SIoux CITY BOOSTERS VISIT O'NEILL.

The Sioux City Boosters, sixty strong and accompanied by the famous Reed Military band, were the guests of the business men of O'Neill for an hour Tuesday afternoon. The boosters arrived from the west by special train and were met at the Northwestern station by citizens in automobiles. Preceded by Reed's band, the boosters marched up the main street to the intersection of Fourth and Douglas streets, where they were tendered the keys and hospitality of the city by Mayor C. M. Daly, after which Judge J. J. Harrington delivered the address of welcome. The Judge in his remarks referred to the rich territory of north and central Nebraska tributary to Sioux City and the great enhancement of value to result with the extension of the Burlington railroad from O'Neill southwest to the Burlington main line at or near Theford. He urged the Sioux City men to use all legitimate means in assisting to bring about the extension. Chairman T. A. Black of the boosters' excursion replied to the addresses of Mayor Daly and Judge Harrington, explaining that the purpose of the business was entirely one of goodfellowship and to give the Sioux City men and their customers in this territory opportunity of a personal acquaintance. A band concert by the military band followed, while the members of the excursion were visiting their customers and other business firms in their several lines, and a riot nearly resulted when "Big Bill" Mack, the Chamber of Commerce "Candy Man" began throwing candy to the hundreds of kids gathered around the band. Both schools recessed during the presence of the boosters in town and as a result O'Neill's youthful population was 100 per cent present at the candy shower. Every kid in the mad scramble either got his ear stepped on or got some candy and many both. On the exhausting of the candy supply members of the party showered the kids with pennies and "a good time was had by all."

The boosters' special left Sioux City Sunday, coming out over the Omaha road to Norfolk and then running to Crawford Sunday night from which place it started on its return trip east, stopping at practically all of the towns along the line for short visits. From O'Neill it returned to Norfolk and Wednesday morning started up the Bonesteel line, on which a couple of days will be spent. The return to Sioux City will be Friday or Saturday. He was of a cheerful disposition, always looking on the bright side of life and his death will be sincerely deplored by a large number of friends and acquaintances in this section of the county.

ATTEMPTED SAFE

ROBBERIES AT EWING

Thieves, supposed to be local talent, attempted to crack the safe at the P. K. Nellesmann store at Ewing Tuesday night, and also went through the safe at the Crowell Lumber and Grain company office, the same evening, but in neither instance secured any money. Entrance to both places was through windows. At the Nellesmann store the combination was knocked off the big safe, but it was not opened.
