Wintering Mature Brood Sows.
 "Wintering Mature Brood Sows" is the title of a new bulletin just issued by the Nebraska Experiment Station. The results of seven years' work at the North Platte Substation are given with special emphasis on work of the past three years. "Experiments indicate that old brood sows may be wintered on alfalfa alone with fair success although this may not be a profitable practice under usual conditions," says the bulletin. "These results also indicate that the cheapest ration, when credit is given for the gains made, is a light ration of corn and alfalfa hay in a rack. The most recent test indicates that old brood sows may be wintered satisfactorily using self-feeders and a ration of three pounds of chopped alfalfa to one pound of chopped corn." The bulletin is of unusual interest to all who are obeying the government's request to breed more sows. Free copies of the bulletin, No. 162, may be secured by addressing the Bulletin Clerk, University Farm, Lincoln, Neb.

Corn Profits.
 Taking into consideration soft corn, the 1917 corn crop is 24 per cent larger than that of 1916. Normally 80 per cent of the corn is fed. If there are fewer cattle and hogs to eat the normal crop, the surplus of 24 per cent will only help to make corn profits look smaller.

The live stock man, however, may feel well satisfied, according to animal husbandry extension specialists of the University of Nebraska. The hog shortage, the abnormal demand for pork and fat, the packers' license, and the backing of the government make prospects for profitable pork production seem unusually good. The huge corn crop comes as an added asset to the hog man. Swine breeders who have studied the situation carefully are selling the shoats only when well fattened, and are increasing their breeding herds as much as possible. Patriotism and profit work well in double harness.

 Emmet—Twelve convalescent robes, 9 bed shirts, 38 hot water bottle covers, 12 bed socks.

Red Cross Work.
 Seven sewing machines have been purchased by the O'Neill Chapter for use in Red Cross work. This will be a great relief to the workers, for good machines have been sorely needed.

The first big shipment of knitted goods and hospital supplies to go direct to the Atlantic seacoasts left Omaha Monday morning, according to Mrs. Howard Baldrige, state censor for Red Cross supplies. This shipment consisted of twenty-five boxes. Heretofore Nebraska chapters have all shipped to Chicago, central division headquarters. Delays were thus encountered in censoring these goods and in repacking and reshipping. Under the new ruling which gives Nebraska power to censor its own articles and ship direct to the seacoast, there will be a remarkable speeding up of relief work.

Shipments of knitted goods received by Mrs. Longstaff from the different units in this county, for the shipment of January 5th, was as follows: Stuart: Seven mufflers, eighteen sweaters, eighteen pair of socks, seven pair wristlets, one muffler; Dorsey: Eleven sweaters, five pair socks, one pair wristlets, two mufflers; Page: Six sweaters, five pair socks, four wristlets, five mufflers, one helmet; Inman: Six sweaters, six pair socks, one pair wristlets, two mufflers, one wash cloth; Emmet: Eleven sweaters, five pair socks, four pair wristlets, two mufflers; O'Neill: Nineteen sweaters, sixteen pair socks, fourteen pair wristlets, nine mufflers. Total: Sixty sweaters, fifty-five pair socks, thirty-one pair wristlets, twenty-one mufflers, one helmet, one wash cloth. This is one of the best shipments Mrs. Longstaff has had, and was only a short time in preparation.
