

It's a joyous treat to sit down to a bowl of Kellogg's Corn Flakes

You'll agree that you never ate such delicious, such satisfying cereal as Kellogg's Corn Flakes! Those big, sunny-brown "sweet-hearts-of-the-corn" are so fascinating in flavor and so crispy and crunchy that you don't wonder the children are thrilled to eat them!

Compare Kellogg's with imitations to realize their quality, their appetizing appeal, their wonder-crispness! Unlike imitations, Kellogg's are never tough or leathery or hard to eat! Each heaping spoonful of Kellogg's is even more joyous than the last—there is no end to the happiness that is yours eating Kellogg's Corn Flakes!

ASK FOR KELLOGG'S! Be sure that you get Kellogg's—the delicious Corn Flakes in the RED and GREEN package that bears the signature of W. K. Kellogg, the originator of Toasted Corn Flakes. NONE ARE GENUINE WITHOUT IT!

ANDREW W. BALDWIN.

The death of Andrew W. Baldwin occurred on August 27, 1922, at New Albin, Iowa. The sad news reaching old friends today. Called fourth sincere regrets.

Andy Baldwin was a well known former resident of our city. A pioneer in fact of Nebraska, coming to Dorsey, Holt County, in 1878. Located on homestead near Louse Creek. It was the same experiences that hundreds of Nebraska pioneers faced, women toiled early and late in cramped, sod houses, without conveniences and the men followed the plow, cutting its way through the tough prairie sod, all dreaming of the farmstead with comfortable houses, the growing town near at hand, education for sons and daughters. It is dreams by which men live. They fire the heart and nerve the arm.

Into this crude, raw frontier community Mr. Baldwin brought his wife, a refined, gracious woman, and their five small children. Mrs. Baldwin's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Knight, braved the frontier life to be near them, located on homestead one-half mile north of the Baldwin's claim; here they resided for years, but Mr. Baldwin moved to O'Neill in 1883, and became Deputy County Clerk under Mike Long. Later was a candidate for county clerk on the democratic ticket, defeated by small majority.

In the winter of 1888 Mrs. Baldwin died, leaving him the care of six children. One child, Leo E., was born at Dorsey. Mr. Knight died two months after his daughter and Mrs. Knight left her home and came to O'Neill to assist Mr. Baldwin in the care of the children and his home.

Mr. Baldwin and cousin, Rube H. Taylor, under the firm name of "Baldwin & Taylor," did real estate and farm loans, for a few years. Then Mr. Baldwin moved to Fremont, Neb., and later to Iowa, where he engaged in lumber, saw-mill business. Locating at Dyersville later running mills at Clayton, Waterville, New Albin, Iowa, and Prairie du Chien, Wisconsin; "Baldwin & Co.," G. H. Baldwin, his son, being in business with him. In 1911, A. W. Baldwin was forced to retire from active life on account of failing health. G. H. Baldwin removing to Virginia, later to Durham, North Carolina, home of the Famous Bull Durham tobacco, engaging in the same business and tobacco raising. Mr. Baldwin continued to reside in New Albin. He lived to see his six children grown to manhood and womanhood, able, strong men and refined cultured women, and to know and love his grandchildren of whom he had eighteen, and two great grandchildren. Of the children, many will be glad to know. Those who loved them as little children and growing lads and lassies: The youngest, Leo E., of Great Falls, Montana, now a Methodist minister; C. M., of Herrick, South Dakota, a ranchman; G. H., of Durham, North Carolina. Of the daughters: Mrs. C. M. Geers, of Kansas City, her husband being connected with the well known house of Montgomery Ward; Mrs. G. T. Keeningsham, Denver, Colo., whose husband is retired from the regular army. Mrs. Keeningsham has made several trips back and forth from Manila, Philippine Islands, visiting Japan, China, Honolulu. During the World war she was very active in A. R. C., receiving the Red Veil for work done in Colorado. Another daughter, Mrs. J. E. Goddard, of Wenas, Washington, married a physician and she is his able and trained assistant. Also a sister, Mrs. A. J. Faulk, of Mitchell, Nebr.

There are many nephews, and nieces. From the Allamakee county papers we glean some of the following: Andrew Walker Baldwin, born in Pennsylvania, June 15, 1848. At an early age he was taken by his parents to Mauston, Wis., was educated at Poughkeepsie and Hudson, New York; near the close of the Civil war he enlisted in Hatches Battalion, Minnesota Cavalry, and served to the close of the war, as drummer boy. Was married at Excelsior, Minnesota, June 10, 1867, to Emma Louise Knight to this union were born six children. His death removes one of New Albin's most esteemed citizens, whose memory will long be cherished. active, as much as failing health would permit, in all civic, social, charitable activities. Taking a prominent part in politics and was member of town council and the school board.

In December, 1920, he was forced to undergo an operation and since, his decline was rapid. The services were in charge of the G. A. R. Post and American Legion. Rev. Walter Piper, of the First Baptist Church, of which Mr. Baldwin became a member at Cherokee, Iowa, in 1876, officiating. C. J. Travis and Edward Bock, Masonic brothers of Guy H. Baldwin, sang a duet which was deeply impressive as were the words spoken by the minister.

The text, Second Corinthians, Fifth Chapter, and 10th verse, was the same as selected by Rev. Lowrey in 1888 for Mrs. Baldwin, the mother of the children. This was selected by Mr. Baldwin for his own. The salute was given by a firing squad from Jesse Thompson Legion Post. Remains were laid to rest temporarily, in New Albin, Iowa, cemetery—later they will be brought to O'Neill and taken to the Mineola cemetery, some twenty miles northeast.

Very beautiful floral tributes covered the casket. ***
