The happy song of a contented little pet dominick hen branded Charles Grady as a chicken thief in the minds of a Boyd county district court jury at Butte last week and sent him to the county jail for sixty days. Charles was on trial, charged with stealing chickens from his neighbor, Andrew Lorenson, living near Butte. The chickens with others had been found in a butcher shop by Lorenson after he missed them and the butcher had purchased the chickens and some others from Grady. At the trial Grady had an alibi that he had slept with another neighbor the night the chickens disappeared from the Lorenson farm and that the chickens he had sold to the butcher were his own. But Lorenson and his little son, Carl, contended that the chickens belonged to them and that in the bunch was a little pet dominick hen trained to do various stunts. The chickens were kept in a room in the county jail during the course of the trial and when it neared its close the jury was invited over to view them. Accompanied by Judge Robert R. Dickson and the other court dignitaries they went to the jail. There little Carl told the jury that if a dominick hen in the bunch was his it would fly upon the arm of any one if called and sing a little song. Juror Cline decided to try the experiment and, holding out his left arm, called to biddy. The hen flew up and on to his arm and cuddling down against his shoulder sang the little song all hens do in the spring. Then the jury went back to court and the song so rang in their ears that they could not hear the impassioned plea of Grady's attorney. At the conclusion of the hearing they only remained out long enough to eat supper at the county's expense and then came in with a verdict of guilty. Judge Dickson gave Grady sixty days and he now is in jail.

THE GREATEST FARMER IN THE WORLD

One fourth of the wheat we grow is the result of the researches of the Government. After years of untiring experiment and investigation, the Government, through the Department of Agriculture, was enabled to introduce into this country the remarkable Durum wheat through which our production has been increased fully twenty-five per cent. This has been only one of many surprising but little-known accomplishments of the Government, which are covered in the interesting series of stories for which we have the exclusive right of distribution in this community.

We'll send this literature to you each month without obligation on your part if you will ask for it.
