Then Father Spurred.
 While mamma was out one evening, father undertook to cut little Freddie's hair. Barbers are so expensive in these days.

Though he was making quite a good job of it, he was rather slow, and Freddie, who is only six and a bit, found the operation wearisome.

"Are you nearly done, daddy?" he asked at length.

"Very nearly, sonny," replied his father. "I've only got the front to do now."

"I'm afraid," sighed the small boy sadly, "that the back will grow again while you're finishing the front."

TROOPS SURROUND DUBLIN; BOMBING, LOOTING IN CORK

Outrages in Many Parts of Southern Ireland—Raiders Attack Barracks—Rifle Fire is Frequent.

London, Oct. 4.—Unusual military activity was observed in and near Dublin Sunday. Early in the morning troops were sent out to take possession of all bridges on main roads leading to the city, and every vehicle approaching Dublin was held up and its occupants required to give an account of themselves.

Outrages during the day were carried out in many parts of southern Ireland. A party of soldiers, attacked by snipers, escaped with but one casualty, a wounded private. Raiders attacked the French park barracks Saturday, but were driven off under heavy fire.

During the night there was considerable bombing in Cork, and several stores were looted. Rifle fire was frequent in different parts of the city.

The press continues to discuss Viscount Grey's scheme for the pacification of Ireland, but holds strictly to party lines.

The Observer declares that it cannot imagine "a more fatal expedient than the adoption of this policy," and says that "Ulster would be compelled to arm herself in defense long before the two-year limit is reached."

It was announced Sunday that Councillor Donald, of Cork, had been invited to testify before the committee of 100 instituted by the nation, concerning atrocities in Ireland.

RAIL SENIORITY RULE IS BLOCKED

Kentucky Judge Reverses Railway Adjustment Board in Granting Injunction Against Ruling.

Louisville, Ky., Oct. 4.—Overruling the railway adjustment board created by the Esch-Cummings act, Judge Ernest Clark, Kentucky, court of appeals, late yesterday granted an injunction to W. W. Gregg, Louisville & Nashville passenger conductor, to prevent his being supplanted on his run by William Pennybacker, freight conductor.

The case was appealed by Gregg from the circuit court at Louisville, when he was refused a restraining order.

The suit grew out of the fact that Pennybacker asked for Gregg's job under the seniority rule contract of the railroad and the conductors' brotherhood and was upheld by railway adjustment board No. 1, Washington. Pennybacker is a brotherhood member but as Gregg is not he sought the injunction on the ground that seniority contract did not apply to him.

In making his decision, Judge Clark held that the adjustment board had authority only to pass upon disputes submitted before federal administration ended and therefore had no jurisdiction in this case which was filed after that time. As the seniority rule, the court held that it could not be invoked by a freight conductor to displace a passenger conductor.

It is said this is the first case of its kind ever contested in civil courts.

DOLLAR'S VALUE INCREASING WITH DEFLATION SET IN

Very Noticeable Among the Wholesalers, While Retailers Will Feel It Likewise When Current Stocks are Sold.

BY WALTER B. BROWN.
 Editor of the New York Commercial.

Written for the United News.
 New York, Oct. 4.—The topic uppermost in the minds of everyone at this time is the deflation movement now underway and which seems to be steadily gathering impetus. Contrary to expectations deflation is taking place much more rapidly than inflation occurred. To be sure there has been quite a period of preparation in the months since the federal reserve board instituted its policy of credit contraction by increasing the discount rates. While there had been reductions here and there, some rather spectacular, as in the case of sugar and in the stock market, the movement did not really get under way until Henry Ford made his sensational cut in motor cars. It is quite true that the 20 per cent. cut in merchandise made by John Wannamaker in the spring was equally sensational, but it was simply a beginning that was more spectacular than anything else, for even his reduced prices still showed him a good profit.

Deflation Well Under Way.

Deflation now, however, may be said to be well under way, and the value of the dollar is increasing very noticeably in the wholesale business at least, although the retail markets have felt it only to a limited degree. This will come later, when current goods are disposed of, or when competition has forced liquidation. The deflation process must of necessity cause a disturbance where it strikes individually, but no important movement ever got under way without causing hardship somewhere. The general opinion seems to be that when readjustment has been accomplished it will be highly beneficial to all concerned, and the markets generally will be upon a more stable basis.

Just at present the price cutting movement is being used as a bearish argument in the stock market, although ultimately it will become a bullish movement, in fact, to some extent it is already being so used. This is particularly so in the case of the traction stocks and other utilities whose incomes have remained fixed throughout the war period through the refusal of the municipalities, usually for political reasons, to allow charges to the public to be changed, so that operating cost has overtaken income or nearly so. If the cost of materials is reduced and living costs also go down it will ultimately result in a reduction of wages, so that the relationship between operating costs and income will approach the normal. Hence there has been considerable buying of these stocks, the prevailing prices of which have reflected the difficult situation in which utility corporations have found themselves.

Argument in Stock Market.

In still another direction the deflation movement will act as a constructive argument in the stock market. It will mean the release of funds that had been tied up in credits which must seek other employment either through speculative operations in the market or increasing the investment account. In this latter particular there is already great activity and the bond market has shown greater movement than at any time since the armistice was declared. So far as bonds are concerned there can never be such another opportunity for profitable investment as there is now, unless there should be another war, but deflation of capital cost will go on just as the cost of everything else comes down, for money is a commodity just as much as wheat or cotton.

There has been considerable discussion as to whether the deflation movement should be undertaken on a gradual scale or whether it should be forced through all at once. The probability is that it will determine this for itself, and as matters now appear, it is likely to take place quickly rather than slowly. As to effects while the process is under way it depends a great deal upon the attitude of the public mind.

Taken as a whole the situation as it is becoming more fully understood is creating optimism in place of the pessimism that ruled but a short time ago.

GERMAN IS OPPOSED TO ENTRANCE INTO LEAGUE

Berlin, Oct. 4.—Germany has no occasion to try to force her way into the present League of Nations so long as warfare is still being carried in proximity to her boundaries. Legation Counselor Von Prittwitz, representing the foreign office, told the delegates to the German peace league conference in session at Brunswick.

Herr Von Prittwitz added that when the time arrived for Germany's entry into the league she would demand a reform in the league's organization which he asserted now leaves much to be desired. "In connection with the Eupen and Malmedy decision," Herr Von Prittwitz declared, "Germany's experiences with the league as now organized were dismal."

MILK AND MEAT AS RIVALS

Rising Prices May Yet Force People to Turn to the Fluid to Sustain Life.

As the price of meat soars upward, many people are forced to be part-time vegetarians. Thus the old question, "Is meat essential to human well-being?" arises again. The committee on food and nutrition of the National Research council has issued an interesting report on the relative value of meat and milk.

Eighteen per cent of the protein and energy of grain used in feeding a cow goes into the milk, and is therefore recovered for human consumption; whereas only 3 1/2 per cent is recovered in beef. As for the mineral elements in hay and grain, not much is stored in the tissues, but a great amount goes into milk.

Beef profiteers, beware! The hard-pressed public may decide to let milk take the place of beefsteak.—Popular Science Monthly.
