Stormy Convention at Lincoln Forced Also to Give Suffrage a Boost.

Hastings, Neb., Aug. 2.—One of the stormlest conventions the democrata of Nebraska have had in years was the convention yesterday. The steam roller was used with a seeming delight by Chairman Donahoe. At no stage did by the Bryan followers a single by Chairman Donahoe. At no stage did he give the Bryan followers a single morsel of comfort to roll under their tongue. With a bare majority of the convention behind him, he ruled with a hand as drastic and unrelenting as any crowned head of the central empires.

Fighting every inch of the way, the Bryan warriors found that there was to be no mercy shown them in a single instance. Not even the courtesy of a single Bryan supporter appeared upon the resolution committee. This was the healing salve he dished up to the convention, when once power had been given him by a vote of the convention.

The fireworks started following the action of the convention in making the improvery organization permathe temporary organization perma-nent. Upon motion of Dr. P. L. Hall, that the chairman appoint a resolu-nent. Upon motion of Dr. P. L. Hall, that the chairman appoint a resolution committee of five, W. H. Thompson moved a substitute resolution calling for the convention to select a resolution committee of seven. Amid one of the most tumultous roll calls ever witnessed, occasioned by the chair's seeming ignerance of parliamentary usage, the convention rejected the substitute resolution by a vote of 503 to 497.

The chairman then announced the following as his selection for the committee Dr. P. L. Hall, E. J. Campbell, Webb Rice, Ed Caufal, George Marshall and William Mosrill. After hours spent in deliberative effort the resolution committee reported at midnight a resolution dumfounding the convention. It carried no endorsement for Senator Hitchcock or Governor Neville, and in the closing plank pledged the party for equal suffrage, the adoption of the federal prohibitory amendment and against profiteering.

The threat of I. J. Dunn, of Omaha, to offer a substitute motion on the floor of the sonvention attacking Hitchcook forced the Hitchcock-Mullear resolution committee to carry out every demand of the Bryan wing.

REPUBLICANS IN FAVOR OF NATIONAL PROHIBITION

Lincoln, Neb., Aug. 2.—The republican state convention here yesterday was a get-together affair and speech feast, prominent men of the state and nation being present to laud republican principles and ideals.

The platform which endorsed national prohibition and woman's suffrage was adopted without a dissenting voice being heard.

Senator George W. Norris addressed

Senator George W. Norris addressed the convention. He explained his po-sition and what he had done to push war legislation. He declared that no more grain should be wasted in the more grain should be wasted in the manufacture of intoxicating liquor because it is needed for feeding the allies during the war. He advocated that the necessities of life should, as far as possible, be free from taxation but huge incomes and swolon war profits should bear the burden to great degree. He said that it is the duty of republicans everywhere to see that everything possible is done to secure victory for America and its allies. Speaking of President Wilson, Senator Norris said: "We must follow where he leads and give him united support." He emphasized the right of constructive criticism in a free republic like the United States and he thought it a duty of every citizen to offer helpful criticism. He pointed out that this is the United States and he thought it a duty of every citizen to offer helpful criticism. He pointed out that this is the first great war of history when the producer at home is as important as the soldier in the trench.

Will H. Hays, of Indiana, national chairman of the republican party, was enthusastically received. He said the party stands for three things:

First, to use every possible means to win the war.

Second, for a peace with victory and

Second, for a peace with victory and never peace by a compromise or bar-gaining of principles which would violate American rights, interests and honor, and make our sacrifice a sacri-lege to be made again by our grand-children.

Third, for a sane preparation now for the solution of the problems immeasurable in their complexity and magnitude which will come after the war. We are as unprepared for peace as we were for war, he said. Every country except America is preparing for peace. We are slipping along now under democratic administration withunder democratic administration with-put any adequate thought of tomorrow, just as we did before we entered the war, he asserted.

THE PROHIB CONVENTION.

Lincoln, Neb., Aug. 2. — The state convention of the prohibition party was smothered by the greater republican state convention. In a small room at one of the hotels the cold water delegates gathered to build a platform and transact other business in order to keep the party organization from dismemberment. Virgil G. Hinshaw, national hairman of the organization, a former Nebraskan and a graduate of the state iniversity, was one of the distinguished niversity, was one of the distinguished cisitors. It was stated that no ticket would be placed in the field. J. A. Murray, state chairman, said that after a platform had been adopted and the appointment of a central commit-tee to serve for two years the conven-tion would adjourn.

STATE CONVENTION

Democrats of Nebraska Expected to Go to the Mat at Hastings Next Tuesday.

Lincoln, Neb., July 29.—One question that promises to bother the democratic state convention, which meets at Hast-ings next Tuesday, will be what to do with the troublesome question of endorsing ratification by the state legis-lature of the national prohibitory amendment. Republican leaders are amendment. Republican leaders are agreed that the republican state convention will give such endorsement without any dispute.

In the democratic convention the "drys", led by the Bryans, will insist that ordinary political common sense dictates that the endorsement be given. They say that is the only way to cure the damage done by the refusal of the governor and the democratic state senate to consider ratification as state senate to consider ratification at the special session last spring, and that it would be suicide to go before the voters, who adopted prohibition by 30; 000 and who would double that majority if it were again submitted, with a record of having refused to endorse ratification.

The convention, however, is tikely to either dodge an endorsement or re-fuse one. Most of the democratale "wet" leaders are irreconcilable. They "wet" leaders are irreconcilable. They say that this state never voted liquo out of the homes but only voted to close the saloons, and that it never would have voted "yes" on a home "dry" proposition. As national prohibition means a hone "dry" state for ah time, they are inclined to oppose ratification endorsement. Besides to endorse it would place Neville in a most embarrassing position, they say.

LEGISLATORS MAY GO INTO COURT FOR MONEY

Lincoln. Neb., July 29.—The appropriation bill passed by the special legislative session granting $12,800 in pay for members for per diem attendance became a law Friday and the money is now available for the use of the members—if they can get it. Auditor Smith has paid all incidental expenses and labor bills, but he says that nowarrants will be drawn on this appropriation until a court orders it. The governor did not include appropriation bills in his call, and the auditor thinks this bars their payment. He submitted the question to the attorney general's office, and the deputy there has given an opinion that he is very doubtful of the legality, and suggests that some member of the legislature take it into court.

Before the legislature adjourned committee from each house was named to look after the litigation that it was to look after the litigation that it was then certain would follow the attempt to appropriate money, and it is presumed this committee will get busy. An appropriation of $3,100 to pay the railroad fare of the members became available on April 9. The auditor took the same ground with respect to these moneys, and no legislator has sought the courts to make him let loose of it.
