HUGH O'DONNELL WINS CHAMPIONSHIP FLIGHT IN JUVENILE GOLF TOURNAMENT

Hugh O'Donnell is the juvenile golf champion of O'Neill. Hugh won the honor Wednesday by defeating Erwin Cronin, runner-up, in the finals of the championship flight of the juvenile golf tournament. The tournament according to high golf officials was the first of its kind ever held by a regularly organized golf club and was what its name implies, a juvenile tournament and not a caddy tournament. Entrants ranged between the ages of five years and fifteen years, Tommy Abdouch, aged five, being the youngest. The play began with the qualifying rounds Saturday, with forty-seven entries, and after a rest Sunday was resumed Monday morning, concluding with a swell picnic banquet of weinies, ice cream, pop, coffee, buns and cookies, served in the basement of the new club house, owing to inclement weather, Wednesday evening. Incidentally the participants in the first juvenile golf tournament also were the first persons to banquet in the new club house. The tournament was under the direction of John Bernard O'Sullivan, ably assisted by Mike Horiskey, Parnell Golden and Frank Biglin, who also assisted in the eats Wednesday evening. Horiskey was toastmaster at the big feed, distributing the prizes after it was over, amid the enthusiastic applause of the golfers as the winners were awarded their trophies. Mr. O'Sullivan, with becoming dignity supervised the serving of the thirty pounds of weinies which the kids toasted over an open fire in the grove, the ten gallons of ice cream and the other delicacies of the sumptuous menu. O'NEILL MAY HAVE A REMOUNT STATION

O'Neill may be designated by the government as a remount station for the breeding of cavalry horses for the U. S. army. Holt county long has been noted for its breeding of race horses, particularly of running horses, the strain of stock the government is fostering for the cavalry service, and for which the breeders have always found a ready market. The county's horse four hundred has been augmented by the addition of two animals of royal blood just acquired for the racing stable of Sheriff Peter W. Duffy, whose two famous mares, Salvatoron and Miss Bagdad have been getting in the money frequently at the Omaha meet. The two new members of the Duffy stables are Rameau and Truant, noted racing stallions, both bred abroad: Rameau, by Etebert, is the holder of the American two and one-quarter mile record. His dam is Roxanna, who has a mile record of 1:38, a daughter of Rozann. He was bred in France, by August Belmont. Truant is by Day Comet, out of Pure Lilly, and was bred in Ireland. The two famous animals and Miss Bagdad arrived in O'Neill Tuesday in charge of their trainer and will spend the summer and fall here, probably going to Havana and the southern tracks for the winter racing season. Salvatoron will continue on the circuit during the summer racing season in the east and in Canada. Rameau, Truant and Miss Bagdad will show with a number of other fast ones at the races a part of the program of the American Legion Fourth of July celebration here next Wednesday.

The acquisition of Rameau and Truant to Holt county racing blood it is declared by stockmen will give additional weight to O'Neill's application for designation as a remount station, the nearest one at present being at Crawford in which territory racing blood has become depleted. Rameau's former owner refused a government offer of $24,000 for him.

ALL SET FOR BIG FOURTH OF JULY CELEBRATION

All is in readiness for the big free Fourth of July celebration to be staged by the American Legion next Wednesday. A program of mammoth proportions, complete down to the most minute detail, has been arranged and the weather man has promised one of the very best samples of his product in stock. The Legion committees have been working night and day to provide for the comfort of the visitors. Ice water barrels have been secured and will be placed on each corner and kept filled with ice and water the entire day and evening. Seats will be built along the streets, in shady nooks and on the court house lawn, and the main business streets will be given over to the bowery dance and the several concessions and shows that will help to pass the time between program numbers. The decorated automobile parade will possibly number several hundred cars, more than ever before assembled in a like parade outside of Omaha and Lincoln. Many entries already have been made, a number from the country and from neighboring towns. The parade is under the direction of the Women's club, with Mrs. F. J. Dishner and Mrs. E. R. Morrison in direct charge of entries. No entry fee is charged and any one is eligible to enter a car for the substantial cash prizes offered.

Are You Taking Bitter Medicine?

A shock is never pleasant medicine to take, but many have to take this medicine often because of poor investments.

Wise banking connections will help wonderfully in reducing these shocks to a minimum.

The two baseball games, one between Atkinson and Emmet, and one between O'Neill and Page, will be features of the big afternoon program at the fairgrounds, where the horse and pony races, fiddling and pie eating contests, chariot races, egg and potato races and many other events also will be staged. While these are going on bulletins from the ringside of the Dempsey-Gibbons fight will be received by radio at the fair grounds and broadcasted to the multitudes through megaphones.

George Agnes, who will have charge of the grand fireworks display at night, already has received about a carload of red fire, rockets, etc., and declares that the display will be the biggest ever shown here. The Ewing and O'Neill bands have been engaged for the entire day and evening and will start to play early. The decorated automobile parade will start promptly at 11 o'clock immediately following the patriotic program on court house lawn. The celebration will be an all-day and most of the night affair, all absolutely free, and with the bowery dance and shows and concessions as side attractions for those who feel they must spend money.
