

HOW TWO WOMEN ESCAPED OPERATIONS

Doctor Advised Use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Happy Results in Both Cases

St. Joseph, Missouri.—"Both of my sides swelled and hurt me so that I could not move or do any of my work. There was heavy pressure and pains through my lower organs and the doctor told me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for these troubles. He said I had this one chance, and if the Vegetable Compound did not help me nothing but an operation would. After taking several bottles I felt it was helping me and now I am able to do my own work. If my testimonial will help others I shall be glad for them to read it and hope your Vegetable Compound will do them as much good as it did me."—Mrs. Wm. Lockman, 513 N. 4th St., St. Joseph, Mo.

White Plains, N. Y.—"I had such a pain that I could hardly walk and the doctor said that I needed an operation. I was sick for a year before I started taking your medicine and I could not work. I saw your advertisement in a little book and that is how I came to take Lydia E. Pinkham's medicine. I have been taking the Vegetable Compound and Lydia E.

Pinkham's Blood Medicine, also Lydia E. Pinkham's Liver Pills and used Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash and the capsules and prescription recommended. I am doing all my work and have gained twenty pounds. I am taking the medicines still, but I feel fine. You have my permission to use this letter for the good of others."—Mrs. MARYMARE, 37 Hamilton Ave., White Plains, N. Y.

Some female troubles may through neglect reach a stage when an operation is necessary. But most of the commoner ailments are not the surgical ones; they are not caused by serious displacements, tumors, or growths, although the symptoms may appear the same. When disturbing ailments first appear, take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to relieve the present distress and prevent more serious troubles. Many letters have been received from women who have been restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound after operations have been advised by attending physicians.

Different Interpretations. That all people do not have the same slant of humor is illustrated in the following story:

One of the wealthiest men in Youngstown recently said to a friend: "I had a funny dream last night."

"What was it all about?" the friend encouraged.

"I dreamed I got into a little flivver that climbed up a telephone pole, turned a somersault on the wires, and then slid down another pole."

"Well, that certainly was some dream."

"Yes," the rich man exclaimed. "Imagine me in a flivver."

'Ard Blow for 'Erbert. H. G. Wells told an interviewer the other day that prose which could be metaphorized into poetry was anathema to him. He will be heartbroken to learn that in contrasting his peaceful convalescence at Amalfi a year ago with his position today he perpetuated the following:

"My mind and my soul were all my own. Now I live to the tune of a telephone."

MUST FORGET WAR HATREDS, HE SAYS AT GENOA PARLEY

Lloyd George, Urging Square Deal for All, Challenges Russia to Accept Allied Plans or Withdraw.

BY KARL H. VON WIEGAND, Special Cable Dispatch. Genoa, April 11.—"The hatreds and resentments of war must be forgotten here. There are no longer friends and enemies, victors and vanquished; but only men and nations striving in common for the attainment of a lofty ideal.

"This conference must re-establish mutual confidence in order that normal business may be restored."

With these words as the keynote, the greatest conference ever held for the reconstruction of the world's business was opened by Premier Facta, of Italy, in his address of welcome Monday afternoon.

"Square Deal for Everybody." "A square deal for everybody must be the watchword of this conference. We must depart from the old caste system. There can be no distinctions between great powers if we are going to get anywhere in this conference."

This was the principle enunciated by Premier Lloyd George, of England, at the preliminary meetings of the five convening powers. It was given out Monday as the principle upon which the conference will proceed.

My dispatches of Sunday which declared that Lloyd George had won out and that the French were defeated all along the line in the preliminary fight lasting more than three hours, were confirmed in all details Monday.

About Sunday's Row. Sir Edward Grigg, secretary to Lloyd George who is functioning in place of Lord Riddell at a conference with British and American correspondents, told the delegates of Sunday's row.

He expressed regret that he was unable to make the story public Sunday, but declared that he was bound by a promise not to disclose the details of the controversy. Henceforth, he said, the British delegation would give out to the British and American press all that happens.

Sir Edward also confirmed that Japan and Italy have lined up with Britain against France and Belgium. He especially praised Italy's firm attitude for a square deal for Germany and Russia.

Only Americans Are Absent.

Thirty-four nations of the world in 26 groups gathered around the double horseshoe tables in the ancient Palazzo San Giorgio, once one of the first international banks of the world, to attempt to stand the economic egg of the world on end. Only North and South America are absent from this conference of bankrupt buyers.

Only the appalling economic and financial situation of Europe and the certainty of collapse of the whole business structure have bridged the hatreds of war and revolution and brought the enemies, communists and capitalists, together.

For the first time in five years communism Russia was eye to eye with the capitalist western world across the conference table. Emphasizing the democratic character and basic equality of all nations, the blondes of Scandinavia and other superior races sat down with the swarthy Albanians, and the latter were given the place of honor at the head of the voting list because the name of their country begins with the first letter of the alphabet.

Albanians for Amity.

The opening session of the conference was auspicious in the high notes of all speeches from Premier Facta, Premier Lloyd George and Minister of War Barthou of France down to Chancellor Wirth of Germany and Foreign Minister Tchitcherina of Russia.

"If the Genoa conference fails despair will creep upon the world; if it succeeds it will illuminate the gloom," predicted Lloyd George, who added:

"The economic world is not two hemispheres, but is one unbroken sphere. Therefore we regret the absence of the great western republic."

"Justification for Caution." The British premier admitted, however, that there was much justification for American caution, but he hoped that "Genoa, the illustrious birthplace of the discoverer of America, may render another service to America by enabling America to discover Europe."

The quay on which Giorgio Landa presented a military picture. Large detachments of infantry and cavalry in trench helmets belied the peaceful nature of the conference by barring all approaches for blocks around.

A cordon of picturesque carabinieri, the elite of the Italian state police, with their dress uniforms of black with broad, white stripes down their trousers, tri-cornered hats surmounted by bushy blue-white pompadour completely surrounded the palace.

The Balkan states and the Albanian delegations were the first to enter the hall, which has the appearance of a big counting room in some bank. The journalists' gallery was jammed with more than 300 correspondents, there really being room for only half that many.

WOMAN KILLED BY DR. BRYSON WAS MY WIFE

Washingtonian Declares Victim Slain by Pennsylvania Merely Posed as Spouse of Fellow Accused.

Washington, D. C., April 11.—The woman who was killed by Dr. Herbert J. Bryson at Huntington, Pa., Sunday, and who posed as Mrs. Bryson, was the legal wife of Bruce E. Haines, of Washington, according to a story Haines told the police Monday.

Haines, who is employed by a large real estate firm here, said that the murdered woman was formerly Miss Helen Irene Kirby, whom he married in Tuckahoe, N. Y., on May 30, 1913. They came to live in Washington in 1914, and when the war broke out the bride took employment in the bureau of war risk insurance.

She Disappeared in 1920. It was while working in the bureau that Mrs. Haines met Dr. Bryson, who at that time was also a resident of Washington. On August 5, 1920, she disappeared. Shortly after her departure Haines heard, he said, that his wife was with Dr. Bryson.

"After receiving a pathetic appeal from Mrs. Kirby, my mother-in-law, for knowledge of Helen's whereabouts, I confided in a friend," said Haines. "This friend went to Dr. Bryson's mother in this city and told her he believed her son knew where my wife could be found. He asked the mother to communicate with the son, telling him of the anxiety of Helen's mother. It was not long after that we received a card from her, post-marked in Chicago. That was the last we heard from her until the news of her murder."

Haines "Had Premonition." Haines said that he had a premonition Sunday night that something had happened to his wife. He was unable to sleep, he told the police, and was conscious of his wife "calling to him from a long distance."

When he read newspaper accounts of the murder Monday morning he went directly to police headquarters and told his story to Chief of Detectives Grant.

He said: "Dr. Bryson killed my wife because he was intensely jealous of her. She was an attractive girl and had many admirers. She probably threatened to leave him and he did not want any other man to have her."

"To See Bryson is Prosecuted." "I intend to spend every cent I have to see that Bryson is prosecuted. He claims to have been shell shocked in France and no doubt will make this his defense. He is more normal than I am. He stole my wife from me. She was happy with me until she met him. I never blamed her but I do blame him. "Bryson had the devil in him. He deceived his mother when he lured my wife away. He pretended he was ill and leaving Washington for a needed rest. But when he left Washington it was with my wife, realizing all the time he was breaking up my home."

Bryson Major in War. Dr. Bryson is the son of Mrs. J. H. Bryson, No. 712 Twelfth street. He is a graduate of the George Washington university medical school, and was a major in the medical corps of the army during the world war, serving two years overseas. "I can't believe it, it doesn't seem possible," was the only comment Dr. Bryson's mother would make. She seemed stunned with the news of the tragedy.

UPHAM WILL TELL CHIEF ABOUT TRIP

Says He and Wife Liked Turkey and That Sultan Gave Her Cigarettes.

Chicago, April 11.—Fred W. Upham, treasurer of the republican national committee, will go to Washington this week to tell President Harding of political conditions in Europe as he saw them during the last two months. "I cannot discuss political conditions abroad," he said Monday, "until after I tell President Harding of my observations."

Mr. Upham, who is regarded locally as the "Colonel House" of the Harding administration, reached Chicago Monday, having landed in New York on Saturday.

"I went abroad privately," he said, "but as I was provided with a letter of introduction by President Harding that proved valuable in gaining information I want to transmit that information to the president before I discuss it publicly."

Mr. Upham said Constantinople was the cleanest city he saw abroad.

"The sultan presented Mrs. Upham with several boxes of his own private brand of cigarettes," he said. "They had his seal on them and are the real thing."

"Constantinople and the Turks surprised me. We saw no dirt, beggars, filth, dogs or outrages that we have been led to associate with Turkey."

CONVICT CARVES TABLE FOR ATTORNEY GENERAL

Washington, April 11.—A handsome teakwood table of rare design stands in the attorney general's office in Washington. It is a specimen of the skill and workmanship of a convict at Atlanta prison. The table was a gift to Attorney General Daugherty. It was sent to him with the compliments of the man who is confined behind penitentiary bars for a serious crime.

Keep Your Skin Pores Active and Healthy With Cuticura Soap

Not a Debatable Point. The woman was calling on her next-door neighbor, and while seated in the living room the front doorbell gave a sharp ring. As it happened to be the maid's day out, the small daughter of the house answered the ring.

A penetrating voice reached us from the open door: "Is your mother engaged?" Mary Ellen's shrill treble was a mingling of astonishment and indignation. "My mother engaged! No, ma'am; she's been married for years."

No Doubt. "Put and take isn't always a gamble. It's sometimes a sure thing. When you put more effort into your business you'll take more profit out of it."—The Kodak Salesman.
