We have no quarrel with any firm that uses every available opportunity to bring its service before its customers. We do it ourselves. But it is a pleasure for us to occasionally reverse the order of things and let our customers know that we appreciate their steady patronage and that we value it highly. And as we value it we shall certainly use every effort to give the service that will keep it.

Why Professors Go "Bugs."
Science and Invention Magazine: A student in zoology pinned together a grasshopper's head, a cricket's body and a butterfly's tail. To fool his professor, he asked: 'What kind of a bug is this?'
Prof.—'Did it make a humming sound when you picked it up?'
Student—'Yes.'
Prof.—'Then it must be a humbug!'
Some Part.
Yonkers Statesman: Teacher—Did your father take any part in the late great war, Bobbie?'
Bobbie—I just guess he did.

"What did he do?"
"He played the bass drum in the town band when the boys marched away, ma'am."
Being Concise.
Detroit Free Press: The teacher of the class in English demanded that the pupils all write for their daily exercise a brief account of a baseball game.
One boy sat through the period seemingly wrapped in thought, while the others worked hard, and turned in their narratives. After school the teacher approached the desk of the laggard.
"I'll give you five minutes to write that description," he sternly said; "if it is not done by that time I shall punish you."
The boy promptly concentrated all his attention upon the theme as the teacher slowly counted the moments. At last, with joyful eagerness he scratched a line on his tablet, and handed it to his master. It read: "Rain—no game."
