POLICIES OF BONAR LAW ANNOUNCED

New British Premier Will Support Partial "Stay-at-Home" Policy, and Better Understanding With France.

BY FORBES W. FAIRBAIN Universal Service Staff Correspondent Special Cable Dispatch.

London, Oct. 24.—Bonar Law took the helm of the British ship of state tonight when he accepted the seals of office from King George at Buckingham palace.

The Scotch-Canadian formally "kissed the hands" of his sovereign after an hour's closed conference. At a great meeting of the conservative party at the Hotel Cecil this afternoon the new premier was formally elected head of the Tory party and outlined his policy, emphasizing as 's cardinal principles:

- 1.—The maintenance and stabilization of the Anglo-French entente.
2.—Fewer adventures in different parts of the world.
3.—Settlement with Ireland.
4.—Development of trade with the empire with drastic economical retrenchment.

He declared that he would give out a detailed statement of the program on Thursday.

Many of the most prominent conservatives in the country, including Lord Curzon, Lord Derby, Lord Chaplin, Lord Londonderry, the Duke of Sutherland and the Earl of Crawford, attended the conservative gathering, immense crowds cheering the arrival of the notables.

To Name Cabinet Today. Bonar Law will announce the membership of the new cabinet tomorrow night. The personnel will be purely conservative.

Lloyd George, meanwhile, is not letting any grass grow under his feet. Following the formal announcement this morning that he is going to fight in the elections as a liberal, reserving the right to co-operate with the conservatives, he plunged into a series of conferences with his principal lieutenants regarding the coming fight.

At high noon he went to the palace and took his official farewell from the king as prime minister. Fireworks are expected from the former premier from now on until election. He is already preparing a manifesto which will be issued to the nation in mid-week.

On Wednesday he will meet his national liberal supporters in London to issue his campaign orders. It is expected that he will lay down his complete program.

Then will begin his formidable campaign of speechmaking, winding up at the end of the week at Glasgow with Sir Robert Horne, Lord Birkhead, Sir Laming Worthington-Evans and Sir Hamar Greenwood are also enrolled under the former premier's speechmaking banner.

Labor Party to Fight. The labor organizers are busy with 400 candidates lined up and will fight in all constituencies, including those contested by the new members of Bonar Law's cabinet.

Today Mrs. Lloyd George was house hunting in the Westminster district. She inspected six houses today but found them all too small.

ACTION PROMISED IN HALL MURDER

Deputy Attorney General Takes Charge of Investigation and Declares for New Deal.

BY EARL L. SHAUB New Brunswick, N. J., Oct. 24.—

Walter L. Mott today was appointed deputy attorney general in complete charge of the investigation into the mystery surrounding the murders of Rev. Edward W. Hall and his beloved choir singer, Mrs. Eleanor Mills. The appointment was made at the direction of Supreme Court Justice Parker and as a result of publication through Universal Service of the Rev. Mr. Hall's love diary and "Wonder Heart" letters which showed that the probe had been completely bungled during the past six weeks.

As the state intervened the public was promised a new deal. "The criminal or criminals responsible for this fiendish murder must be punished," Mr. Mott promised tonight. "I have certain theories which it would not be wise for me to discuss at this time. I have followed the developments in the case closely and am prepared to take charge."

Mr. Mott said he would appoint James A. Mason, a detective of Newark, as second in command of the investigation.

"I intend to call in every possible person who has ideas and can help solve this case," Mr. Mott added.

Doubted His Innocence. From the Boston Transcript.

A country school board was visiting a school and the principal was putting his pupils through their paces.

"Who signed Magna Charta, Robert?" he asked turning to one boy.

"Please, sir, 'twasn't me," whimpered the youngster.

The teacher with disgust told him to take his seat; but an old tobacco chewing countryman on the board was not satisfied, so after a well directed aim at the culprit he said, "Call that boy back. I don't like his manner, I believe he did do it."

Billy Sunday Demands "That Red Hussy," Isadora Duncan Be Deported; Officials Busy

Washington, Oct. 24.—Billy Sunday, acrobatic evangelist, playing a one night stand here tonight, demanded the deportation of Isadora Duncan, classical dancer, for proclaiming to a Boston audience last night that she was a red and that Maxim Gorky is the hero of Russia.

"That bolshevik hussy, who doesn't wear enough clothes to pad a crutch—I'd like to be secretary of labor for 15 minutes—I'd send her to Russia and to Gorky, that—." Here his ordinary free flow of adjectives jammed itself up and he said that America was getting in a bad way if it would stand for anything like that.

There were approving smiles on the faces of "Ma" Sunday and Gen. Charles E. Swayer, President Harding's personal physician, who introduced the evangelist to his audience.

Calls on President. Sunday had called on the president at the White House earlier in the day.

"The president put his arm around my shoulder," he said, "and said to me 'Bill' he said 'glad to see you; you never want anything from me.' He looked as if he needed cheering up. I'm going to send him a turkey from my farm in Oregon for Thanksgiving."

Boston Bares Isadora. Boston, Oct. 23.—Boston wants no "free thought" dancing. Mayor Curley and his board of censors today decided that Isadora Duncan is too far advanced in the terpsichorean art and barred her from appearing in further performances.

It was not so much the dance, as what Isadora wore that caused the furore. Miss Duncan said: "Boston is convention bound. I had hoped to guide its citizens to a new freedom of thought."

Labor officials said that the dancer could not be deported by them until other agencies act. If the Boston authorities convict her of an immoral exhibition it was said the department of labor can deport her without more ado and a message has been dispatched to Boston to learn if any action of the kind is contemplated.

U. S. Coal Commission Hears Miner Representatives—Admit Mines Are Over-Manned.

Washington, Oct. 24.—The coal industry is a very sick patient and needs a doctor badly, representatives of the United Mine Workers today told the newly created United States coal commission.

Before any remedy is applied there should be a complete diagnosis, with the commission as the examining physician, and a course of treatment prescribed that can be administered with the aid of public opinion, the miners' representatives declared.

The miners will submit in writing to the commission the ills they see in the industry, with suggestions on how they should be met. When similar suggestions are received from the operators, the commission will begin its study of the industry to ascertain the causes of discontent and business disorder and formulate its proposed remedies.

Conferences This Week. A conference will be held tomorrow with representatives of the bituminous operators and on Thursday with representatives of the anthracite operators. On Friday the commission will promulgate a letter to the three groups setting forth the information it wants each to supply to aid it in its investigations.

The miners' committee today proposed that the commission should go into every factor relating to the coal industry from the mine to the consumer, that it should study cost of living, housing conditions, health and sanitation, physical hazards, working conditions, wages, etc., of the miners, cost of production, transportation, selling, delivery, etc., of producers, middlemen and retailers; range of prices between producer and consumer, capitalization, over-development of coal properties and over-manning of the industry.

The miners admit the industry is over-manned and that more mines are being operated than the present needs of the country require. How to adjust these conditions without working a hardship is one of the problems the commission must solve.

DEMAND FOR LABOR MORE THAN SUPPLY

Labor Department Survey Shows General Shortages of Industrial and Agricultural Workers.

Universal Service.

Washington, Oct. 24.—Actual shortages of skilled and common labor exist generally throughout the country, according to a special survey completed by the department of labor today.

There is also a shortage of farm labor in many of the agricultural sections. Clerks form the only class of workers for which the supply exceeds the demand, it is stated.

The survey recites conditions in the various states. In California, for instance, the number of employed at this time exceeds the number employed a year ago by 15 per cent. Industrial conditions are reported good in all lines, with the supply of workers for common labor and building crafts being adequate with very few exceptions.

Illinois Conditions Good. In Illinois the industrial condition is said to be better than it has been at any time during the past two years. Shortages of common labor exist in Chicago, Rockford, Springfield and Danville. Building trades have declined slightly and the demand for domestic exceeds the supply.

Conditions are rapidly approaching normal in Massachusetts, where the volume of building and construction work has resulted in a shortage of skilled tradesmen and common laborers. Production and employment are expected to be speeded up by the rail and fuel strikes.

In New York the shortage of ordinary labor is reported to be increasing. This is especially true of farm and domestic help. "A marked improvement in business conditions," the report states, "is evidenced by the fact that manufacturing plants and factories in small towns are becoming active again."

Rail Shops Near Normal. The demand for building mechanics, draftsmen, tool makers and molders still continues, with the railroad shops almost normal. Clerical help is in excess of the demand.

There is no actual unemployment, in Oregon, the survey states, the demand and supply for all classes of labor being about equal. In the state of Washington most industries are reported as normal, except where car shortages have hampered the lumber and allied industries. Steel, iron and flour mills are especially active. Commercial and unskilled labor exceeds the demand, although building is receding due to the approach of bad weather. No construction mechanics are unemployed.

FARM LABOR SHORTAGE. Although farmers are offering five cents a bushel a shortage of corn pickers prevails in southeastern South Dakota and Northwestern Iowa according to H. J. Crouse, secretary of the Farmers Loan and Trust company, who has just returned from a business trip to South Dakota.

ALL ATTEMPTS AT PEACE FAILURES Leaders of Irish Irregulars Refuse to Give Up Arms and Negotiations End.

BY DENNIS O'CONNELL Universal Service Staff Correspondent Dublin, Oct. 24.—All attempts to establish peace between the Free State government and the Irish regulars have completely broken down.

A second attempt to achieve a reconciliation in a week-end meeting between representatives of the two sections, held at Kilmac Thomas in county Waterford, failed when the republicans refused to give up their arms before any peace proposals were discussed.

From the course taken by the attempted negotiations it is made clear that their regular leaders in the field no longer recognize De Valera as their chief, but follow Liam Lynch, the republican military die hard.

BORAH PREDICTS WIN IN DIRECT PRIMARY FIGHT

Washington, Oct. 24 (U. P.)—Victory for the direct primary over the organized opposition of republican party "regulars" was predicted today by Senator Borah, Id., who is in his home state fighting for restoration of the primary, knocked out by the G. O. P. organization after Borah's last election to the Senate.

Instead of being forced out of the republican party by the hostility of the regular organization in Idaho, Borah declared in a telegram to the United Press, sent from his home in Boise, that "the forcing out will be the other way." That is, if any one is ousted from republican ranks it will be state committee who are fighting Borah.

Announcement is made at the White House that the president "hopes" the government can so diminish expenditures as to obviate the necessity of new taxes. This is discouraging. If the best administration can do is "hope" that no new taxes will be necessary to meet the ordinary expenses of government four years after war, the probability is that the ground is being prepared to increase taxes.

Bright Idea. An Evansville young man, whenever out of the city, instead of writing to his best girl, sends her every few days a box of candy. She is delighted with his plan and boasts of it to her girl friends, who straightway hint to their admirers to do the same.

One of the admirers went to the first-named young man on his return from one of these trips and made complaint of this habit of his. "The other girls are expecting us fellows to do it, too," he said. "We can't see why you do it. It's expensive and—"
