Sunday's Lincoln Journal contained photographs of the ten young ladies selected from the senior class of the state university as members of Valkyrie, the honorary senior girls' organization of the university. Prominent among them is Miss Mariam Gilligan of this city. Selection to membership in this society is one of the greatest honors to be conferred upon a student at the university and consequently is much prized.

Eleven innings of fast and furious ball playing, between the Chambers aggregation and Manager Jack Higgins O'Neill Shamrocks entranced the fans down on the Chambers diamond last Sunday. This will be one of the best games of the season and should attract a large crowd of boosters.

Little Miss Stella McNicholls, five years of age, and who only has been going to school for seven short weeks, was easily the star of the program. Little Miss McNicholls recited all of the forty-eight states and their capitals, and also the American creed and refused to become confused or to mislocate any of the capitals on questioning by her elders. In a recent test in a large grade school none of the pupils of the sixth grade were able to name and properly locate more than twenty-seven of the forty-eight capitals.

O'NEILL OBSERVES MEMORIAL DAY UNDER AUSPICES OF AMERICAN LEGION

O'Neill paid tribute of respect to the memories of soldier dead of its country's wars with a patriotic program at Knights of Columbus hall, Wednesday afternoon, followed by the decoration of the graves of the departed ones at both of the city's cemeteries. The services were under the auspices of Simonson post, American Legion, in charge of Commander Cecil W. Conklin, and began with a parade of the Legion, other ex-service men and veterans of the Civil and Spanish American wars, and little flower girls bearing nature's beautiful offerings for the day, from the Legion club rooms to the hall, at 2 o'clock. The parade was headed by the O'Neill band. At the hall, which had been suitably decorated by the Women's Auxiliary of the Legion, the invocation was pronounced by the Reverend George Longstaff, and there were selections by St. Mary's Glee Club, a reading by Miss Mae Hammond, a vocal solo by Miss Mary Fitzsimmons, a reading by Miss Loretta Phalin, a duet by Mrs. F. J. Kubitschek and Mrs. H. J. Reardon, a reading by Miss Marguerite Hough and the Memorial Day address by the Reverend W. L. Phillee, of Ewing, a member of the American Legion and himself a fighting man in the great World war who went into service an enlisted man and came out a captain of the line. The address of the Reverend Philly on true Americanism was a most eloquent one. He reviewed the nation's conflicts from its birth until the present, spoke of its ideals and scathingly denounced the Klu Klux Klan and similar organizations. True Americanism, he said, did not find it necessary to conceal itself behind a hooded robe. To those who worshiped other countries as superior to our own, he suggested that there they should go. The service at the hall concluded with the blowing of taps by Simonson post bugler, Chauncey Porter, a soldier of distinguished service decorated many times for bravery in action across the seas. The Legion and other veterans, and citizens in automobiles and afoot then again paraded, from the hall to Calvary and Prospect Hill cemeteries, headed by the band, and there the beautiful ceremony of decorating the graves was carried out, and Bugler Porter again softly blew Taps, over those who sleep.

ATTENDANCE AT JUNE GOLF TOURNEY PROMISES TO BREAK ALL RECORDS

Officers and members of the O'Neill Country Club are wondering how they are going to entertain the immense attendance already indicated for the annual invitation golf tournament which opens on the club course June 10. It would not be at all surprising if golfers from both coasts were in attendance, as John P. Mann, of Chicago, almost a thousand miles away, has served notice that he will be here. Mr. Mann, who is a non-resident member of the club, says that the tournament is all the talk in the east. The tournament, as the first big one in the state this year, will have delegations in attendance from practically every club in north and west Nebraska and members of the Omaha, Sioux City and Lincoln country and golf clubs also are making application for entry blanks. The list of prizes to be hung up is a long and valuable one and on it will be represented nearly every golf goods house in the country. Then, Monday night is going to be the Good-fellowship banquet, which in itself is a big event. The committee on arrangements is preparing an extensive program of entertainment and in addition to golf there will be something else doing every minute of the four days. The grounds and green committee is at work on the course, which never has been in better shape and everything will be in tip top shape for the first drive in the opening flight of the qualifying rounds bright and early the morning of the tenth.

Atkinson Graphic: A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Hickok, May the 24th. A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. John Denkinger, May the 21st.

GALLAGHER NOT CANDIDATE FOR RE-APPOINTMENT TO GUARANTY BOARD

Edward M. Gallagher, of O'Neill, present member from Group 6 on the temporary state bank guaranty fund commission, is not a candidate for re-appointment to the commission. Mr. Gallagher accepted appointment to the temporary commission merely to assist in getting the new banking act into operation as expeditiously as possible and has given much time and study to the work since his appointment. He does not feel, however, that his other business interests will permit him to devote the necessary time to the work of the commission and accordingly announces that he is not a candidate for reappointment.

Bankers of Group 6 will meet at Woodlake, June 12, to name three state bankers, from whom Governor Bryan will select one as a member of the permanent commission from Group 6. A number of names already are being mentioned for nomination to the list of three, prominent among them being F. C. Hill of the Gordon State bank of Gordon, W. P. Rooney of the Chadron State bank of Chadron, James F. O'Donnell of the Nebraska State bank of O'Neill, W. F. Parker of the Citizens State bank of Woodlake, W. G. Eastman of the Commercial State bank of Crawford and B. H. Mickey of the Woodlake State bank of Woodlake, all of whom rank among the leading state bankers of the state.
