President Says Price Panics Due to Buying Spurts—Declares Opposition to Nationalizing and To Use of Force.

BY JAMES R. NOURSE, Universal Service Correspondent
Cheyenne, Wyo., June 25.—Armed force will never succeed in keeping the coal mines of the United States working, President Harding declared in a speech here Monday afternoon. "There can be no coal mining in free America under the force of arms," he said.

The president spoke to a crowd of several hundred which gathered at the station to meet him on his way from Denver to Salt Lake. He was given a cordial greeting.

Cites Failure Last Fall
Reciting the efforts made last fall by the government to solve the coal problem and to prevent fuel shortage, the president pointed out that many mine operators, who "were as much responsible for the strike as the workmen who struck," insisted that with law enforcement the would be able to keep the mines running. The law enforcement was provided, the president said, but no coal was produced. The commission authorized by congress is now at work, he said, in an attempt to devise a solution.

"It is too early," the president added, "to say whether the commission will suggest plans of permanent cure which congress will adopt. I do know that it will bring us a new understanding of a problem that must be solved. We shall have a publicity which will make greed impossible, and point the way to solve a question which must be arranged in behalf of vital public interest."

The commission may recommend vast storage during seasons of light consumption, the president said, and it may also recommend increased distribution, and make revelations as to costs of production, which will destroy price making abuses. He asked the consuming public to help all it can, without expecting too much of the government.

Urges Summer Purchases
"If the coal consuming world would buy coal during the periods of scant consumption, it would guard itself against price panics and dangerous shortages when consumption is at the peak," the president added. "In the hope of lowered prices, the buying is postponed, and that very postponement is contributing to advanced prices. There is need for some individual initiative and responsibility in preparing for the wintry days to come. There is a mistaken notion that somehow the government may wield a magic wand, or strike with the iron hand, and produce cheap coal. It can do neither. You can produce more coal than you can force the farmer to grow wheat or corn or wool. We say that erroneous belief exploded a year ago."

The president declared opposition to any plan of nationalizing the coal mines, asserting that it would be "only another step to the national paralysis, which a sane America will everlastingly avoid."

Defends Sugar Tariff
Removal of the preference tariff on sugar would not bring lower prices of sugar to the American consumer, but would have the effect of destroying the American sugar industry, President Harding declared in a rear platform talk at Greeley, Colo., on his way here Monday afternoon.

"There has been a good deal of discussion about the high cost of sugar," the president said, "and a good many people have found fault with the president because he did not exercise the authority recently conferred upon him by congress to raise or lower tariff duties to meet existing conditions."

"I at once caused an inquiry to be made into the sugar situation and became persuaded that a modification of the sugar tariffs would have little to do with a decrease of the price to the American consumer, but might destroy the American sugar industry itself, to which the American consumer must look for stabilized prices in the future. I believe with all my heart in ample protection to the American sugar industry, because in the production of sugar will make us free from the greed of the great sugar producing countries of the world."

President Harding also said he hoped some day to have a department of education and welfare established as part of the government in Washington.

Party Leaves for Utah
Leaving Cheyenne early in the evening, the presidential party started for Ogden, Utah, where they will arrive Tuesday. Senators Swope and King and Governor Mabey will meet the party there and escort it by automobile to Salt Lake City, where the president and Mrs. Harding will greet the school children of the city in Liberty park, hold a public reception and have luncheon at a hotel.

Mr. Harding expects to get in some golf during the afternoon at the Salt Lake Country club. His address in that city, on the subject of "taxation" will be delivered in the evening at the Mormon tabernacle and immediately after he will leave for Cedar City, Utah, to spend Wednesday in Zion National park.

SHIP LOADED WITH WHISKY LOSES CHASE

Former Sub Chaser Brought to Port By Cutter Seminole—Investigation Reveals 1,500 Cases of Scotch.

New York, June 25.—While prohibition men were unloading a huge cargo of seized liquor from the Cunard liner Berengaria, the revenue cutter Seminole brought into port the former submarine chaser, Mary E. Gully, which it had captured after much big gun play off the Jersey coast, with 1,500 cases of Scotch whisky.

At the same time the prohibition authorities were preparing to break out cargoes of seized liquor from trans-Atlantic liners flying the British, French, Italian flags, all of which promised to go to court and into diplomatic channels.

It was a "wetter" day for New York, and the word "rum" or its equivalent appeared on more front pages than any day during the reign of John Barleycorn or since the Volstead act became effective.

These Ships Come Next
The ships next in line to be cleared of all except "medicinal liquor" by the customs men are the Paris of the French line, the Cedric of the White Star line, the Caronia of the Cunard line and the Conte Verde of the Lloyd-Sabfudo.

Another French boat in port is the Suffren, and her manifest showed she carried 18,712 litres of ordinary table wine, 1,220 bottles of fine wine and champagnes and 649 bottles of liquors. A litre is about a quart.

M. Domalain, the purser of the Suffren, said he hoped the United States would not seize the stores, as the crew might rebel if their wine, which is part of the ration, as coffee is with American seamen, were taken away from them.

About half of the stock of "vin ordinaire," is under seal of the French government for use of the crew on the return trip, as required by French law.

Blank Fails to Stop Ship
The Mary E. Gully was captured after a long chase by the Seminole, which worked itself into a position between the chaser and land so as to prevent the rum boat making for shallow water.

A blank cartridge from the three pounder howitzer of the Seminole failed to halt the smuggler craft. Then a solid shot was sent hurtling across the bow. This did not have the proper effect. Then a solid shot was sent skipping along the water just under the bow of the Mary E. Gully.

Then the former warship put about and waited for the Seminole. The chase had started within the three-mile limit.

Six Men Captured
Six men were taken prisoners. They gave their names as M. Kelly, H. Jones, John Drenc, H. Flerson, J. Cook and J. Brennan. They refused to talk and were taken before the United States commissioner late Monday.

It was estimated the value of the Mary E. Gully's cargo was more than $175,000. The boat was powerfully engine and probably could have escaped the Seminole, according to the federal men, if she had not been so heavily laden with liquor.

MAXWELL PLEADS INNOCENCE
New York, June 25.—George Maxwell, president of the Authors, Publishers and Composers Association of America, surrendered in general sessions court Monday afternoon and pleaded not guilty of a charge of writing "poison pen" letters to Allan A. FRENCH TO PROTEST.
Paris, June 25.—An official French protest against American seizure of liquors on steamers flying this country's flag will be dispatched to Washington, if the New York customs authorities go through with their program of breaking the French seals.

Premier Poincare favors delaying any other action until the next session of the American congress, in the belief that the law will be changed. Other officials are taking reprisals.

Huron, S. D., June 25, (Special)—Clarence McVaine, for many years secretary of the South Dakota state fair board, the state board of agriculture, a prominent property owner of Huron and Beadle county and well known throughout South Dakota, was drowned about noon Sunday, when the row boat he was riding in capsized and sank in Lake Byron, 20 miles north of Huron.

Observers on the shore declared it is evident high waves due to the strong wind caused the boat to fill and sink.

Following this he was employed by the American Express Company here and after the expiration of that time was in the employ of R. O. ## "LOVERS LANE" GUARDIAN SLAIN

Young Mother Who Rescued Many Girls on Lonely Drive Found With Bullet in Head

Chicago, June 25.—A theory of revenge was advanced today by police seeking the slayer of Mrs. Mary Lawrence, 37 years old, known as the "guardian of lovers lane."

Mrs. Lawrence was found mysteriously shot to death in her home on Harlem avenue, a wooded thoroughfare, just outside the northwest city limits. Esther, 15 year old daughter, and John Frangle, a boy friend, found her seated in a chair as if asleep, a bullet wound in her head.

Harlem avenue, because of its rustic seclusion, is known to autoists as "lovers lane." Mrs. Lawrence had many times rescued young girls from cars parked at the roadside, thus winning her title as the popular drive's guardian.

Discarding a theory of suicide, county and city police are searching for a man they believe killed her because of interference in such an episode.

Authorities today attempted the almost hopeless task of learning the identity of some of the occupants of the cars parked along the road at the time of the slaying. Esther declared she had noticed one car in particular, standing about a block from the home.

Investigation disclosed signs of a struggle about the location. Investigators deduced that Mrs. Lawrence may have gone to the car in answer to screams, forced a man to release a girl and then, after returning to her chair on the porch was shot to death.

"DRY" OFFICERS FACING CHARGES

Sox Falls Man Alleges Intoxication Against W. O. Knight and W. C. Huyck

Sioux Falls, S. D., June 25.—Charging W. O. Knight, federal prohibition director, and W. C. Huyck, assistant director, with having liquor in their possession, drinking it, becoming intoxicated and giving liquor to others to drink, John Neary, Monday afternoon, swore out a warrant in Municipal court for the arrest of the two government officers.

Neary alleges that on the afternoon of May 11, the two men "went joy riding" with a Mrs. Loosche, having liquor in their possession and drinking same; that later they went to the home of Mrs. Nellie Schlotter, 129 South Duluth avenue, taking the liquor with them; that they drank the liquor and gave it to others to drink, and that they became intoxicated while there.

The complaint states further that Mr. Huyck became so intoxicated that he had to be assisted from the room, and that after the federal officers had left City Officers' Wood, Meyers and McMahon came to the house and arrested Mrs. Schlotter, entering her name on the police blotter as "N. Schlosser."

A fine of $50 was paid by "N. Schlosser" on May 13, thus falsifying the records, so the complaint says, and goes on to charge that the fine was paid by Huyck and Knight.

Neary recently was acquitted by a jury in his trial here on charges of wounding three prohibition enforcement officers when they arrested him on liquor charges.

The tug Cornelia was burned to the water edge and three barges were destroyed. A public bath house anchored nearby took fire but was towed into the stream and saved.

POLICE BOARD SHIP TO PROTECT SKIPPER

Halifax, June 25.—Returning from a vigil of three months off the Jersey coast, where she claims to have landed 4,500 cases of liquor, the freighter Stranhill has been boarded by a squad of police to protect her master, Capt. H. K. Wilson from the crew.

No pay and short rations raised the ire of the crew.

The crew refused to work and became so threatening that Captain Wilson locked himself in his cabin.
