CHARLES WREDE, 82 STRUCK BY AN AUTO

Charles Wrede, aged 82 years, a veteran of the Civil war and one of Holt county's pioneer residents, sustained a fractured hip and arm and other injuries which he is not apt to survive when he was struck by a small car Sunday evening at the intersection of Fourth and Everett streets in the heart of the business section of this city. The car was occupied by Miss Edna Tucker, its owner, and Miss Viola Eickhoff, both of Page. Their identity was not discovered until Monday evening.

Mr. Wrede was crossing the intersection diagonally and was struck and thrown to the ground by the car just after he stepped out from behind a lamp post of the central and ornamental lighting system. He was carried several feet by the car before it was stopped and he was removed by persons passing, from beneath the front axle. The car was said by several witnesses to be running without lights, although the intersection at which the accident took place was well lighted. The occupants of the car offered to assist in removing Mr. Wrede to his home, nearby, but later left the scene without disclosing their identity and on their return to Page did not inform their relatives of the affair. An investigation by County Attorney J. D. Cronin and Deputy Sheriff Bergstrom at Page Monday afternoon disclosed that Miss Eickhoff had been one of the occupants of the car and when confronted by the officials at her home she admitted it.

Miss Tucker, who is teaching school at Venus, also later admitted being the driver of the car. The charges to be preferred against them await the outcome of the injuries sustained by Mr. Wrede.

The young women declared to the officers that they were not traveling at a high rate of speed and said that the car lights were burning. They said that they saw Mr. Wrede as he stepped from behind the lamp post and that they would have cleared him had he not stepped back into the path of the car. At the time of the accident one of the girls gave as an excuse for the car lights not burning that the wiring system was broken. Their excuse for not mentioning the accident before being apprehended by the officers was that they did not think Mr. Wrede had been seriously injured.
