed their duty to their country. In the crowd that surrounded the depot were citizens from all parts of the county who came to speed the boys on their journey and to assure them that no matter where they were they would always have the prayers and the best wishes of the people of this county for their welfare and success. The Chambers band was present and furnished lots of martial and patriotic music, which with the cheers of the crowd and the farewell cheers of the boys as they left their home town was a sight that will long be remembered by those who witnessed it. Many a tear was shed by mother, sweetheart and sister as the loved ones boarded the train, but the boys took their places manfully and assured the grieving loved ones that they would be back as soon as the world was made safe for democracy.

A splendid program was rendered at the opera house Wednesday evening in honor of the soldier boys. They reported to the local board at 5 o'clock Saturday afternoon and at 6:30 they were given a spread at the Golden Hotel. After the dinner at the hotel the boys marched to the K. C. hall, where the exercises of the evening were held. The meeting was presided over by S. J. Weekes who briefly stated the importance of making a success of the Second Liberty Loan now being floated by the government, stating that it was the duty of every citizen of the county to take as many bonds as they could possibly afford to take. He made a very earnest address and was heartily encored.

Miss Mary Fitzsimmons favored with a vocal selection, which was heartily encored, as was also songs by the male quartette.

Mayor E. H. Whelan delivered the principal address of the evening. Mr. Whelan is always a very able and interesting speaker, but he seemed at his best on this occasion, and he roused the audience to the highest pitch of enthusiasm by his earnestness and convincing argument. Mr. Whelan praised England for the course it was pursuing in this war and heartily commended the foreign-born citizen of the United States who was loyal to the land of their adoption, while he severely censured those who were not loyally supporting their adopted country. It was one of the strongest addresses ever delivered by Mr. Whelan in this city and he was loudly cheered and warmly congratulated at its conclusion.

Holt county has still twenty-two men to send to the National Army cantonment to make up the quota of 143 men, for this county is to furnish for the first army. These twenty two men will leave for Camp Funston about the nineteenth of the present month. The local board has thirty-one men, who have been certified for service by the state board and from this number the twenty-two men needed to make up the county's quota will be taken. The government figured that ten per cent of the men, accepted for service by the physicians of the local boards, would be rejected by the army physicians and if that percentage holds good in this county the local board will be compelled to make another call to fill the county's quota, as they have but nine more than the necessary 143. Holt county has sent a splendid lot of young men to the front and it is believed that the percentage of rejections will be very low.

The Need of Economy

If many of your fathers and mothers of the past generation could view this prosperous country now, what violent shocks, often repeated, would they receive from our many little forms of luxury and extravagance.

While no one, not even our forefathers, would now advocate a self imposed condition of harsh economy it behoves many of us living in this fast moving era to pull ourselves up with a jerk and put on the brakes or throttle down on our careless expenditures.

This is especially true in its relation to our children, to their future welfare and to that of this country.

It is an alarming fact that the young people of today do not have the proper regard of the value of money and we should not only take the blame as parents, but should teach economy and more especially inculcate this in the younger minds by practicing it ourselves.

We, in this community, have been given one of the world's greatest incentives for the accumulation of money. That is the sense of security given by the Guarantee Fund of the State of Nebraska.

This fund now amounts to an enormous sum which is set aside as a protection for the depositors in the State Banks of Nebraska.

Grandfather had the worry for the security of his money besides the task of saving. We have only to place our money in a State Bank to be free from worry.
