The individual who smeared yellow paint on the Omaha Bee building some time ago, got a little too far up the Farnam street hill.

"To hell with the Kaiser," is thrilling, but not nearly as convincing as "G" me a bond."

While Senator Hitchcock is in Nebraska to work against the prohibitory amendment and to prevent the legislature from censuring him, the state council of defense might call him on the carpet for publishing those Patricia Newcombe letters.

The only way to buy wheat flour now without the substitutes is to hurry up and whip the Kaiser.

The Red Cross woman who objected to making bandages to be used on German prisoners of war is wrong. It is to be regretted that the demand is not larger.

Spring formally arrived last Thursday, and with it several batches of poetry and otherwise which lack of space prevents publishing this week.

Corporal Hatch's Birthday Fittingly Celebrated.

The celebration of a birthday anniversary in the trenches over in France is some event and is observed with fitting and solemn pomp and ceremony, according to Corporal Ray Hatch of the 166th Field Hospital, whose company now has charge of one of the base hospitals right back of the line and which is constantly under fire of the Germans. Corporal Hatch is a Holt county boy, the son of Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Hatch, of Opportunity, and has a record as a military man, being born in the service. That important epoch in his life occurred at Fort Niobrara while his father was in the regular service. Corporal Hatch is a member of the famous Rainbow division and has been in the trenches for months. In his letters to the folks at home, which are necessarily short, but to the point, on account of the strict censorship, he states that the Y. M. C. A. and the Red Cross are about the only friends the soldier in the trenches now have over there and he writes from a Y. M. C. A. hut under fire. As it was his birthday anniversary that was observed, he speaks or writes with authority and encloses the original order for observance of his birthday issued by First Class Sergeant Roush of his company.

"They sure carried this out too," is his notation on the proclamation, which follows:

"Rumalgate Dept M. D. BULLITTIN 23 606.

A Proclamation.
"Whereas, in the year of our Lord eighteen hundred and ninety-five on the fourteenth day of February, at the historic Fort Niobrara was born no other than that immortal man, Corporal Ray Hatch.

"Whereas, it is fitting that all true Americans should observe this great day in the laying of the foundation for the standard of American manhood it is suggested that every member of the company give Corp. Hatch 23 rousing smacks on the bosom of his B. V. D's.

Under my hand and seal this 14th day of Feb., given at the smoke house across the court.

R. R. ROUSH,
Chief O'Nutts."

Red Cross Notes From Over County.

Middle Branch—At the last meeting thirteen ladies were present. A large number of bed jackets were finished and many other garments worked on.

Maxfield—Sixteen ladies present and worked on surgical dressings. Articles finished: 22 abdominal bands, 22 triangular slings, 165 gauze sponges. Some work was also done on bed jackets.

The Maxfield Red Cross Club held a donation sale and supper at the school house on March 16th. Owing to bad roads, the crowd was not as large as hoped for, but the sum of $106 was realized. Good for Maxfield.

Venus—Fourteen ladies were present at the meeting. Three layettes are finished, and several more will be finished in the very near future. 721 gauze sponges were made, and many hospital garments partly finished.

Venus ladies have a nice surgical dressing class. They have to their credit 3167 gauze dressings, and they have been doing this work but a short time.

The following reports from Mrs. E. J. Bild's classes should have been published last week, but were unavoidably delayed.

Page—Bed jacket, 1; pajamas, 6; face towels, 95; wash cloths, 100; handkerchiefs, 134; bed shirts, 22; comfort pillows, 8; fracture pillows,

2; pillow slips, 8; operating leggings, 4; gauze dressings, 505.

Middle Branch—wash cloths, 66; bed jackets, 6; water bottle covers, 19; bandaged foot socks, 4.

Maxfield—Wash cloths, 14; bed jackets, 7; water bottle covers, 12; bandaged foot socks, 18; handkerchiefs, 40; face towels, 65; gauze dressings, 676.

O'Neill Surgical Dressings: The shipment from O'Neill in the month of February consisted of over 2500 surgical dressings. Word has been received from headquarters that these have been passed and accepted and are now on their way to France.

The March shipment consisted of the following:

Muslin triangular bandages, 130; gauze compresses 4x4, 19; gauze compresses, 8x4, 675; gauze compresses, 9x9, 240; absorbent pads, 8x12, 50; gauze latarotomy pads, 6x6, 25; gauze rolls, 5 yards by 4 1/2 inches, 6; folded gauze strips, 6x3, 40; gauze wipes, 4x4, 100.

Surgical dressings from Page and auxiliary classes consist of 2275 gauze wipes, 2x2.

The secretary of the O'Neill Red Cross Chapter is in receipt of a letter from the State Censor, Mrs. H. H. Baldrige of Omaha, in which she most cordially thanks the ladies of O'Neill for their hearty co-operation in the work.

For the encouragement of our women who have worked so faithfully we quote from her letter the following: "All of your dressings were accepted, and favorable comment made upon your work."

Mrs. J. A. Cowperthwaite was among the workers at the Tuesday class. Mrs. Cowperthwaite has been working with the Red Cross at Long Beach this winter, and has many interesting things to tell of the work at that resort.

Hot Water Quick

The more water in this reservoir the faster it heats. If too low it heats very slowly. See that big surface that lays flat against the fire plate? That is the secret of the Copper-Clad Reservoir.

If it gets too hot, twist the lever at the bottom and shift away from the fire plate.

This is a good reason for buying a Copper-Clad Range. No other range but the Copper-Clad has this shifting device—it is patented.

There are 25 other reasons, but the chief reason is—clad with copper they can't rust out.
