"QUINCY ADAMS SAWYER" CO. LIVED IN SPECIAL TRAIN ON LOCATION IN NORTHWEST

A special compartment car and a diner furnished the living quarters for the members of the "Quincy Adams Sawyer" company during the two weeks which were spent on location in the far northwest. The entire personnel which was engaged in this Metro-SL production was included in the party, which filmed the most thrilling water scenes ever flashed on the screen in the swirling waters of the Columbia river. Clarence Badger directed the film, now at the Royal Theatre Sunday and Monday.

Three baggage cars were required to carry the necessary electrical supplies including a large generator, and other equipment. Two horses and two wagons also were included as well as lumber for a boat, two dozen life belts, a surgical emergency kit and other articles. A physician also accompanied the party to provide treatment in the event of illness or injury. Considerable danger was incurred in the filming of many scenes and for that reason these were left until all others had been taken.

The location was selected several weeks ago by Mr. Hunt.

Bernard McConville adapted "Quincy Adams Sawyer" to the screen from the famous novel by Charles Fenton Pidgin.

CARD OF THANKS.

We wish to express our appreciation and thank our kind neighbors and friends through The Frontier, for their assistance during our late bereavement, the death and burial of our little daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Swanson.

ROBERTSON-SUNDELL

A very quiet home wedding was solemnized at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John A. Robertson, of Joy, at three o'clock Sunday afternoon, July 8th, when their daughter, Helen Ethel, was united in marriage to Albert T. Sundell, of Wakefield, by Rev. George Longstaff, pastor of the Presbyterian church of O'Neill.

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. McElhane, of Page, were groomsmen and bridesmaid.

Only the immediate relatives of the families were present and after best wishes and congratulations were extended a light luncheon was served.

The bride is one of the accomplished daughters of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Robertson and was born and has grown to womanhood in this community and has already been an active worker in educational and social affairs having taught successfully in the schools of Holt and Wayne counties.

The groom is an amiable young man of splendid character, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Sundell, of Wakefield. He finished his education at the Wayne college and is an ex-serviceman having served in France during the world war.

Both of these young people are held in high esteem by all who know them and have the very best wishes for a happy and prosperous journey through life.

They left by automobile Sunday evening for a short trip to Omaha and other places in this state after which they will be at home to their numerous friends on Mr. Sundell's farm near Wakefield, Nebraska.

MODERN DRY CLEANING METHODS

Such as ours—do much more than remove the surface dirt and stains. We go right down into the heart of the fabric and draw out the embedded "soil" and grit.

This fine embedded "soil," if not removed, gradually cuts and rots the texture of the material and shortens the life of the garment.

With our kind of dry cleaning—requiring highly developed and expensive equipment—you'll find it very practical to have your garments dry cleaned regularly—at least three or four times a year. They'll look fresher and better, and besides, will give months of extra wear—repaying many times the small cost of the service.
