

THIN FRAIL PEOPLE SHOULD TAKE TANLAC

Hundreds of Men and Women All Over America Appear To Be Physical Wrecks Simply Because Their Systems Are Starving for Nourishment.

There are hundreds of thin, run-down, nervous men and women all over the United States who should be strong, sturdy and vigorous, with rich, red blood tingling through their veins and feeling brimful of life and energy, if they would only profit by the experience of others all over the United States and Canada, and assist nature to digest the food they eat, by simply taking Tanlac.

Millions of people have not only been relieved of the most obstinate forms of dyspepsia and indigestion by Tanlac after other remedies have failed, but large numbers of them have reported a remarkable and rapid increase in weight and a return to normal health and strength by its use.

In fact, so phenomenal have been the gains in weight by thin, frail people through the use of Tanlac that this remarkable preparation is now being proclaimed everywhere as the World's Greatest Tonic.

The food people eat does them absolutely no good unless they digest it properly. When you suffer from indigestion and other forms of stomach trouble, the food does you harm instead of good, because food which is not digested stays in the stomach and ferments, causing pains, swelling, gas in stomach, shortness of breath, bad taste in the mouth, dizziness and many other disagreeable symptoms. If this condition is permitted to run on for an indefinite period the entire system becomes saturated with poisons, the patient becomes thin and pale and in time various complications are apt to result.

Tanlac is a powerful reconstructive tonic and quickly overcomes this condition by aiding nature to eliminate the impurities from the system in a natural way and enable the vital organs to properly perform their functions. That is why it is called Nature's Medicine.

In fact, there is not a single portion of the body that is not benefited by the helpful action of Tanlac, which begins its work by stimulating the digestive and assimilative organs, thereby enriching the blood and invigorating the entire system. Next, it enables the weak, worn-out stomach to thoroughly digest its food and convert the nourishing elements into bone, blood and muscle. The result is you feel strong, sturdy and well with the proper amount of flesh, as Nature intended. Sold by all good druggists.

ARE YOU DISCOURAGED? BLUE? READ THIS

Galva, Iowa—"I have always been, to a certain degree, out of sorts in general, but after my last baby girl came, for three or four months I suffered from pains and discomfort due to feminine and intestinal troubles. Then I became gloomy, subject to fits of blues, and was completely discouraged. Finally, after becoming almost a skeleton from suffering, my sister urged me to try Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. I took six bottles of this, also one vial of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets and one small package of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery Tablets and now I am in perfect health."

DERANGED MIND CAUSES SUICIDE

Body of Overseas Veteran Found in Burning Straw Pile Near Elk Point—No Inquest.

Elk Point, S. D., Feb. 4 (Special).—Albert Shay, 30, oldest son of Mrs. Celia Repp living near Elk Point, was found dead in a burning straw pile by neighbors Thursday afternoon at 5 o'clock. It was decided by the coroner that an inquest was unnecessary as it was thought the victim's death was self-inflicted. He shot himself in the mouth, as the right side of his head and the top was blown off, and it is thought the firing of the gun set fire to the straw pile. He was a veteran of the world war and was in France for more than two years, serving several months on the front line. About a year ago he showed signs of insanity and was taken to Yankton where he remained for some time. He is survived by his mother, two brothers and four sisters.

ELK POINT CONCERN HAS HEAVY FIRE LOSS

Elk Point, S. D., Feb. 4 (Special).—The Spink store, owned by the Kloppstad brothers, burned Thursday at noon. Owing to the high wind the building and contents were consumed in less than an hour. In addition to the loss of the building and stock $300 in cash and some checks were destroyed. They had $6,000 insurance on the building, $7,500 on the stock, and $2,000 on fixtures, which was about $6,000 less than the amount invested. Mutual companies had $6,600 of the insurance, $1,200 of which was in the Union County Mutual. This was a comparatively new store building and stock, as four years ago they lost their old store building by fire.

SEX IN THE NEW FICTION.

THOSE who have read much of the current fiction, whether British or American, must have been struck with its preoccupation with sex. On the bookstands today there is scarcely a novel which does not play at least a few trills of the sex motif, and some of them play nothing else—W. L. George's silly "Ursula Trent," for instance. It is as if all our writers had gone in for Freudian treatment and were industriously bringing to the surface all of their sex repressions.

The projecting of sex into literature is nothing new. It has been growing since the decline of the Victorians, until now it appears to be well nigh universal. The veil of reticence which the Victorians agreed to wrap about such subjects began to be torn in the last quarter of the last century. Now it is snatched away entirely. George Moore's "Confessions of a Young Man" shocked the British reading public, but it nevertheless gave an urge to a franker treatment of sex.

Yet with all of the sex talk in the new novels surprisingly little of it is suggestive. It is pictured with none of the glamor which Robert W. Chambers, Elinor Glynn, and lesser lights used to strive to throw about it. The new writers consider it dispassionately as an important, sometimes the most important, element in human nature.

Yet, for all its assumption of scientific analysis, the present flood of sex discussion may safely be looked upon as the height of the post-Victorian reaction. It must recede, for as we have it now the drawing is wholly out of perspective. Literature seeks to depict life as it is, and in the various cycles through which it runs, a balance is eventually struck. One may predict that soon we shall have novels in which sex is properly evaluated, neither over-emphasized nor neglected.

FOOT-MOUTH DISEASE SPREADS IN BRITAIN

Universal Service.
Special Cable Dispatch.
London, Feb. 6.—Fresh outbreaks of the dreaded foot and mouth disease were reported Sunday. The whole area of Great Britain is included in the range of the disease and the total number of farms infected being put at 369.
The loss in live stock to date because of the epidemic is put at more than $2,500,000.

RATTI OF MILAN WINS THRONE OF POPE AS PIUS XI

Although Italian, He Is Better Known in Poland, Recently Made Cardinal, Speaks 27 Languages.

Special Cable Dispatch.
Paris, Feb. 7.—The election of Cardinal Ratti as Pope Pius XI was received with the greatest satisfaction in official and diplomatic circles in France. Some of the papers Monday night refer to it as an "allied victory."

It is recalled that Cardinal Ratti, when Italy entered the war, declared: "But for my white hairs, I would throw off my robes and shoulder a gun."

Special Cable Dispatch.
Rome, Feb. 7.—The newly elected pope for the first time since 1870 gave his first blessing from the outside balcony of St. Peter's. The new pontiff appeared on the balcony after Secretary Steffani, of the conclave, had ordered Prince Chigi to proclaim "His Holiness, Pope Pius XI" with entire reservation in favor of the inalienability of the church and the holy see which he has sworn to defend.

Cardinal Ratti, archbishop of Milan, received 38 votes on the seventh ballot, it was said. The great crowds which had waited in the drizzling rain, all forenoon, were somewhat confused as to the color of the smoke which appeared, being uncertain with the cloudy background whether it was black or white.

But at 12:30 doubt was dispelled when the new pope appeared on the balcony. His public blessing from the external window of St. Peter's is considered a conciliatory act toward the Quirinal.

People Kneel in Mud.
The crowds vent to hearty cheers when the major dome announced the election and as the new pontiff in his papal robes came out, the people knelt in the mud to receive the benediction.

Another event unprecedented since 1870, was the exchange of salutes between the noble guards of the Vatican and the Italian soldiers on guard duty about the piazza.

Cardinal Gasparri, who was papal secretary of state under Pope Benedict, was reappointed Monday night to that office by Pope Pius.

Cardinal O'Connell, of Boston, did not arrive in Rome until 12:40 Monday afternoon, an hour after the new pope had been elected.

It appeared to be the particular intention of Pope Pius to pronounce a benediction upon Italy and to indicate that it would add to the prestige and to the advantage of Italy if it gave worthy recognition to the "international sovereignty" of the papacy.

Pope Speaks 27 Languages.
The new pope speaks 27 languages, including fluent English. He is an accomplished Alpinist and has made ascents on Monte Rosa and Monte Blanc.

As the pope emerged on the balcony in view of the throng, the Italian troops presented arms and in a deep silence the pope first read the Oremus in a clear voice and blessed the multitude. A tremendous ovation followed the unexpected event.

ALTHOUGH AN ITALIAN, BETTER KNOWN IN POLAND

Rome, Feb. 6.—Cardinal Ratti becomes the 261st pope since the time of St. Peter. As Pope Pius XI he is expected to continue the policy of reconciliation with the Italian government for he was a member of the Gasparri party which stood for the rapprochement between the Quirinal and the Vatican.

Cardinal Ratti becomes the 261st pope since the time of St. Peter. As Pope Pius XI he is expected to continue the policy of reconciliation with the Italian government for he was a member of the Gasparri party which stood for the rapprochement between the Quirinal and the Vatican.

Ratti was born at Milan in 1857. He was successive prefect of the Ambrosian library and of the Vatican library in 1914.

Ratti was created bishop of Lepanto in 1919. He was consecrated at Warsaw. On April 1, 1921, he was made bishop of Adana and on June 15, 1921, was created a cardinal by Pope Benedict XV.

According to the Catholic directory, Ratti's position previous to the death of Pope Benedict was representative of the Vatican in Poland, residing in Warsaw.

Was Among Newest Cardinals.
Ratti was one of the newest of cardinals.

Cardinal Ratti is in his 65th year. Although he is an Italian, he is better known in Poland, where he had been papal representative for several years. He was consecrated a bishop at Warsaw and has had his headquarters there recently.

When the scrutiny of the ballots within the secret conclave in the Sistine chapel this morning showed that the necessary majority of two-thirds had been received by Cardinal Ratti, the secretary of the conclave, the masters of ceremony and the sacristan of the Vatican were admitted to the chapel.

A MOVIE STAR WAS ENGAGED TO TAYLOR, REPORT

Amazing Details Just Bared Make Case All More Mysterious—Former Valet, Sought, Found in Nevada.

Los Angeles, Feb. 7.—Constable Beining at Carlin, Nev., telephoned police headquarters at 10 o'clock Monday night that he had a man answering the description of Edward F. Sands, missing former valet of William Desmond Taylor, under surveillance. Sands is wanted as a material witness in the mysterious shooting of the film director.

Shortly afterward Lieutenant Toomey, of the Los Angeles police, is said to have dispatched a telegram to Carlin to arrest Sands and hold him for further instructions.

Los Angeles, Feb. 7.—Amazing new details of events declared to have marked the career of the slain man were received here late Monday and added new complications to the maze of "information" gathered by the police and county authorities in probing the mysterious slaying of William Desmond Taylor, noted film director. Dispatches from New York, declared it had been learned that Taylor has a 26 year old son, Reuben Davis Taylor, born in Texas, Kan., Tex.

It was asserted that this deputed son had spoken very bitterly of his father. Every effort will be made to locate the young man, it was declared, to learn if he could aid in solving many angles of the case.

Taylor Married Ada Brennan?
Another dispatch from Buffalo, N. Y., quoted Mrs. John Ketcham as saying it was the slain man who in 1906 had married her niece, Ada Brennan, now living in Monrovia near Los Angeles while he was known as Tanner.

However, Mrs. Tanner in Monrovia stoutly denied this, saying she married a brother of the murdered film director, whose name was Dennis. This brother disappeared some time ago. New York dispatches also said friends there knew both the film director and his brother, Dennis.

"I do not believe Mrs. Ketcham ever met my husband or his brother," Mrs. Tanner stated Monday evening. Universal Service at her home in Monrovia. "She knew nothing of my husband and I corresponded with her only occasionally."

Three Important Developments.
"There is no possibility that my husband and Mr. Taylor could have been the same man. They were brothers." In the meantime, the police investigation of the murder case brought out three important developments.

First—A squad of detectives visited a Hollywood motion picture studio to closely question a prominent director, who, it was declared, two weeks ago endeavored to obtain from the slain man letters and telegrams written to Taylor by Mabel Normand film star, who has been prominently mentioned in the case.

Second—It was stated officers definitely have learned that the bullet that killed Taylor was fired from a point two to four inches from the body, while Taylor either stood or sat before his desk with his arms above his head.

Third—Captain of Detectives David L. Adams issued orders to the homicide squad to "track down and charge Edward F. Sands with the murder of William D. Taylor or illuminate him at once and for all from the investigation."

News About Mabel's Letters.
In connection with the first feature of the case it was stated at police headquarters that detectives had obtained important information concerning the letters written by Mabel Normand to Taylor, which mysteriously disappeared from the Taylor home after the slaying.

The director whom officers were sent to quiz was to be asked very pointedly to explain certain actions on his part, one person in authority said. This man was reported to have visited the Taylor home within an hour after the body of the slain director was found by his negro servant.

In regard to the new information concerning the gunshot wound, Detective Sergeant Edward King carried to police headquarters shortly before noon the coat worn by Taylor when he was killed.

Officers closely examined the coat and the bullet hole and then announced that undoubtedly the slayer stood close to Taylor when the director was shot to death.

A short time later the coat was taken to a gun expert and several test shots were fired through it from distances ranging from two to six inches.

Captain Adams and the detectives on the case held a conference at the police station and carefully charted evidence now at hand and clues yet to be run to earth.

The order to charge Sands with the murder or to eliminate him as a suspect was issued by Captain Adams after he had received a statement from a man whose name was withheld, that Sands had been seen near the fashionable court in which Taylor resided shortly after the shooting.

MADALYNNE IS ON TRIAL FOR HER LIFE

Pale in Simple but Elegant Black as She Hears Keyes Demand She Be Hanged if Found Guilty.

BY W. E. KEEFE,

Los Angeles, Feb. 7.—Charged with the murder of her sweetheart, J. Belmont Kennedy, beautiful Madalynne Obenchain, went on trial for her life Monday before Superior Judge Sidney N. Reeves.

When court adjourned Monday evening the jury box was filled with 12 jurors who were accepted temporarily by both the prosecution and defense at the first day's session. In the box were eight women and four men, who were selected from the first 20 talemans drawn.

Time after time Mrs. Obenchain leaned over toward her former husband to bring to his attention some detail in connection with the selection of the temporary jurors. Several times she smiled at him as her attorneys made some point in argument.

Every woman examined was questioned particularly as to whether the fact that the prisoner was a woman would make any difference with their verdict as to whether or not she was guilty.

Of the 20 talemans examined only two were challenged. James A. Burke and Mrs. F. J. Holmes were challenged by the defense for having a biased opinion but the challenges were overruled by Judge Reeves.

Watching the proceedings from his seat at the railing, chewing gum, methodically, and slowly was the sad silent figure of the slain man's father, John W. Kennedy. He never missed a question or an answer pronounced by either the state or the defense.

During the examination four women talemans were excused because they had originally been impelled for the jury that tried Arthur C. Burch, co-defendant with Mrs. Obenchain.

MISS FREDERICK MARRIES DOCTOR

Actress Secretly Becomes Bride Of Her Second Cousin, C. A. Rutherford, Rich Seattle Man.

Los Angeles, Feb. 7.—Revealing an elopement and secret marriage that comes as a complete surprise to the entire film and stage world and her closest friends, Pauline Frederick, noted motion picture star and former wife of Willard Mack, the playwright and actor, Monday announced her marriage to Dr. Charles Alton Rutherford, wealthy Seattle club man and a second cousin of the star on her mother's side.

Resulting from a romance that had its inception 20 years ago when Dr. Rutherford was 26 and the now famous stage and film star was 17, the marriage took place in Santa Ana at 10:40 o'clock on Saturday night. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. Porter of the First Christian church.

Her Mother Just Received News.
Miss Frederick's mother declared she learned of the marriage Monday for the first time.

Decision of Miss Frederick and Dr. Rutherford to wed came suddenly on Saturday afternoon while she was working in the production of her latest picture at the Ambassador hotel. Notifying only two of their closest friends, Jack Gardner and Louise Dresser, the couple prepared for a wedding late that night. Joseph Packs, marriage license clerk in Santa Ana, agreed to wait for their arrival to issue them a license. Miss Frederick gave her age as 37 and Dr. Rutherford as 46.

As a pre-wedding supper the party stopped at a small lunch counter on the way down from Los Angeles and ate ham sandwiches and drank coffee.

The honeymoon—well, there won't be much of a honeymoon, just yet, it was announced. The new Mrs. Rutherford will continue work on her new picture and the Seattle physician plans to go north to settle up his business affairs before returning to Los Angeles to make a home for his bride in the exclusive Beverly Hills section.

NEXT ARBUCKLE TRIAL IS SET FOR MARCH 13

San Francisco, Feb. 7.—The court Monday set March 13 as the day for starting the trial of Roscoe C. ("Fatty") Arbuckle, motion picture star on a charge of manslaughter in connection with death of Miss Virginia Rappe, motion picture actress.

Both previous trials ended in disagreements. American exporters are trying to retain Egyptian trade "ained in was time
