O'NEILL NATIONAL ROLL OF HONOR BANK

The O'Neill National Bank stands sixth among the roll of honor banks of the entire state, according to advises just received, and its officers are receiving congratulations over the excellent showing, as a result. A "Roll of Honor Bank" is one possessing surplus and undivided profits in excess of capital, thus giving tangible evidence of strength and security. Of the 25,000 banks in the United States, only one in ten occupy this proud position. The Roll of Honor Banks of the United States is a list prepared by "The New York Financier" from statements made to the comptroller of the currency.

VALE-MINTEER.
 Chambers Sun: At High Noon Christmas day there was a pretty wedding ceremony performed at the home of S. W. Minter of McClure township, when their daughter Miss Sophia Winifred was united in marriage to Mr. Joe Vale of Norborne, Mo., Rev. C. E. Morrison of this city officiating. The bride is a graduate of the Bethany College, Kansas, and has been a very successful school teacher. The groom is a successful farmer, at Norborne, Mo., where they will make their future home. Owing to the severe storm there were quite a number of out of town guests unable to be present. Mr. and Mrs. Williams of Kansas were present, Mrs. Williams is a sister of the bride.

MORE LOCAL MATTERS.

The retiring county board was in session until Thursday of this week closing up their business preparatory to turning over the business of the county to the new board of supervisors, which meets next week. All re-elected county and township officials and re-elected officials enter upon their terms Thursday of this week.

Dr. John M. Caldwell former resident of Holt county, has been extended and has accepted a unanimous call to the pastorate of the First Presbyterian church of Valentine, Nebraska. Dr. Caldwell, who is 81 years of age, visited O'Neill friends Wednesday while enroute from Norfolk to Valentine. Many years ago Dr. Caldwell was one of the leading Presbyterian ministers of Chicago, leaving the ministry on account of failing health and removing to Holt county about twenty years ago to engage in ranching north of the city. Afterwards he removed to Valentine, where he re-entered the ministry as pastor of the church to which he now is returning. Of recent years he has been on the Pacific coast, Mrs. Caldwell dying in California while they were residing there a year and a half ago. The Reverend Caldwell carries his years most youthfully and is physically and mentally most alert.

VALUABLE PREHISTORIC RELIC UNEARTHED AT CITY PUMP HOUSE

A relic undoubtedly of prehistoric times was unearthed at the city pump house the day before New Year's day, by workmen excavating for the foundations for the new engine now being installed by the city. The relic was, not, is, a gallon jug of old-fashioned drinking whiskey and its flavor and smoothness, so say the experts, indicated that it was of extreme age. Surface indications and the formations of several distinct stratas of soil above the container bear out the judgment of the experts. The ancient jug had been sealed as liquors were sealed years ago, with a solid cork, around and over which sealing wax had been poured to prevent evaporation of the contents of the jug. It is evident that the jug and its contents were planted by some early freighter compelled to lighten his load, or else was concealed by some bandit participating in one of the saloon robberies of the days when O'Neill was a pioneer town and such robberies are said to have occurred. It is generally conceded that the individual who buried the jug is dead or in the asylum. A guard has been placed around the pump house to prevent additional excavations by the curious.

BROWN COUNTY ATTORNEY FLAYED BY DISTRICT JUDGE

County Attorney Cotton of Brown county, at a session of the Brown county district court at Ainsworth Tuesday, received from Presiding Judge R. R. Dickson one of the most scathing rebukes and verbal castigations ever administered to an attorney in open court by a judge in Nebraska, according to those present who heard the attorney called to account. The flaying came in the trial of a divorce suit in which Cotton appeared as attorney for the wife and plaintiff. In the course of the trial Attorney Cotton introduced as a witness against the husband his stepdaughter, child of the wife by a former husband. The stepdaughter, a young woman of low mentality, aged apparently about 20 years, bore in her arms a young infant which she testified was the offspring of herself and her stepfather. Attorney Cotton sought through her testimony to establish one of the grounds for divorce. Judge Dickson himself questioned the girl and at once stopped the divorce hearing. He then inquired of Attorney Cotton why he, as county attorney, knowing of the relations between the stepfather and stepdaughter had not instituted proceedings against the former and instructed that such proceedings at once be instituted. Then ensued the arraignment of the county attorney, most scathing, cutting and vehement.
