

ENGINEER SAYS IT IS WORLD-BEATER

"My Digestion Is Sound as a Dollar Since Taking Tanlac," Declares Buffalo Citizen.

"There is no doubt about it, Tanlac does all they claim it will do—and more," was the positive statement made recently by Richard H. Lawson, well-known engineer, of 1007 Elmwood Ave., Buffalo, N. Y.

"I used Tanlac for a combination of troubles and it put me in splendid condition all the way round. First, I had a bad case of stomach trouble, was simply chock full of sourness and gas, had a general distressed feeling and a burning pain in my stomach that I couldn't get rid of. With my appetite wrecked and digestion gone, I became awfully weak, nervous and run down and could get scarcely any rest or sleep at all.

"Tanlac answered every demand made upon it in my case and today my digestion is sound as a dollar. I have an immense appetite, and with every ache and pain gone, I am sleeping fine and feeling strong and energetic as of old. Tanlac is 100% good."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Over 35 million bottles sold.—Advertisement.

GIRL WIFE DOUBTS HUSBAND'S DEATH

Suicide Note Fails to Convince Her That "Dickie Boy" Is Lost—Couldn't Support Her.

BY KENNETH HARRIS, International News Correspondent, Kansas City, Mo.—Despite the fact that Mrs. Richard B. Runyon, 17-year-old bride and erstwhile high school student, has received a suicide note from her husband and that nothing has been heard from him since his sudden departure from his home here more than a month ago, she vehemently insists that her "Dickie Boy" is still alive. Her missing 20-year-old husband was a former student at Beloit college, Beloit, Wis. The youthful wife hails from "Sunny Tennessee."

In a two page farewell letter, which Mrs. Runyon received from her husband shortly after his disappearance, he wrote: "I have perpetually deceived you since our marriage. I have been gambling, and I have lost all of my money—and my overcoat and hat to boot. And to think I was cad enough to tell you I had been winning!" the girl bride quoted, her husband as saying.

Made Death Threat. Continuing, she said the letter read: "I am tired of it all, and I am going to tie a weight around my body and jump into the river. By the time you get this I will be dead. Goodbye!"

"Your Worthless Husband." This letter, which blasted the short romance of the youthful couple, was postmarked "Kansas City" and was received at the home of one of Runyon's friends, where the pair had rented rooms. Runyon eloped with his sweetheart from her home at Nashville, Tenn., to Henderson, Ky. From there they came to this city, where the young bridegroom secured a position. He resigned this, however, after a short time.

"Dickie Boy" was always so good to me," Mrs. Runyon explained to inquiries between sobs. "He treated me wonderfully kind. He told me before our marriage that he had had a nervous breakdown while attending college two years ago. I feel positive that he has suffered a relapse due to his former illness and has wandered off in a mental aberration."

"I know that my husband is not dead. He will return to me as soon as his mental fog clears." The child wife has abandoned her search for "Dickie Boy" for the present and has announced her intention of returning "home to mother" in the near future. Her father, E. C. Wright, is a well known merchant at Nashville and is said to be wealthy. The daughter's elopement had been forgiven, and the new son-in-law had been graciously accepted as a member of the family, according to Mrs. Wright, who rushed here to assist her when she learned of Runyon's disappearance.

Felt Incompetence. Runyon is understood to have felt keenly his inability to provide his wife with a home which would equal in comfort the one she had fled.

Neither the Missouri nor the "Kaw" river has been dragged for the missing body, and it is pointed out that the wife and her family place slight credence in the husband's suicide threat. On the other hand, it is believed, they are of the opinion that the youth had merely shouldered too much responsibility and after the realization struck him had decided to bury his identity for a time.

Police stated they would continue the search with unabated vigor.

COAL YARD BILL GIVEN SETBACK

Nebraska House Kills County Seat Measure—May Cut Interest Rate on Tax Certificates.

Lincoln, Neb., Feb. 2 (Special).—The house, Wednesday morning, indefinitely postponed a group of bills permitting all cities and villages to operate coal yards, public markets, ice plants and like enterprises. It also killed a bill making relocation of county seats easier.

The house passed a bill allowing $100,000 of state aid bridge funds to be used in helping build bridges across interstate streams. It is intended to make possible a bridge across the Missouri river in northern Nebraska.

The senate recommended for passage bills cutting the interest on tax certificates from 15 to 12 per cent, requiring all busses carrying passengers to stop at railroad crossings and creating a state board of meditation to prevent strikes and lockouts.

PROTECT FISH.

Lincoln, Neb., Feb. 28 (Special).—The house advanced to third reading a bill, by Keck, which will permit fishermen to take home with them any black or yellow bullhead measuring nine inches in length. Under the existing law the legal length is 11 inches.

The house recommended for passage, after a lively debate, the bill appropriating $50,000 from the fees paid by hunters and fishermen for licenses, for the purchase of lakes in Northwestern Nebraska, where flowing wells are to be put in to save the fish from suffocating by frozen waters.

The bill was fought on the ground that it is a foolish expenditure of money at a time when the people are demanding less taxes, and defended on the ground that the money belongs to the department, and that fish are not protected, licenses will not be taken out. The claim was also made that private clubs are buying lakes, and the state must hurry.

MEDICAL FREEDOM BILL.

Lincoln, Neb., Feb. 28.—Two bills pushed through the house by the Christian Scientists and other members of the league for medical freedom have appeared on the senate calendar, amended in some particulars. One of these bills, H. R. 39, prevents the physical examination of school children over the objections of their parents, save for infectious diseases, but not for correction of physical defects. It also prevents agents of the school board entering homes to examine or take from them any child.

The other, H. R. 17, is intended to allow patients in state institutions the right to choose a doctor or healer to treat them. The bill is aimed principally at the university school of medicine in Omaha, where the dean refuses to allow anybody but "regular" physicians to treat patients, on the ground that they know all the worth while things to do.

The Christian Scientists have had the bill drawn so that one of their leaders may be called. The senate standing committee has amended the bill so that its authors are dissatisfied. It makes the right to call a physician subject to the rules of the institution where as the rules at the medical college hospital forbid calling the doctor of the patient's choice.

NEBRASKA SENATE BACKS EUGENICS

Marriage Bill Passes Without Opposition—House Kills Bill Splitting Automobile Tax.

Lincoln, Neb., Feb. 2 (Special).—The senate Tuesday evening passed the eugenic marriage bill by a vote of 30 to 0. It prohibits the marriage of persons afflicted with social diseases, or who have been adjudged imbeciles or adjudged afflicted with hereditary epilepsy or hereditary insanity. No machinery for deciding the existence of such diseases is provided in the bill. It requires 10 days notice for the issuance of a certificate to marry.

Fireworks, largely of a partisan character, were displayed in the house Tuesday afternoon. The standing committee had voted to postpone indefinitely Governor Bryan's bill to cut the auto tax to two, which he says will save auto owners $3,000,000. The house voted, 45 to 54, to kill the bill. Two or three republicans voted with the democrats.

The senate Tuesday afternoon, in committee of the whole, killed the Strehlow Ku Klux Klan bill. The bill proposed to wipe the Klan out of existence in the state by making membership in it, or participation in its ceremonies, a felony, and denying pardons to those convicted.

Mr. Goodhue is working on a salary of $25,000 per year, but he has claimed and been allowed extra time under his contract, which brings the total to over $75,000 a year. Of the nearly $156,000 paid to him thus far by the state, the sum of $35,000 was alleged to meet "overhead expenses" in his New York office.

Washington—President Harding has issued the following proclamation in connection with the Annual Roll Call of the American Red Cross: "To the American People: "The assurance, based on many years' experience, that there will be prompt and generous response, makes it always a satisfaction to direct public attention to the annual membership roll call of the American Red Cross. ASSERT GOVERNOR MADE BAD ERROR

Republican Legislators of Nebraska Say Alleged Shortage Really a Surplus.

Lincoln, Neb., March 2 (Special).—The republican members of the joint committee named to inform the people what the exact condition of the state's finances is were unable to get together with the democratic members largely because the democratic members fought shy of a meeting, but they are ready to tell the people that instead of the deficit that Governor Bryan figured up there will be a surplus at the end of the biennium, July 1 next.

Governor Bryan started it by declaring in his inaugural that he found the state owed at that time about two and a quarter millions it did not have money in hand to pay. The republicans said he must be mistaken, and passed a resolution asking for proof. The governor proceeded to look over the figures for the entire year 1923, and came back with a prediction that the year would end with a $4,000,000 deficit.

The republicans now claim to have discovered that the governor failed to take into account back taxes ordinarily received, fees and penalties and miscalculated the amount the federal government will hand over for roads and vocational education.

TROUBLE LOOMS ON NEW CAPITOL

Architect Said to Favor Certain Contractors and Prices Are Held Up for Criticism.

Lincoln, Neb., Feb. 27 (Special).—Architect Goodhue is to be put on the spit again at the meeting Thursday of the capitol commission with the stone contractors. The state has served notice on Sunderland Brothers company, of Omaha, that it will not approve the contract the architect entered into with them without asking for bids, and that the work, which consists of special columns, will be let in a competitive bidding. The architect's quarterly payment of $6,250 and claims for $50,000 worth of stone furnished by contractors, are held up pending the settlement of affairs.

The state engineer, Mr. Johnson, says that the allied contractors have a monopoly of Bedford stone, and declares that if they attempt to make the same price for an quality desired he will recommend that the contract be rescinded and some other kind of material be used. Mr. Johnson also charged that Goodhue has been favoring certain contractors.

FLORIDA IDEAL FOR CITRUS FRUIT LAND

No Commercial Fertilizer Is Needed, Says Expert Who Uses Seaweeds.

International News Service. Miami, Fla.—To make the native soil of Florida entirely suitable for the growing of citrus fruits not only dust of commercial fertilizer need be used, according to Charles T. Simpson, of Little River. Mr. Simpson has been conducting experiments on his Little River farm, six miles from here, for the past eight years. The only fertilizer that Mr. Simpson has used has been the so-called seaweed. Once a year this expert with plants brings loads of seaweed from the waterfront, mulching the grove, and declares this is absolutely the only fertilizer that is necessary.

On the strength of his experience he declares that he is inclined to believe that seaweed is a most splendid fertilizer. His trees are weighted to the ground with fine fruit, yet the mulch he uses, he says, is not a true seaweed but a couple of little plant-like grasses which grow on the bottom of Biscayne Bay. These plants are loosened by fish that feed on tiny bulbs at their roots and float to the surface and are washed to the shore.

He is conducting other experiments with the candle-nut, which has a commercially valuable meat when it is freed from its shell. At present the nut is like an enlarged hickory nut with a fine kernel, which however, sticks to the shell even worse than does the meat of the Brazil nut. An effort is being made to raise trees from selected seeds which have freer kernels.

INFERIOR STONE USED IN CAPITAL

Architect's Quarry Inspector Blamed by Nebraska Commission—May Remove Part of Work.

Lincoln, Neb., Feb. 2 (Special).—B. G. Goodhue, architect of the $5,000,000 Nebraska capitol admitted to the state capitol commission that he personally knew nothing about the stone that is now being used for building the structure. He had representatives at the quarry to pass upon the quality of the material.

"I am very much disappointed, Mr. Goodhue," said W. E. Hardy, a member of the commission. "We supposed that you would protect the commission in these matters. It is understood that George E. Johnson, a member of the commission, and its secretary, was given a raking because he made public his statement concerning the quality and price of the building stone. The governor is supposed to be the spokesman when there is any news to be handed out."

Governor Bryan said that W. E. Hardy and Walter Head, members of the commission, had told him that they had received complaints about the stone and had been making an investigation. It now develops that the state has had three inspectors on the job at the capitol. Goodhue as the supervising architect, through his agent, has been approving the stone at the quarry. It has been figured out that 10 per cent. of the stone already laid has not the desired strength.

The governor says that if 10 per cent. of the stone laid is not up to the standard strength, the low grade stone can be removed without much trouble. The investigation will be done by Secretary George E. Johnson, assisted by Clark E. Mickey, of the engineering department of the state university. A meeting of the commission and the architect will be held within the next two weeks for the purpose of adjusting the price to be paid for the stone.

The last time I was troubled this way I had a nervous breakdown and was a complete wreck. The doctor thought I would not live, and if I did I would never be well and strong again. But I told them I was going to get well, that I was not going to die just then. My husband got me Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I took six bottles of it. I soon got strong again and had three more children. I have recommended the Vegetable Compound ever since, and if you could see me now you would think I had always been well."—Mrs. MARY F.
