Death of P. J. McCabe Merely Changed Procedure in Supreme Court

Lincoln, Neb., Oct. 6. (Special)—Owing to the death of P. J. McCabe of Newcastle, who was here to listen to argument in the case, the attorneys interested in the construction of the will of Thomas McCluskey, former resident of Dixon county, submitted the matter on briefs. The heirs at law of McCluskey are seeking to secure from Patrick McGuirk, executor of his will, $30,000 worth of land that McGuirk claims as his own by reason of a transfer through a third party over 20 years ago.

McCluskey's wife had died before him, and his only child, a son, had been missing for 17 years. In his will McCluskey provided that his land should be sold for $4,000, its then value, and half of the amount expended over a period of 20 years in masses for the repose of the souls of himself and wife. The other half was to be kept for 20 years for the son, if he did not show up by then the masses were to continue for another two score years.

The heirs say McGuirk never asserted title during the 20 years, saying he was keeping the land for the son. Now come the heirs and attack the transaction by which he secured the land, and they go further back and attack the will as falling because it did not distinguish between the Greek and Roman Catholic church. Another issue they say the court must decide is whether or not extrinsic evidence must not be presented of the efficacy of the ceremony of the mass.

RETAILERS ARE ACTIVE BUNCH

Governor of Nebraska Assets Coal Men Would Shut off His Supply

Lincoln, Neb., Oct. 6.—Before he departed for Washington, Governor Charles W. Bryan issued a statement in which he charged that an organization of retail coal dealers in Nebraska has been attempting to deprive his supply of Colorado and Illinois coal shut off so he could no longer supply coal to Nebraskans. The governor stated that he was now selling coal to 73 towns in this state, and gave newspaper men a list of the towns, which include Omaha, Norfolk, Grand Island, York, Aurora, Fremont, Kearney, Neligh, O'Neill, Syracuse, South Sioux City and Lincoln.

The governor said that there was a meeting of retail coal dealers in Omaha last week at which one of their number assured the retailers and the wholesalers present that they would be able to prevent him getting any more coal at the mines, that in two weeks he would have to go out of business and that the municipal coal yard there would be shut off from receiving any more shipments from the mines.

NEBRASKA ODD FELLOWS ELECT NEW OFFICERS.

York, Neb., Oct. 6.—The Odd Fellows grand lodge of Nebraska Thursday elected the following officers: Chas. P. Johnson Fremont grand master; W. H. VanCleve, Tekamah, deputy grand master; E. S. Davis, North Platte, secretary; F. B. Bryant, Omaha, treasurer; John Harper, David City, grand representative for two years; W. V. Hoagland, North Platte, grand representative for one year; J. C. Harnish, O'Neill, and C. C. Fuller, David City, members of home board.

The new officers of the Rebekah assembly are: President, Myrtle Musser, Danville; Vice President, May Frush, Wahoo; Warden, Rosalie Crabtree, Lincoln; Secretary, Emma Talbot, Omaha; Treasurer, May E. Stunt, Omaha. Clara E. Davis of North Platte was elected member of the home board and representative to the association of Rebekah assemblies.

COUNTY AGENTS OF NEBRASKA MEETING.

Lincoln, Neb., Oct. 6.—The annual county agricultural extension agent conference opened here Wednesday night, with 45 men, representing as many Nebraska counties, in attendance. The conference will last through Saturday morning, after which the agents are scheduled to attend the Nebraska-Kansas football game, accompanied by the state officers of the extension service.

Attendance at the annual conference is part of the county agent's duties. The agricultural extension agents work under the supervision of the state agricultural college and co-operate with the United States department of agriculture and with the county farm bureaus. At the annual conference they discuss their work during the year and farm work in general and then formulate plans for the next season's work.

BROADWATER BANK IS TO BE REORGANIZED.

Lincoln, Neb., Oct. 6.—The Broadwater bank which has been operated for some time by the state Guarantee Fund commission, is to be reorganized as the Broadwater State bank, and turned over to Kearney and Broadwater men for operation, it is announced. The bank has $5,000 premium for deposits in the bank, and are to take over with the assets that are considered good, it is said.

SENATOR NORRIS WILL NOT RUN

Says State of Health Will Not Permit Him to Continue in Office

Lincoln, Neb., Oct. 6. (Special)—Senator Norris has reiterated in a letter to a state official that his health will not permit him to devote six years more as a senator, and that this answer is final. Friends of the senator are saying, however, that he may run for governor in order to help along the campaign he proposes to make for a one-house legislature, and that he is favorable to the candidacy of A. J. Weaver for senator. Mr. Weaver is a wealthy apple grower and banker of Falls City, was president of the state constitutional convention, and is one of the big men in the party in Nebraska. Speaker A. N. Mathers of Scotts Bluff has been groomed for governor by members of the house ever since that body adjourned last spring.

ASKS DIVORCE FROM BRANDIEIS

Bride of Young Millionaire Sportsman of Omaha Brings Action

Omaha, Neb., Oct. 6. (U. P.)—E. John Brandeis, youthful Omaha sportsman and millionaire merchant, is being sued for divorce by his wife, Emilie Marie Brandeis, with whom he has just returned from an African big game hunt. Mrs. Brandeis charges extreme cruelty.

They were married at Seward, Alaska last June while on another big game hunt shortly after Brandeis had been divorced from his first wife, Madeleine Frank Brandeis, member of a prominent San Francisco family and now a member of the directing staff of a big Hollywood motion picture corporation.

The present Mrs. Brandeis is the divorced wife of J. F. Coleman, member of the firm of J. and J. Coleman, Limited, of London and New York.

MARRIAGE ANNULLED BY THE COURT.

Lincoln, Neb., Oct. 6.—The marriage of Miss Mary Burnham, daughter of J. L. Burnham, cashier of the First Savings Bank, to Morris P. Roberts, which took place at Sidney, Ia., Oct. 20, was annulled in the district court here Tuesday by Judge Morning. Miss Burnham, accompanied by her father and attorney presented a petition asking annulment and alleging that she was induced by Mr. Roberts to go with him to Sidney and there they secured a license and were married. She stated that she did not understand that she was entering into a binding contract and that she did not intend to become Mr. Roberts' wife. She further states that she is a minor child, being but 17 years old, and incapable of contracting marriage. Mr. Roberts in his answer denies that he made any misrepresentation to induce Miss Burnham to marry him. Mr. Roberts is a student at the state university. They were secretly married.

NEBRASKA CATTLE TO U. S. SHIPPING BOARD.

Gordon, Neb., Oct. 6. (Special)—Cattle raised by J. C. Carson, of Irwin, Neb., whose ranch is 10 miles east of Gordon, were sold to be used in the dining rooms of ships operated by the U. S. Shipping Board, according to a copy of the Dayton (Ohio) News, recently received by Mr. Carson. The cattle, hereford calves, were sold last November by Carson to Ex-Governor Cox of Ohio, who shipped them to his "Old Farm Ranch" in Butler county of that state. At the time of purchase the calves averaged 600 pounds and after 242 days of feeding at Governor Cox's farm, they weighed 1,360 and sold at a premium above fancy cattle at the time of the sale. The Ohio paper praises the sandhill cattle highly and states that Governor Cox expects to secure approximately 100 head of calves here this fall.

OMAHA WOMAN IS HANDY WITH REVOLVER.

Omaha, Neb., Oct. 6.—Frank Brown, of Raleigh, N. C. was shot, but not seriously wounded by Mrs. Mary O'Donnell, a divorcee, who claims that the wounded man asked to see her diamond several days ago, and disappeared with it.

Today, according to Mrs. O'Donnell, he telephoned here at her restaurant. She went to the hotel where he was stopping, covered him with a revolver and started him to the police station. In the downtown section of the city, she told police, Brown attempted to escape and she fired one shot in the air and another at his legs. The shot aimed at his legs struck him in the neck. After his wounds were dressed, he was released on bond.

NEBRASKA BANKERS MEET IN OMAHA.

Omaha, Neb., Oct. 6.—Nebraska bankers are assembled here from various sections of the state for their annual two-day convention which will close Thursday night. Principal speakers include Walter S. Head, of Omaha, newly elected president of the American Bankers' association, who will address the delegates Thursday morning.

PALMER SCHOOL FACTION WINS

Nebraska Supreme Court Upholds State Department of Public Health

Lincoln, Neb., Oct. 6. (Special)—The state association of chiropractors lost out in district court in their effort to enjoin the state department of public welfare from issuing licenses to the graduates of the Palmer school at Davenport, Ia. The last legislative session, to settle a fight between the association members and the Palmerites, the former insisting on retaining the old law which requires longer schooling than Palmer gives, put the matter up to the state board. It may issue licenses to whoever can pass the examination.

The association, in its suit, claimed this would result in lowering the standard of the profession, that the department would not appoint a time to hear reasons why 27 months is the proper schooling period, and that it would damage the public health. The state maintained that the courts could not control the discretion of an administrative state department and that the action could not be maintained by the plaintiffs because they claimed no damage other than that which they claimed the general public would suffer if the bars were let down.

FREIGHT RATES ARE DISCUSSED

Nebraska Rail Commission Takes Up Matters of Discrimination

Lincoln, Neb., Oct. 6. (Special)—On its own motion the state railway commission has begun a hearing to determine how to remove the discriminations in rates on grain and grain products that were left when the commission last June ironed out rates to Omaha in the eastern section of the state. This was a reduction in the main and disturbed the old relationship between the points affected and the nearby towns not included in the reduction zone. This has resulted in these nearby towns losing a part of their natural trade to the more favored neighbors. J. W. Shorttill is present representing the farmers, elevator companies. There are four roads with rate men in attendance—the Burlington, Northwestern, Missouri Pacific and Union Pacific—beside a number of men from the towns affected.

FORTUNE FOUND IN SAFETY DEPOSIT BOX

Lincoln, Neb., Oct. 6.—When the safety deposit box of Mrs. Sadie Trump, of this city, supposed to be dependent on roomers for her living, was opened, it was found to contain $8,300 worth of securities with interest overdue and $24,012 in currency. Some of the currency was wrapped in bundles so old that the rubber bands holding it had rotted. Mrs. Trump is 80 years old and being unable to care for herself was being cared for by Mrs. Josephine Chadwick, a niece. She discovered a receipt for a safe deposit box and had the court open the box. Mrs. Chadwick has been named her guardian. The court has allowed her $30 a week for caring for her aunt and has ordered the house repaired and taxes paid.

RAILROADS CONTINUE TAXATION FIGHT.

Lincoln, Neb., Oct. 6.—State Tax Commissioner W. H. Smith has been served with notice that suits against him and several county treasurers in the state have been filed in federal court at Omaha to enjoin the commissioner and the county officials from collecting from the Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis and Omaha railroads the full amount of their 1923 tax assessments.

The tax assessments were made by the state board of equalization last year. The 1923 assessments are the same for both roads as those of last year, it was said and the roads now have a case in court for reduction of the amount of the 1923 tax.

SHOWS WHERE TAXES OF THE STATE WERE SPENT

Lincoln, Neb., Oct. 6. (Special)—Nebraska property owners paid a total of $68,718,000 in taxes last year. Of this amount 15 millions, or 22.1 per cent went to the support of the federal government, not counting the unknown amounts that were included in the price of automobiles and other goods made in other states where the tax on them is paid. Over $7,000,000 or 10.6 per cent went for state taxes, 10,000,000 or 14.3 per cent for counties, $24,000,000 or 35.3 per cent support of schools, $5,000,000 for cities and villages, or 7.3 per cent. Township and miscellaneous taxes totalling $4,000,000, or 5.8 per cent made up the remainder.

TO PAY SIX CENTS FOR CORN HUSKING

Bloomfield, Neb., Oct. 6. (Special)—Six cents per bushel for picking corn was the agreement reached at the meeting of farmers held at the city hall Monday evening. With the price of new corn to start at about 56c per bushel, it was the general sentiment that 6c was as much as could be paid. This includes board.

TWO DEAD IN FARM TRAGEDY

One Man Shot To Death and Other Dies Result of Excitement

Hemigford, Neb., Oct. 6.—Fred A. Ward, tenant on the farm of W. H. Keister, several miles from here, was shot and killed Friday morning by Lee Master, a road grader.

Ward was milking in the cattle yard when Master, it is alleged, fired three shots into his body from behind.

Master, it is reported, then turned the weapon on himself, inflicting wounds that are expected to cause his death.

Keister, owner of the farm, attempted to carry the body of Ward into the house, and collapsed as a result of excitement, dying a short time after the shooting.

Hemigford is in Box Butte county, Nebraska, just south of Chadron and about 250 miles due west of Sioux City.

PUTS PRICE ON BANDIT'S HEADS

Farmer Who Was Relieved of Cash in Bold Manner is Willing to Pay

Beatrice, Neb., Oct. 6. (Special)—Thomas D. Dorn, Logan Center farmer who was forced by three robbers to give up his money Wednesday when they compelled his two sons, Thomas and Hiram, to act as shields, has announced he will give $500 reward for the capture of the holdups.

Entering the farm yard he tried to force the hands of the two boys and then marched them to the farm house. When the father appeared, the robbers used the sons' bodies as a protection, thus forcing the father to withhold his fire. The robbers escaped in a car.

Mr. Dorn says he will split the reward into $200 for the capture of each robber, or $500 in all.

NO COAL FOR OLD SOLDIER IN COTTAGE

Lincoln, Neb., Oct. 6. (Special)—The state board of control is standing pat. It will furnish rations to those old soldiers who remain in the cottages when there is a welcome and a place waiting for them in the main building, but it will not furnish coal. Governor Bryan suggested to the board that it ought to continue the heating of the cottages, but the board says that the governor and the legislature did not allow it enough money to do unnecessary things, and that it can save $1,500 by refusing to heat the cottages when the main building is heated for their use.

ASKS REVERSAL OF JUDGMENT HE PAID.

Lincoln, Neb., Oct. 6. (Special)—Henry Stratman of Cuming county was in an odd situation when he appeared, by attorneys, in supreme court, to ask for the reversal of a judgment obtained in the lower court by Ernest Questner on promissory notes, which judgment, it developed he had paid. Questner's attorney said this made the appeal a nullity. It appeared that Stratman had to pay the judgment in order to clear up the record before he could get a mortgage on his farm renewed. He insisted that under such circumstances he had a right to litigate whether Questner should not repay him.

OBJECTS TO PAYING SUPPORT TO WIFE.

Lincoln, Neb., Oct. 6. (Special)—Oscar Kivett, farmer Webster county, presented vigorous objections to the supreme court as to why the support of his wife and their child should not be revoked. Kivett said that his wife had brought suit for divorce against him on the ground of cruelty and that he had secured a judgment denying the divorce. She then kidnaped their child, and while his attorney was out of town secured an order from the court for these monthly payments. He says that his home has always been open for his wife's return, and that she knows this. He insists that the place of a wife is in her home and that the courts ought not to compel a husband to support her outside of that home when there is no legal cause for her being absent from it.

FORMER NEBRASKA WOMAN GIVEN $7,800.

Omaha, Neb., Oct. 6.—Mrs. Iday Seymour, formerly of Bennington, Neb., has been awarded a verdict for $7,800 by a district court jury in her suit for alienation of her husband's affections against Mrs. Mary Hadan, of Wilkes, Idaho.

MAKES COMPARISON OF THE LEVIES.

Lincoln, Neb., Oct. 6. (Special)—State Tax Commissioner Smith has completed showing the amount of state taxes levied each year from 1867 to and including 1923. The total in 1867 was $100,576 and the total for the present year was $6,397,433. The tabulation shows slight decreases occasionally, but the increase was gradual until the world war, when it nearly doubled in one year and continued to soar until 1922, when it dropped materially. Another slight decrease was shown this year.

DOCTORS WANTED TO OPERATE

Mrs. Quillon Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Saved Her from an Operation

Muskegon, Michigan.—"After doctoring for eight or nine years with different physicians without any relief at all, they said at last that medicine would not reach my case and I should have an operation. I had heard of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and often saw it advertised in different papers where some women had suffered just as I did and got well and strong again by taking the Vegetable Compound. I decided to see what it would do for me, and before I had finished the fourth bottle I was much better, the weakness stopped and the severe pains in my sides left me. I am now much stronger and do my own work and work in the factory besides. I am still taking the Vegetable Compound and give it all the praise."—Mrs. NELLIE QUILLON, 17 Morris St., Muskegon, Mich.

Women should heed such warning symptoms as bearing-down pains and weakness, for they indicate some female trouble, and a persistent and faithful use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will seldom fail to help.
