The building was erected in 1905 and was owned by a stock company composed of members of the local A. O. U. W. and M. W. A. members. The charters of the different lodges were burned. The piano and a few chairs were all the property saved from the building. An effort is being made to finance another building to take the place of the one burned.

For those who always attend the Antelope County Fair it would seem that a good program of entertainment has been provided this year. Snappy ball games, good races, and even a tournament of "barn yard golf" ought to be able to please most everyone. The free attractions are said to be especially good this year and are something out of the ordinary run of entertainment. Antelope County is known as having a "worth while" fair and its program this year indicates that it is living up to its reputation.
