The case of Joseph Matousek vs. John Galligan was tried in county court last week. Matousek alleged that he had a contract with Galligan to deliver him sixty ton of hay at $9.25 per ton and that Galligan failed to deliver the hay and he brought suit to recover damages in the sum of $735. The case was taken under advisement by the court.

The plaintiff averred that they had purchased a car of hay on contract and paid down $150 and that defendant had failed to deliver the hay and they brought suit to collect $650. In the trial of the case it came out that they were suing the wrong man, as it was not William Luben that had made the contract and the case was dismissed.

The Chicago White Sox are the world's champion base ball team, having won the title by taking the last two games from the New York Giants, winning the game last Saturday at Chicago with a score of 8 to 5 and again trimming the Giants on their own diamond last Monday with a score of 4 to 2. The American League teams have been winning the base ball classic pretty regularly the past dozen years and it begins to look as if the junior league was the fastest organization.

Arthur Ryan and Tom Enright have been farming the past week, digging their potatoe crop. Last spring they furnished the seed and Pat Welsh planted the spuds and took care of them and the boys split the proceeds, fifty-fifty. They finished harvesting Wednesday and secured a little over 600 bushel of potatoes off of the four acres. Pat Welsh had some of the potatoes in town Tuesday and they were as fine looking potatoes as we have ever seen, clean and nice and weighing a pound each. The high cost of "spuds" will not bother Art, Tom or Pat for the next year.

Roy DeMontague, who broke into Casper Englehaup's store at Emmet last week, was arrested at Oakland and brought back to this city. Monday he appeared in district court, plead guilty to burglary and was sentenced by Judge Dickson to an indeterminate term of from three to twenty years in the penitentiary and was taken to Lincoln by Sheriff Duffy Tuesday morning. A week ago Sunday night he broke into the store and stole about $80 worth of clothing and $6.00 in cash that was in the money drawer. He will have plenty of time at Lincoln to repent of his waywardness.

The Omaha Printing Company, of Omaha, has filed suit in the district court of Holt county against the County of Holt to collect the sum of $488.50 for furniture purchased by a couple of members of the county board from the plaintiff last December. The bill for the furniture was filed on February 26, 1917, and it was rejected by the county board on September 10, 1917. The board alleges that the members of the board, who purchased the furniture, had no authority to purchase it and for that reason the claim was rejected. The furniture was received by the county and is now in use in several county offices.

Inman Leader: A prairie fire which started on section fifteen about 11 o'clock Wednesday forenoon burned four stacks of hay and swept quite a stretch of meadow before the blaze was brought under control. One stack belonged to Geo. Kivert and three stacks to C. C. Chase. The fire originated on the open meadow within a short distance of two bailing crews which were at work at the time. A heavy wind was blowing from the south and before the men could reach the scene of the fire the wind had whipped it into a regular rampage which required the combined efforts of the entire neighborhood and a large force of volunteers from Inman. The fire burned pretty close to the Ellsworth farm residence, but by back firing the course was changed. Probably a strip two miles long was burned and where the hay stacks were pretty well scattered. The total loss will amount to about $400 at the present price of hay.

A special election was held in the state of Iowa last Monday, the state voting on a prohibition amendment to the constitution. A very heavy vote was cast, much greater than was expected and from the last returns it appears as if the amendment was defeated. According to the Sioux City Tribune the figures, compiled at 2 o'clock Wednesday giving a majority of 3,390 for the wets, were as follows: For the amendment 206,659, and 210,049 against the amendment. Practically all the larger cities in the state, except Des Moines, gave large majorities against the amendment, the capital city voting dry by about 1,100. The defeating of the amendment does not make the state wet, as it is now dry by legislative enactment and will be dry until the present law is repealed and that can not be done until the next legislature meets. The apparent victory for the wets is a great surprise as it was confidently predicted that Iowa, which has for years contained great dry sentiment, would be overwhelmingly dry, in fact prior to the election it was claimed by the dries with a majority of 100,000.

Now that Uncle Sam has the young men of the country in training for military service, he finds that he needs 10,000 typewriter operators and stenographers and typewriters, both men and women, for the Departments at Washington. The Civil Service Commission has notified all of its 3,000 boards of examiners that they should put forth their best efforts to secure these urgently needed workers. While examinations are now held weekly in 450 cities, the Commission states that arrangements will be made to have an examination held at any accessible place where a small class of applicants can be secured. The entrance salaries range from $1,000 to $1,200 a year. Promotion is reasonably rapid to those whose services prove satisfactory. No appointments can be made to these or other positions in the Federal classified civil service unless authorized by the Civil Service Commission under the civil service law. Any information to the contrary is unauthorized. This is a splendid opportunity to serve your country. Full information may be secured from the secretary of the board of civil service examiners at the post office in your city.

Community Interests

The reasoning of many of the soundest thinkers of different eras has gone to prove that the welfare of the public at large is in many ways best served, directed or protected by a collective national or community force.

This is not a socialist doctrine or theory. It does not tend to detract from the results of competition and individual development in business and social life.

Public ownership of railways may or may not be desirable. Municipally controlled water, and lighting systems are successful features of many cities.

There is one great principle of community interest however that has been proven by a number of year's practice to be an unqualified success. That is the creation of Depositors' Guarantee Funds by several progressive States. In effect these laws are similar, and the Depositors' Guarantee Fund of Nebraska is a good example.

Each State Bank in Nebraska is required to make up its proportion of this fund which amounts to over a million dollars. Should a Nebraska State Bank fail now its depositors lose absolutely nothing. Why? Because from this guarantee fund a sufficient amount is drawn to make up the shortage in the insolvent bank's assets, thus fully reimbursing each depositor.

This is a form of community protection that stimulates individual progress.
