Bread Made From This Flour Took First Prize At the Holt County Fair In 1916, In a Field of Eighteen Entries.

We had a fire scare in the Elevator but are still doing business. No damage done to the mill building at all, not even smoke. Have overhauled all machinery and new bolting cloths on the mill and we are making better flour now than we ever made. If you don't believe this come and get a sack and if you don't find it true bring back the empty bag and get your money back.

Yours,

THE WHEAT CROP OF

NORTHWEST NEBRASKA

Trade Review: Those who have occasion to travel through northwest Nebraska at this season of the year, are seeing the wonderful development as a wheat growing section of the state that is on in a dozen counties in that section.

A great wheat crop is being harvested in that locality and it is a crop harvested where ten years ago the prairie lands were unbroken and untouched by cultivation. It has been a great development that has come to that section and instance after instance has been published where wheat growers in different counties, have in a single crop, secured returns sufficient to pay for the land and its improvements.

While such returns cannot be anticipated as a permanent feature, yet they do put that section of the state upon a new plane of productiveness and of investment value and as the wheat fields have grown there, and as crop production in other lines has moved upward with it, business of every kind in northwest Nebraska is moving to newer and larger proportions.

It is not surprising that values advance where development brings such generous returns; it is not surprising that people are finding this a great section in which to make investments and to establish themselves in business. The wheat fields of northwest Nebraska today are a picture of present development and an assurance of future growth that needs to be seen to be appreciated.

The people of eastern Nebraska are beginning to realize that out in the new land are opportunities heretofore unrealized and unappreciated and as a result there will be added movement toward that section of the state that will all contribute to its growth and upbuilding along the largest lines.

Select Seed Potatoes At Harvest.

The custom of using as seed potatoes left from the previous season's crop, after having disposed of the best, must be discontinued if the present quality and yield of the crop is to be materially improved, say specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture. The grower can not expect to get maximum yields from inferior seed stock any more than the dairyman can expect to get maximum milk yields from scrub cows. The best time to select seed potatoes, according to the specialists, is in the fall when the crop is being harvested. Then the yield of the individual plant and the quality of the tubers can be considered.

Good seed is pure in respect to the variety; is produced by healthy, vigorous, heavy-yielding plants grown under favorable climatic conditions; is somewhat immature; reasonably uniform in size and shape; firm and sound. The first sprouts should begin to develop at planting time.

Harry Scott, of Chambers, returned from overseas the first of the week. Harry was a member of the motorcycle corps.

NO FEDERAL QUARANTINE NOW ON INFECTED GRAIN

No Federal quarantine is to be placed against Indiana and Illinois as a result of flag smut and take-all diseases in these States, provided the States themselves take adequate measures to prevent shipment of infected grain. This decision was reached by the Federal Horticultural Board of the Department of Agriculture July 15 at the conclusion of a hearing lasting all day.

Indiana has already taken what the board regards as adequate protective measures. Illinois, though it has done nothing up to this time, agrees immediately to take action paralleling that of Indiana, and the withholding of quarantine is based on the distinct understanding that such effective control will be exercised under State authority as to prevent any possibility of interstate movements of infected products.

The regulations with which the States must comply are:

All infected fields in each area will be thrashed by the same machine on ground where grown, machine not to be used again for threshing wheat this season.

All threshing machines and wagons used in thrashing diseased fields shall be thoroughly disinfected with formaldehyde.

All grain from diseased fields to be disinfected with formaldehyde as it comes through the thrasher.

All straw and stubble from infected fields to be burned.

No wheat, barley, rye, or oats to be grown on the infected fields, except by approval of the Federal Horticultural Board, for five years.

"Attractive visitor you had just now."

"Yes," said the impressionable business man. "She's a book agent and the best looking person who has been about these premises in many a day."

"What's she selling."
"A life of Cleopatra. I thought I might lead up to suggesting a little dinner for two by saying I liked the modern 'vamps' much better, but she merely fixed me with a cold stare, took my order for a copy of 'Cleopatra' and swept out."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Shoe Salesman—Will you please, sir, ask someone else to wait on Mrs. De Style in my place?

Floor Manager—I suppose so, but why?

Shoe Salesman—I attended an afternoon tea fight at her house one time and spilled a cup of hot Oolong down her back.—Philadelphia Ledger.

The Deloit township community club gave another of its series of dances at the community club hall at Deloit last Saturday night. The dance was well attended and a good time is reported.

MORE LOCAL MATTERS.

Mrs. John Carney went to Chambers the first of the week for a short visit with friends.

James Hanagan, former resident of Holt county and one of the oldest messengers of the Wells Fargo Express company still in active service, arrived the first of the week from St. Louis for a visit with Holt county relatives.

The special session of the legislature called to ratify the suffrage amendment to the national constitution has decided that the joint resolution of ratification is to be read on three separate days in each house. Consequently the session will continue the entire week.

Mr. and Mrs. Pat Welch visited Chambers friends the first of the week. The Chambers baseball team defeated the Inman team, at Chambers Sunday, in an exceedingly closely contested game, winning by a score of 3 to 1. The two teams will meet again at Inman, Sunday, August 10.

Some genius has invented a gasoline plow that will move around in a circle and control itself, while the farmer naps in the shade. If some other genius will devise a government bond that will clip off its own coupons and cash them, the farmer's life will be relieved of another great hardship.—Wheeling Intelligencer.

Governor Lowden, of Illinois, who was to have visited Nebraska and addressed the special session of the legislature now meeting at Lincoln, was prevented from so doing by the riots now raging in Chicago and in which twenty-seven people already have lost their lives. A general strike of employees of surface and elevated railway companies in the city also is demanding his attention.

Last night's rain was not general in the county, but little rain falling at Page and none at Ewing, according to the weather reports. A fall of several inches is reported several miles north of O'Neill, however, and all of the localities missed last night have had rains within the last five or six days. The rain of last night and today assures a bumper crop of late corn, according to the farmers, and the potato crop, which had begun to need moisture, also will be a good one.

"Doctor, I don't quite understand this bill you sent me."

"Well?"

"You have one item here, 'professional services $5.' That's clear enough. But what's this other charge, 'reading matter, 35 cents?' Is that a war tax?"

"No. That's to repay me for the magazine you carried off when you left my office."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

I HAVE 300 SACKS OF OLD Wheat Flour, ground fresh, top grade. You should buy some now as the new wheat won't make good flour.—Con Keys.

"Does Mrs. Dubwaite, in the course of a little disagreement, ever remind you of the men she might have married?"

"No," answered Mr. Dubwaite. "In an argument like that I would have a decided advantage."

"Why so?"
"One of Mrs. Dubwaite's former suitors is now doing time in the penitentiary for embezzlement and two others are prominent bolsheviks."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

"Has our client a good case?"
"Good for several thousand dollars."—Boston Transcript.
