Evidently Mr. Pea Was Not Deeply Versed in the Gentle Art of Diplomacy.

Secretary Conrad Jenny of the Swiss embassy at a dinner was talking about diplomacy.

"A good many diplomats," he said, "are about as diplomatic as old Mr. Pea."

"Mr. Pea was a village character who stuttered. There was a political meeting in the village one evening, and among the speakers was a certain Cue.

"Well, at the end of the meeting there was a kind of a reception, and Cue, the most important orator of the occasion, was introduced to the stuttering old villager.

"Mr. Pea shook the orator's hand and stuttered:

"Glad to meet you. I-let's see, you were one of the s-speakers, weren't you?"

"Yes, I was," said Cue.

"W-well, say," said old Pea, "w-wasn't them other f-fellers good?"

Against All Rules.

As every golfer is aware, it is against the rules to remove anything growing on the course.

The other day a player asked: "What should I do on the putting green if a worm lay between my ball and the hole? Am I entitled to lift it or brush it aside?"

"Well," replied his companion, "I think you should brush it aside."

"Yes," he replied, "you may be right, but this was a young and growing worm, you know!"—Houston Post.

GERMANY SAYS SHE CAN'T PAY

Berlin, Nov. 15 (Tuesday, 1 a. m.)—Germany has sent word to the allies that she cannot pay the next reparations installment of 500,000,000 gold marks due on January 15.

It was learned late Monday night on the highest authority that Germany has definitely told the allies that she is at the "end of her rope."

It is stated the notification has not yet been conveyed by official diplomatic note to the allied countries, but that the bad news has been broken through important private channels.

It is declared that hereafter all protests about non-payment of reparations are to be met with an official "shrug of the shoulders," meaning "try to get it."

MADALYNNE TO RE-MARRY OBENCHAIN

Los Angeles, Nov. 15.—While Attorney Erbstein is reported to be in Sacramento trying to get a hearing before the state supreme court, Ralph Obenchain obtained a marriage license late Monday to remarry his divorced wife, Mrs. Madalynne Obenchain, now awaiting trial as one of the alleged slayers of J. Belton Kennedy, a former sweetheart.

According to reports, the Obenchains were to be married very quietly in the jail Monday night, but it was denied at 8 o'clock that any ceremony had taken place.

When Obenchain went to the county jail after obtaining the license he found Mrs. Obenchain and Burch together in a dimly lighted corner. Burch appeared to be making some sort of appeal. He was returned to his cell by deputies.

Questioned as to what had occurred Obenchain remarked:

"It was a very personal matter. Naturally I cannot reveal what it was."

Mrs. Obenchain echoed her former husband's words and would say no more.

RAIL STRIKE ISSUE TO BE RENEWED?

Reopening of Entire Situation, Which Led to Threat, Is Discussed by Locomotive Chairmen.

Chicago, Nov. 15.—Reopening of the entire situation which led to the October railroad strike threat was discussed by general chairmen of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen, meeting here Monday.

The 300 general chairmen at a secret meeting in the Masonic temple considered a resolution to be presented to the railroad labor board which would open up the issues again.

Speakers said they understood the board was about to hand down a decision taking away from the brotherhoods privileges they have had for many years under the rules and agreements covering working conditions.

Several of the speakers demanded that immediate action be taken to force the board to hold up this decision. Others declared that the board was prepared to hand down its ruling now and action at this late date on that question would be ineffective. They demanded, however, that action be taken to prevent the board from reducing wages further. Notice of the reduction will be posted by eastern roads within a week.

PESEK LOSES MATCH AGAINST PLESTINA

New York, Nov. 15.—A small but at times wildly excited and angry crowd witnessed the wrestling match Monday night at Madison Square Garden in which the decision was finally given to Martin Plestina over John Pesek.

The match will go down in the annals of the sport as one of the roughest butting matches ever witnessed. As the result of this butting on the part of Pesek, he has been ruled out of the state by the commission after being disqualified three times in the course of the match.

Pesek had given out an interview in the afternoon that he was physically unable to go on because of the condition of his arm but the commission insisted upon his appearing. At the weighing in Plestina scaled 230½ pounds while his rival tipped the beam at 184.

FOUNDER OF AMERICAN PUBLIC HEALTH SOCIETY IS NINETY-NINE YEARS YOUNG

Dr. STEPHEN SMITH

New York, Nov. 14.—The American Public Health society celebrating its 50th anniversary in New York, was founded half a century ago by Dr. Stephen Smith, who was born on a farm in New York state February 19, 1823. Today at the age of 99, Dr. Smith declares that a man is only a youngster until he is past 60.

Dr. Smith once suffered poor health until he discovered that he was eating too much. Since that time he has limited himself to a diet that consisted chiefly of vegetables, fruits, nuts and milk. He reads and writes without eyeglasses and attributes his good eyesight to the fact that he does not chew, smoke or drink intoxicating liquors. His home is at Montour Falls, N. Y.

BRITISH WILL URGE EXTRA CRUISER FOR JOHN BULL'S FLEET

Washington, Nov. 15.—Great Britain, at the arms conference sessions Tuesday will ask special attention in regard to cruiser tonnage, it was learned Monday night.

The Hughes proposals allot 450,000 tons each to the United States and Great Britain and 270,000 tons to Japan for cruisers, flotilla leaders and destroyers. Basing her claim on the alleged necessity of protecting its far flung lines of sea communication the British imperial delegation will urge an extra cruiser apportionment for its fleet.

This proposal will counterbalance the British plan for a further scaling down of submarine tonnage.

COCHRANE DEFEATS CONTI, FRENCH CHAMP

American Title Holder Wins, 400 to 234 in World Tournament.

Chicago, Nov. 15.—The world's 18.2 ball line billiard tournament for the world's championship opened here Monday night. In the first event Welker Cochrane, champion, representing America, defeated Roger Conti, the French champion. The score was 400 to 234.

Both players are exponents of the newest type of the game. More than 700 fans saw the match, which was played in the Elizabethan room of the Congress hotel.

Conti comes from Paris and is not quite 21 years old.

Tuesday afternoon Edouard Horemans, champion of Europe, will play Ora Morningstar, of San Diego.

It is the opinion of H. G. Wells that Russia and Germany should have voices in the arms parley. The United States has announced it will protect Russia's interests in the far east. But undoubtedly, any agreement reached will eventually have to be concurred in by these two nations. However, there is no reason to believe that either Germany or Russia would not approve sincere efforts to keep the peace. Both are sick of war and disorder.

Inspector J. W. Phillips of the Royal Canadian mounted police has just returned to Ottawa, Ontario, after an inspection trip lasting four months along the coast of James bay. It was made to investigate conditions among the Eskimos and Indians, as it was feared there was destitution. Things were reported much better than expected.

"I am very favorably impressed with the proposals of Secretary Hughes for a limitation of armament by the leading nations. The carrying out of such a program as this during the next 10 years will at once lift a tremendous tax burden from the shoulders of the people and form a long step forward in the encouragement of further reduction in armament. The United States of America will be doubly commended for having taken such a courageous, positive and forward step through its secretary of state."

Charges Husband, Son of Great Writer, Had 'Affair' With Another Woman.

New York, Nov. 15.—Rumors long current on the Rialto of a crisis in the domestic life of Alice Brady, actress and daughter of William A. Brady, theatrical producer, were confirmed Monday when a supreme court order revealed she has sued her actor husband, James L. Crane, for divorce.

Crane, who is the son of Dr. Frank Crane, editorial writer and publicist, is charged in his wife's petition with misconduct with a young woman last August in his father's apartment here. The co-respondent is named only as "a woman unknown to the plaintiff."

The couple were married by the bridegroom's father in May, 1919, while Miss Brady's father was in Europe.

They were "hot-footing" it away from here when the officers "asked them to ride."

Washington, Nov. 15.—President Harding on Monday afternoon signed a proclamation of peace between the United States and Germany. The president affixed his signature to the document at 3:55 o'clock.

Complete absence of ceremony attended the signing of the proclamation.

Had Just Dedicated Memorial.

Mr. Harding had just returned to the White House from the ceremonies at the dedication of the Victory memorial. He was informed that the proclamation was ready for his signature and without any ceremony whatever the president signed its name.

News of the important event was given to the world with the same lack of formality. Secretary Christian strolled into the room occupied by the unsuspecting newspaper correspondents.

The extent of his injuries were slight but all future engagements in "Blind Youth" in which he was touring, have been cancelled.

Tellegen played here Friday and Saturday.

PROVE THESE CHARGES AND I'LL RESIGN," SHOUTS DISTRICT ATTORNEY—'I'LL PROVE 'EM,' DECLARES ROSCOE'S LAWYER.

BY CHANDLER SPRAGUE, San Francisco, Nov. 15.—The case of the people of California vs. Roscoe Arbuckle has started in a blaze of fireworks.

Marked by bitter clashes between counsel, the first day's proceedings of the trial of the famous film star for the killing of Virginia Rappé, culminated late in the afternoon in a heated tilt during which District Attorney Matthew Brady offered to resign if certain charges made by Arbuckle's counsel could be proven.

McNab Says He'll Prove It.

Gavin McNab, chief counsel for the defendant, in questioning a prospective juror had intimated certain witnesses had been to the District attorney's office and forced to sign statements against Arbuckle under threat of arrest. Questioned by Judge Loderback as to whether he would be able to back up these statements, he said:

"I give you my word of honor that I intend to prove my statements before this court and that I will bring seven witnesses to substantiate what I have said."

"Prove 'em and I'll Resign."

Whereupon Mr. Brady rose and angrily replied:

"If you can prove that assertion I will hand in my resignation to the mayor of San Francisco."

If the first day's results are an augury, the selection of the jury will require at least four days. At adjournment Monday night but five jurors had been passed, four men and a woman, and those were passed only temporarily. Neither side has exercised any of its challenges.

Arbuckle Enters With Wife.

Arbuckle entered the court room at 10 o'clock with his wife, Minta Durfee, her mother, Mrs. Flora Durfee, and his brother, Alfred Arbuckle. The film star wore a serious mien and appeared to have wasted away under the strain of waiting for trial.

Mr. McNab, presenting the attorneys of record for the accused, named himself, Charles Brennan, Joseph McInery and Nat Schmulowitz, of San Francisco, and Milton Cohen, of Los Angeles. Mr. Brady presented himself, Milton U'Ren and Leo Friedman for the prosecution.

A galaxy of newspaper scribes watched the proceedings while the remaining seats were occupied by prospective jurors and by members of the women's vigilance committee, appointed by the club women of San Francisco to "see that justice is done."

Sketch of Leading Attorneys.

To properly complete for you the setting of the court room wherein is being staged this remarkable trial, a sketch of the leading attorneys is essential. The battle for Arbuckle's liberty and rehabilitation will be fought out by three men, Gavin McNab for the defense, and Matthew Brady and Milton U'Ren, district attorney and deputy district attorney of San Francisco.

McNab is the most dramatic figure of the three. Victor in many a bitter court battle and enshrouded with a reputation for shrewdness on the coast, he is worthy the steel of any district attorney.

The chief defense counsel fairly exudes respectability. Tall, imposing, using ponderous gestures, and clothed in black, Mr. McNab might be a vestryman in a fashionable church. His hands move slowly—but not his brain.

Brady Big and Forceful.

Brady is a big man, too, but with a different sort of bigness. Forcefulness is written on every line of his well covered frame and in moments of action his flushed face and white hair make him a conspicuous figure. U'Ren is a typical prosecutor. Quick witted, keen in repartee and unrelenting in giving home a point he is an adversary to be feared. Insistence in a quiet but determined manner, is his keynote.

The characteristics of these men were brought out Monday in no uncertain terms during the examination of their first witness. On their face the questions asked this man, J. C. Medley, were innocuous. But they had a considerable significance.

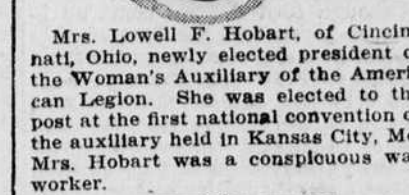

McNab's endeavor, throughout the entire questioning of Medley, was to get before his audience certain facts which he wanted instilled in their minds. Remember, if you please, that the room was crowded with prospective jurors.

U'Ren into the Tilt.

"If you were shown that the district attorney's office had sequestered certain witnesses and had concealed them in the house of a member of the district attorney's staff and refused to allow the defense to interview them except within the hearing of the district attorney, you would not be inclined to give those witnesses more credence than any other witnesses, would you?" asked McNab ingeniously.

"We object," said Mr. U'Ren. "We have a right to take care of our witnesses." And in the use of the word "our" his lip slipped.

Mrs. Lowell F. Hobart

Mrs. Lowell F. Hobart, of Cincinnati, Ohio, newly elected president of the Woman's Auxiliary of the American Legion. She was elected to the post at the first national convention of the auxiliary held in Kansas City, Mo. Mrs. Hobart was a conspicuous war worker.
