Although Enel Saarinat, the Finnish architect, has been designing skyscrapers for years, it was not until a week ago that he saw one of these structures in the form. Mr. Saarinan has the reputa-tion of outrivaling American designers of skyscrapers. His design for the new Chicago Tribune building won second place in a contest in which all the foremost architects of the world were entered. Mr. Saarinan arrived in America for the first time a week ago. Coming up the bay on the Majestic he got his first glimpse of a skyscraper when he saw the towering heights of lower New York. Mr. Saarinan and Gustaf Strengel, interfor decorator, also from Finland, were tendered a banquet by the Architectural League of New York City, at which he received the praise of 125 fellow craftsmen for his work in what may be termed American commercial architecture .--Kansas City Star.

The prohibition on importation and use of motor vehicles in Bermuda still in effect. The New York office of the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce had been informed by some private firms that these restrictions were lifted, but on investigation this was found to be erroneous." There was considerable agitation at the beginning of 1922 for a removal of these restric-tions, but the act providing for this was defeated in the Bermuda house of as-sembly. It is the general opinion in Hamilton that this prohibition will never be removed.

The Wembley Stadium, the largest in the world, will be officially opened in London in April when the annual football cup-tle final is played there before the king and the Prince of Wales. The stadium, situated in a London suburb, was started soon after the armistice, but the construction has been halted several times. The stadium will seat 126,000 persons and is four times the size of the Collseum at Rome. Its surrounding wall is haif a mile in length. The structure will be used in connec-tion with the Empire Exhibition, to be held in 1924.

The Salvation Army migration de-partment in London has inaugurated a scheme for the settlement overseas of 10,000 boys between the ages of 14 and 17 under a practical system of selection, training and supervision. The plan is the outcome of prolonged negotiations between the Salvation Army and the government authorities. The boys must conform to a good physical and mental standard. Forty youths, comprising the first party, have already entered one of the training centers.

Recent proposals in the House of Commons for a tax on American books, magazines and periodicals as a means of stifling competition with Canadian literature was criticized by Prof. Stephen Leacock of McGill University, novelist. He declared the proposal smacked of spite work and expressed the belief that commercial interests were behind Automobiles from all other states are permitted to have free use of the highways of Washington, D C., only for three days. tion Also Find Large Intestine Entirely Missing.

Fremont, Neb., April -Johnny Green, 12, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Green, was born without an appendix or a large intestine, according to physicians who operated upon him this week.

The operation was attempted to give relief from recurring attacks of "appendicitis." Two brothers and one sister of the boy had undergone operations for appendicitis, and the operations had proved successful. It was natural to assume from what was believed to be an ailment common to the family.

The Omaha and Fremont surgeons who performed the operation were astonished when they could not find the appendix. There were tissue formations where it should have been, but nothing else-not a sign of an appendix. The large intestine was missing.

The medical men present agreed that in the hundreds of cases they had attended, they had never encountered one like this. The surplus tissues were removed.

DUCK SHOOTERS PAY FINES AT BLAIR

Blair, Neb., April -Everett Aronson, William McDonald and James S. White, all of Blair, and Fred Dennison, Herman, Neb., were arrested near here by Deputy State Game Warden Otto Gewinner. The men were charged with "spring duck shooting."

Aronson and McDonald were tried before County Judge A. C. Debel and fined $25 and costs each. Dennison, charged with "chasing ducks" and having no hunting license, was fined $30. White's case is pending.

According to Gewinner, Aronson and McDonald each had a duck in his possession and White had three when arrested. Gewinner said a drive against spring duck shooting has been started in the state. KEARNEY MAN HEADS

TACKLE SIFTING

End of the Session. Lincoln, Neb., April 'Special.)-The house, with 60 members present, tackled the first sifting committee file of bills, Saturday morning. It discussed for an hour the bill creating the Nebraska agricultural Credits Association which is intended to fit into the congressional legislation just enacted. The house cut out the requirement that insurance companies must furnish part of the loanable funds with 10 per cent. of their gross premiums, and also an appropriation of $50,000 for a revolving fund. The bill draws funds from a number of public sources and was recommended for passage.

The Nebraska senate Friday refused to accept the report of the committee on railroads to indefinately postpone the Rickard and Meacham bill to reduce freight rates 15 per cent. It was suggested that no action should be taken until such a time as the state railway commission orders a cut.

The Nebraska house Friday killed the Keifer amendment providing $200,000 for the eradication of bovine tuberculosis. Keifer asked that the item be placed in the general maintenance bill. The vote was close, 45 to 43. The appropriation was intended to cover the biennium.

YIOLATED MANN

Kearny County Man Fails to Get Slice of Estate Assured Him If He Had Kept Still.

BY TOO MUCH LIP

HE LOSES $3,000

Lincoln, Neb., April (Special.)-The failure of Arthur Parks to hold his tongue just a little bit longer has cost him $3,000. He lives in Kearney county and had separated from his wife, an heir to a considerable estate, but which has not yet come to her under the operations of the law of descent. In the boom days of 1920 the widow had a chance to sell the farm at a big price, and the real es-tate agent said that Parks' signature was necessary to give a good title. Parks was consulted, but demanded $3,000 for his signature. The heirs did not like to agree to pay it, but did not like to lose the chance to cash in on their land at a big figure. Finally they agreed to pay the money if he would invest in it a permanent home for their mother. He agreed.

The money was not to be paid for the land until possession could be given, and before that date Parks made the declaration that he would not build the house, but instead would use the money to buy an automobile and take a long trip overland, using the residue to educate his children. The heirs for the first time consulted a lawyer, and were told that Parks' signature was not necessary. He sued to enforce the contract, on the old theory that ignorance of it excuses no one, but the could said that this does not apply where one's private legal rights are concerned. So he loses the case.

SUPREME COURT MAKES NEW COMPENSATION RULE

Lincoln, Neb., April (Special.)-The state supreme court has laid down new law with respect to workmen's compensation, holding in effect that the employer who does not take out compensation insurance runs the risk of being sued by an injured employe under the old common law or of being forced to pay compensation anyway. The effect of this ruling, says Commissioner Kennedy of the department of labor, will be to force all employers to take out insurance since the court says that his refusal to do so will be taken by the court as a refusal to elect to come under the law and makes him responsible just the same if he had formally rejected its provisions.

Mr. Kennedy says that it means that the law will now be able to accomplish what it set out, subject all employers who are financiall y responsible to pay compensation whether they agree to come under the act or not. The one risk the employe has left now is the chance that his employer will not be financially responsible for damages or compensation. In another decision that court held that caretakers of club grounds whose employment is only seasonal come under the compensation law, and are not such casual employes as the law excepts, even though they work by the hour.

Des Moines, Ia., April --Frank Mitchell, an alleged yegg, was shot and probably fatally wounded last night in a gun battle with Sheriff Park A. Findley and three deputies. Mitchell was suspected of planning to crack two safes and the sheriff and his deputies stationed themselves near his home. When he came out he was commanded to halt but instead, turned and opened fire on the officers. The officers returned the fire and Mitchell fell, with eight bullets in his body.

HIGH SCHOOLS IN TYPEWRITING CONTEST

Aberdeen, S. D., April (Special.) -Twenty-one high schools of South Dakota will hold preliminary typewriting contests on Monday, April 9, to select local champions who will represent their school at the state typewriting contest to be held at the Northern Normal school in Aberdeen, on May 9. Contestants will be divided into two divisions, senior and junior.

The state typewriting contest to be held here will be the first of its kind in South Dakota. Plans for it were made at the meeting of the education association at Pierre, last November, when the commercial teachers of the state decided that such a contest should be held this year to promote proficiency in typing and to stimulate interest in commercial subjects. The contest will be made an annual event. Miss Blythe M. Breen, of Madison high school, is to act as manager of the state contest.

FLANDREAU TO BUILD MODERN SCHOOL

Flandreau, S. D., April - A modern school building will soon be planned to take the place of the structure which was totally destroyed by fire here a few days ago. The board of education already has a fund of $100,000 for the new building and to this amount will be added the $40,-000 insurance which will soon be paid as a result of the destruction of the old building. The board has decided to take immediate steps for the erection of a new building, slowness with which the selections can be made.

While the governor is given the power to name the seven men, the bill says the seven selections shall be made from 21 names presented by the seven banking groups in the state, and these will not elect until some time in May. The attorneys say that the delay will be perfectly legal, and the bankers say that the situation is not now such that no haste in organizing the commission is necessary.

REFUSED TO COMPLETE SALE, PAYS DAMAGES

Hemingford, Neb., April (Special) .-- George Carroll was given judgment in district court here for $9,617.60 against Samuel Graham. The case was the result of trouble over land. Carroll contracted with Graham in 1918 for 1,120 acres of land at the rate of $30 an acre, paying down $2,500. The understanding was that should either party forfeit the agreement he would pay the other $5.000.

When it came time to deliver the deed in 1919, land values had advanced and Graham refused to deliver the deed on the plea that his wife would not sign it.

K. L. Pierce, who acted as agent for Graham, sued for his commission and was granted it. Carroll, being unable to secure the deed, sued for the $2,500 he had paid down, plus the $5,000 forfeit and the accrued interest.
