Superintendent Marrin and the following teachers make up the faculty for this year: High School: Pricipal, Mrs. Marrin, Miss Beck, Miss Dendinger, Mjss Waybright; Primary—Miss Agnes Wilkinson; Second Grade—Miss Bridget Carr; Third Grade—Miss Mary Fitzsimmons; Fourth Grade—Miss Genevieve Biglin; Fifth Grade—Miss Harriett Robinson; Sixth Grade—Miss Bea Murphy; Seventh Grade—Miss Agnes Kelley; Eight Grade—Miss Mary Horriskey.

In honor of the soldiers, sailors and marines of the World War, the Civil War and the Spanish American War, Atkinson celebrated on Friday and Saturday of last week in the form of a Home-Coming and Victory celebration. All manner of amusements were provided from footraces to aeroplane flights. Good baseball games featured the afternoon of each day and a big bowery dance eliminated old dull care in the evening. Large numbers of people from all over the county were in attendance, an especially large number from O'Neill going up every day. In addition to the amusements, which were free to soldiers, the ladies of Atkinson operated a canteen serving free coffee, sandwiches and doughnuts to the soldiers and providing lodging for those that did not live in their city and wished to remain over night. All the soldiers there were lavish in their praise of the hospitality of the Atkinson people, particularly the ladies, who seemed ever anxious lest some one who had been in the service would not have a good time, or might pay for something that they thought he should have for nothing while a guest of their city.

Hood On Universal Peace.

In the good old days they were strong for universal peace, and Great Britian was a leader in the movement, just as now. It would seem that they went about securing universal peace in those days just as they do now, which led Thomas Hood, a poet of that time, to write the following, along about 1827:

Epigram.

On the Chinese Treaty

Our wars are ended—foreign battles cease—
Great Britain Ownsan universal peace:
And Queen Victoria triumphs over all.
Still "Mistress of herself though China fall."

Smoker's Little Joke.

"Young Waggles," remarked Flipson, as he made himself comfortable in a deep club armchair, "has had the laugh turned on himself in his little joke against the Flames Fire Insurance Company."

"What do you mean?" asked Flopson.

"Well, continued his friend, "the insured 500 cigars, smoked them, and then sent in a claim on the ground that they had been destroyed by fire."

"And, of course, he got laughed at?"

"Not a bit of it. The company has had him arrested on a charge of arson."—Pearson's Weekly.

Prompt Payment On Policy.

O'Neill, Nebraska, August 16, 1919.

Bankers Life Insurance Co.,
Lincoln, Nebraska.

Gentlemen:—I have just received from your agent, R. J. Marsh, $1,016.10 settlement in full as beneficiary under policy held by my brother, and I wish to say to you that I am more than pleased with your promptness and your system of doing business. Your agent, Mr. Marsh, took the matter up with you at once when I returned from France and in less than 48 hours handed me your check.

It is impossible for me to adequately thank you in a letter, but will say that in all my experience with insurance companies and agents, I have never received treatment to compare with the Bankers Life, and your agent, Mr. Marsh.

Yours, with best wishes for success,

GEORGE CLINTON, O'Neill, Nebr.

R. J. MARSH, Agent, O'Neill.

The Most Welcome Tire That Ever Came to Market

Men Who Appreciate Superlative Values Prefer The Brunswick

In every great tire factory, the chief question is: "How much can we give for the money?" And the product depends on the policy adopted.

Every man who has become acquainted with Brunswick Tires knows that Brunswick standards are again evident. This famous concern—noted as a leader in every line it entered since 1845—has once more proved that its policy is right.

A perfect tire is simply a matter of knowledge and standards and skill. No secrets nor patents prevent making an ideal tire.

But standards come first. For in tire making there is vast room for skimping, for subtle economies, for hidden shortcomings. Makers without the highest standards don't build high-grade tires.

The Brunswick organization of tire makers includes a brilliant staff of technical experts. Not a man among them has spent less than 20 years in handling rubber.

Each is a master of his craft. And the new ideas they bring to the attention of Brunswick directors receive sincere consideration.

Every proved betterment is adopted unanimously.

The Brunswick Tire is a combination of acknowledged features—plus Brunswick standards of manufacture.

The result is a super-tire, the like of which you have never known before. The kind of a tire you will gladly join in welcoming.

Yet Brunswicks cost no more than like-type tires.

Try ONE Brunswick. We promise a surprise. And we feel certain that you will want ALL Brunswicks.

Then good tires will have a new meaning to you.
