Louis Metz, one of the owners of the Metz Brewery of Omaha, and of which he was general manager before the state went dry, committed suicide by hanging himself, in a barn on the Metz ranch near Cody, Neb., Wednesday of last week. The death certificate prepared by a Cherry county doctor or undertaker, and on which the body was shipped to Omaha for burial, gave the cause of death as hanging, strangulation and influenza, any one of which ailments frequently proves fatal.

The Hanford Produce company wants the city to pay more for street lights or else to be permitted to pump the city water. It has requested the council to advance the rate to 12 1/2 cents, an increase of nearly 100 per cent, claiming that it now is operating at a loss. A council committee has been appointed to confer with the company. The company also proposes to shut off all current between 5 o'clock and 7 o'clock each morning for a month or so, alleging that there is hardly any current used during this period and that the two hour shut-down would save them about $95 a month.

The "Wonder Man" a million dollar spectacle and considered one of the best of this year's pictures, featuring Georges Carpentier, the French War Idol, will be shown at the Royal Theatre on next Sunday and Monday evenings under the auspices of the local post of the American Legion. Mr. Carpentier, who is starred in this picture, was one of the aces of the French Flying Corps during the war and was twice wounded. He is in addition the boxing champion of France and is at present talked of as the successor to Dempsey with whom his managers are trying to arrange a match. This picture comes highly recommended by picture people as being in a class with "the Birth of a Nation," "Intolerance" and other famous pictures.

Local members of the naval reserve Wednesday received orders to report to the navy department for their annual two months service with the colors. They will be forwarded transportation from O'Neill to the port of embarkation and then will be taken on a cruise to Porto Rico, the West Indies, through the Panama canal and up the west coast to San Francisco. The naval pay has been practically doubled since the boys were discharged from active service and the reserves will receive the extra allowance. Members of the naval reserve are enlisted to serve for four years, and are required to report each year for two months active service after their discharge from the regular service. All of the local contingent of about twenty were prompt in replying to the summons and are anticipating with extreme pleasure their cruise through tropical seas.

DISABLED SERVICE MEN IN TRAINING FOR NEW JOBS

Washington, D. C., July 10, 1920.—In a statement issued by the United States Civil Service Commission it is said that the rehabilitation branch of the Federal Board for Vocational Education has nearly 50,000 men in training to overcome the handicaps resulting from war injuries and thereby to become again self-supporting.

A large proportion of these men are in training in commercial, trade, and agricultural schools. It is stated that training assistants qualified in these branches of education are urgently needed by the vocational board in order that the work may be properly supervised, followed up, and connected with satisfactory employment outlets. It is said that a large number of positions can be offered to properly qualified persons at initial salaries not in excess of $2,400 a year.

Applicants must have an education equivalent to graduation from a standard high school, and in addition not less than two years' training in college or normal school. An additional requirement is at least one year's experience in teaching in a high, agricultural, or industrial school; or in trade, industry, or agriculture; or as commissioned officer in the Army, Navy, or Marine Corps.

The Civil Service Commission states that it will receive applications for these positions until further notice.

PERTINENT PARAGRAPHS.

The man in the White House controlled the delegates but not the voters.

The San Francisco Democratic convention was a perfect example of "absent treatment."

President Wilson is like the Irishman who said he would have peace if he had to fight for it.

President Wilson and the Wilson National Convention dug the grave of the Jefferson Democracy.

Singular, but the band in the Democratic National Convention played "Dixie" most of the time.

It is a rubber stamp platform, all right. President Wilson is strong enough to use his old emblem of autocracy.

The whole country is amazed over the high-handed methods of President Wilson in the San Francisco convention.

It appears that the greatest risk the soldiers now run is the War Risk Bureau. Scandals in this department come thick and fast.

The Democratic Convention at San Francisco might be summed up in the words familiar to so many Democrats: "Wilson, that's all."

It appears that "hit 'em again" was the key-note of the Democratic National Convention. So this is the high-tide of Wilson Democracy.

"My policy; my programme; my will," was the key-note of the San Francisco convention. Where, oh where, is the Jeffersonian democracy?

On the second day of the convention, Mr. Bryan was sufficiently aroused to call it "an administration-controlled convention." It was all that.

Postmaster General Bureson is charged with "nullification" of portions of the retirement law. "Nullification" seems to be a favorite word of the Democrats.

Petaluma (Cal.) Argus: Fine! The nomination of Warren G. Harding and Calvin Coolidge for president and vice-president suits us.

San Diego (Cal.) Union: The nomination of Senator Warren G. Harding of Ohio to be the Republican candidate for the presidency will be received by the rank and file of the Republican party with the utmost satisfaction.

Marion (O.) Star: Since it has developed that fat places in the department of justice have been given to contributors to the attorney general's campaign fund it's easier to understand the failure to make a successful campaign against the profiteers.

San Jose (Cal.) Mercury-Herald: With the election of Warren G. Harding to the Presidency, government by theory and intuition will give place to government by experienced experts, based on proved principles of sound national management.

Reno (Nev.) Gazette: The nomination of Warren G. Harding for President and Calvin Coolidge for Vice-President by the Republican national convention gives Republicans a ticket that not only they but all other Americans can and will support with all the strength that comes from thorough approval.

Santa Barbara (Cal.) Press: Most political conventions have done the unexpected. When unbosomed they always do. And the charge may never truthfully be made that the Republican convention which at Chicago nominated Warren G. Harding of Ohio for president was bossed. Or that the nominee was hand-picked.

Everett (Wash.) Tribune: The selection of Warren G. Harding as presidential candidate with Calvin Coolidge of Massachusetts as running mate, provides a ticket that will find favor with every republican voter in the United States and many others who desire a change in the national administration at this critical period in the affairs of the nation.

Boise (Idaho) Statesman: When the Senate was investigating campaign expenditures, it met a stumbling block in the form of William Gibbs McAdoo, son-in-law of the president and aspirant to White House honors. The McAdoo presidential movement was described as "powerful," but still no light could be had on its location, backing, finances or management. Herein is mystery.

Martinez (Cal.) Gazette: The commendable result of the deliberations of the Republican national convention—the nominating of Warren G. Harding, United States Senator of Ohio, for president, and Calvin Coolidge, governor of Massachusetts, for vice-president, will become more and more evident as the people of the nation become better acquainted with the high character and sterling worth of the two men.

San Francisco (Cal.) Chronicle: Mr. Hoover announces that he shall ardently support the Republican nominee because he believes him to be a thoroughly fit man for President, and hopes that all his friends will do the same. Mr. Hoover favors Senator Harding because he believes him to be a strong man who will harmonize the party on healthful and progressive national lines without dictation, but by consultation.

Cincinnati (O.) Commercial Tribune: Exposure by the balance sheet is to the effect that it cost the United States Government, which is financed by the people, a cool billion to operate the railroads of the country taken over from the owners as a war-time emergency act. Now exposition is by evidence of experts that it is going to cost the people of the United States, who financed the government, just twice that sum as an initial expense of getting these same railroads returned to the owners in smooth running order.

ator Warren G. Harding, of Ohio, has been nominated by the Republican convention at Chicago as the Republican party candidate for the presidency of the United States, and Governor Calvin Coolidge of Massachusetts, was selected by the same convention to be his running mate, the candidate for the vicepresidency. The selection of these two men will unquestionably meet with the approval of all loyal and thinking Republicans in the United States and there is slight doubt that they will be elected.

LIKES 'EM.

Cincinnati Enquirer: "Doesn't your husband like you to get clinging gloves?" asked Mrs. Peach. "Yes," replied Mrs. Lemon. "He likes me to get the kind that will cling to me for three or four years."

PARCEL POST.
 Cincinnati Enquirer: "Any mail for me today?" asked Si Meddergrass, as he came into the Hicksville postoffice. "Betcha!" replied the postmaster. "There's a cream separator, a buggy top, a tractor radiator and a wagon tongue."

NOT HER FAULT.

Pearson's Weekly: Husband—Come along! Keeping me here standing like a fool!
 Wife—Do be reasonable, dear. Can I really help the way you stand?

EXPENSIVE. AT THAT.

London Punch: After considering the budget very carefully some people are veering round to the theory that we didn't win the war, but just bought it.

My Best Paying Investment

Look at my car now! Only a few days ago it was about the shabbiest car in the country. The finish was dull, mud spattered and weather beaten. The body and fenders were scratched and rust was beginning to eat away the unprotected metal. A few hours work with has transformed the shabbiness into newness. The body, fenders, wheels and chassis are protected from moisture and rust. The car looks almost like new and the money spent for the few small cans of paint has been returned tenfold to me, in the increase in value and in satisfaction of driving a car that is spic and span as new. There is a dealer in Lincoln Paints and Finishes right here in our town who will gladly show you how your old, shabby car can be made like new.
