LIFE AND ITS OPPORTUNITIES.

Life is a gift of inestimable value, and fraught with interest which in their effect are as lasting as eternity. Life is given us for a grand purpose, the improvement of ourselves, and helping to better the condition of our fellow men. How important it is that we make a proper use of our time and talents.
 Work and progress are the order of creation. Among the busy toilers in life's harvest fields there is no place for idlers; neither should we spend all our time digging in the earth after perishable riches of this world. Man was formed for a nobler purpose. He lives for eternity, where silver will not be needed, where gold will be of no value. Life is far too short and uncertain, the future one too near and real that we should risk all on the one pursuit for earthly treasure. Opportunities for usefulness are many.
 Along every pathway in life are weary, toil-worn pilgrims, longing for a cheering word, for a helping hand. Shall our lives be one of passiveness when the present calls so loudly for action? Can we fold our hands in idleness, murmuring that there is nothing for us to do? Can we deny light and help to those who are adrift on life's stormy sea? They who have the brightest light should hold it up the highest, that its rays may flash out the farther in the surrounding darkness. If life and its many many opportunities have been well improved, how grand will be the reflection when we come to stand on the farther shore of life, and look backward, to know that our great object in life was to help our fellow men up to a fairer land.
