The Party of Achievement

Why has Senator Hitchcock relegated Arthur Mullen to the rear in his campaign this year? Is it because he fears that publicity of Mr. Mullen would alienate the Bryan democrats he hopes to attract?

Last week's special edition of the local democratic organ contains several very eulogistic references to the democratic candidate for county attorney. The articles are some of the best from the pen of Mr. Scott that have appeared for some time.

With Senator Hitchcock on his visit to O'Neill Tuesday evening Earl B. Gaddis and Frank Fisher. The latter is the city politician on the World Herald. Mr. Gaddis is Senator Hitchcock's campaign manager and director, the job Arthur Mullen used to hold.

Senator Hitchcock, one of the most bitter opponents of woman suffrage, has found it necessary to import several paid women speakers of national note into Nebraska to speak for him to Nebraska women. The senator's newspaper is devoting much space to the speeches of the ladies.

Arthur Wray has asked several pertinent questions of William Jennings Bryan, who is speaking this week in Nebraska. Elsewhere in this issue appears a copy of the letter of Mr. Wray to Mr. Bryan. The latter to date has not replied to the questions, although he is seeking progressive support for Brother Charley.

Secretary of State Darius M. Amsberry, who was defeated at the republican primaries for the republican nomination for congress in the Sixth district, has accepted the filing of petitions to have his name placed on the ballot this fall as a petition candidate for secretary of state. Mr. Amsberry bares his acceptance of the filing on religious and moral principles, he says. Mr. Amsberry rather shocked the proprieties this spring by hastening to file as a candidate for congress to succeed the late Moses P. Kinkaid when it became known that Judge Kinkaid was ill. It is probable that Mr. Amsberry has mistaken a bad case of itch for office for symptoms of religious and moral principles.

Why did not the democratic state central committee send speakers to the Holt county fair and the Chambers fair as it promised to do? It might at least have had the courtesy to notify the fair managements of the cancellation of the dates. But perhaps the democratic state committee does not consider the people of Holt county of sufficient importance to be treated courteously.

Rapid progress has been made in the building of permanent roads and the improvement of federal roads in Holt county under the administration of the republican board of supervisors. The O'Neill, Atkinson and Ewing roads are some of the best examples of the road builders art in the state, and they are just a beginning. What roads did a democratic board of supervisors build?

Senator Hitchcock announced the other day that he is opposed to the cancelling of the debt of the allies to this country. William Jennings Bryan and Thomas Lamont of the big J. P. Morgan banking house continue to advocate in public addresses the cancellation of the debt. Mr. Bryan as the leading democrat of the country speaks for the party and its Wall street supporters. Mr. Hitchcock is bidding for popular favor because he needs the votes.

"This copy of the Independent has been bought and paid for by a friend who desires you to read its pages."—Holt County Independent, Oct. 6. This substantiates what is generally rumored and understood. With the millions of Wall street behind the democratic millionaire candidate for United States senator from Nebraska and the telephone magnate candidate for state senator from this district the pickings should be good and no democratic precinct worker should be expected to work for nothing.

Bob Simmons, who will become the congressman from the Sixth district beginning March 4 spent several days in Holt county last week and was accorded a royal reception wherever he appeared. The cordiality with which he was greeted by all citizens regardless of party affiliations was most noticeable. Mr. Simmons wears well. The more he is known the better he is liked. He will be elected by a very large majority. A. W. Humphrey, republican candidate for the short term, who accompanied him, also met with a hearty welcome and many assurances of support. Both are men it is good to know.

A millionaire because of the very fact that he is a millionaire views things from a different angle than does the common individual. It would be impossible for Senator Hitchcock to have the same view point as the poor man and the man of moderate means. It likewise is true that the owner and operator of a public utility does not look upon the regulation of public utilities by law the same as does the patron of these utilities. He is apt to train more or less with the other owners and operators of public utilities in opposing regulatory legislation. John A. Robertson, the democratic candidate for state senator, is a telephone magnate. He owns and operates an extensive telephone system. It would be natural for him to be found with the telephone crowd.

How many Bryan democrats are going to vote for Hitchcock? How many Hitchcock democrats are going to vote for Bryan? Which candidate is going to poll the largest democratic vote? At the Hitchcock meeting at the K. C. hall Tuesday night there were several feeble attempts at applause. Cheer leaders were planted here and there among the audience and they applauded when the chairman, Judge Harrington, signalled from the platform. During his address Senator Hitchcock referred once to Charles W. Bryan. There was quite a burst of applause from farmers present, but the chairman and the cheer leaders didn't lead this applause. Several did not applaud at all. The senator noticed the difference between the two brands of applause and the greater volume of the voluntary kind. The senator did not refer to Mr. Bryan again.

A class of twenty-eight children will receive first communion at the 8:30 Mass next Sunday morning. The Men's choir will sing appropriate hymns during the Mass.

There are special devotions every Sunday evening in October at 7:30. These consist of Rosary, Sermon and Benediction.

Father Byrne is giving a special course of lectures at these services. For the past two Sundays the subjects were: "Man's great dependence Upon Faith and Which Is the Rule of Faith—the Bible or the Church?"

On next Sunday evening the subject of the lecture will be: "The Catholic Church is the Incarnation of Christ Perpetuated." Every seat in the church was occupied last Sunday evening. All the Catholics of Emmet parish were present as well as many Catholics from the neighboring parishes.

O'NEILL SV. SPRINGVIEW.

A very fast football game was featured at the O'Neill field last Friday when Springview met O'Neill. The game was called at 3:30, O'Neill receiving the ball and every player on the team had his man picked and as the Springview men came down the field they were taken off of their feet. The first quarter was a hard battle, Springview getting away with a forward pass, and making a touch-down but failed to make the try for the goal. However this did not discourage the O'Neill players for they came back stronger than ever, making two touch-downs in the second quarter. Both were made by the star H. B. Joe Beha. The first by his continuous line plunging which Springview was unable to check, and the second by intercepting a forward pass, running past the Springview players, who were unable to hold onto him. Joe made the first try for goal, but because of the wind, missed the second one.

At the beginning of the second half, both teams were full of fight. Springview scored again by a forward pass and line plunging. This made a decidedly close game. In the last quarter Joe Beha punted, the ball was fumbled by Springview and recovered by Stannard, who ran 30 yards for a touch-down. Beha kicked goal, and the game ended with the score 20 to 12 in favor of O'Neill.

O'Neill's next game is with Tilden, October 13th, on the local field. Everyone come out.

Carl Simonson was a High school visitor Tuesday afternoon.

Francis Welsh has been suffering from a broken arm, fractured in a freshman football skirmish Friday.

The eleventh Algebra class are becoming proficient in the art of factoring.

Who was Silva Simonson's guest Wednesday? Quite good looking and a perfect gentleman.

Fern Hubbard, an alumna of O'Neill High and a Junior in University of Nebraska, was made a member of the Dramatic Club last week.

Our foot ball team was complimented by the Spencer coach on their clean sportsmanship. "There was no dirty playing or bad language used by your boys," he said. This was so contrary to the reports he had received as to be most noticeable.

"What poem do you say to help remember the notes on the staff?" "All the boys wear shoes."

The High school will be discontinued Thursday and Friday, October 12 and 13, to enable the teachers to attend the State Teachers' Association which is to be held in Norfolk, Nebraska.

Little Wilma Lay was a kindergarten visitor Tuesday afternoon.

The public school music class have two-part singing, soprano and alto.

Bennie Worford enrolled in the First grade Monday.

Maxine Pinkerman is absent this week on account of sickness.

Frank Ratliff, Robert Cook and Ella Wilkinson were absent from the Second grade on account of sickness.

The students of the second grade will be given home tasks to do for the coming six weeks term. This is being done to help the students who have missed work during the past.

Jack Brenn, John Gaughenbaugh, Donovan Martin and Elizabeth Henry were absent because of illness.

The Fourth grade pupils are drawing October calendars this week.

The following pupils in the Fifth grade earned 100 per cent in Geography in examination Wednesday: Lloyd Davidson, Marlowe Sanders, Mae Mozelle Martin, Bonny Loy, Laura Wyant, Anita Liddy, Sidney Wilkinson and Elwin Thompson.

Phoebe Abdoch was absent Tuesday morning on account of sickness.

He has been taken to Ainsworth for an operation.

For diversion the Eighth grade substituted their history lesson one day with a talk on current events which was very interesting.

Friday being Patriotic Day the Eighth grade will observe it with patriotic readings and by learning a flag salute.
