Mrs. Mary Muller returned from a short visit at Sioux City.

Mrs. E. J. Rockefeller, of Tilden, is the guest of her daughter, Mrs. Phil Zeiner.

Edward Eager returned Tuesday morning from a visit at Arlington and Louisville, Nebraska.

George A. Miles was called to Harlan, Iowa, Wednesday of last week by the serious illness of a sister.

P. J. McManus and Ambrose Slattery returned Monday evening from a short trip to Winner, where they were looking after their extensive land holdings.

Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Dovrak, of Spencer, spent Thanksgiving at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Valla south of town. They returned to their home Sunday.

A daughter, Miss Mary Constance, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Max Golden, last Thursday, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. D. McMillian in this city. Grandpa T. V. Golden is quite elated over the young lady as she is the first granddaughter in the family.

A very nice program was given last Friday evening, November 23d, by Miss Lucille Hough and pupils, in school district No. 157. The box social which followed was very successful and Jerry Dusatko played his part well as an auctioneer, and made the boxes bring enough to more than pay for the organ, which was purchased for the school. This was the first program in this district for several years.

The peace and quiet of the checker club was broken a few nights ago when A. M. Voss, of Lincoln, met L. C. Chapman in a series of games before the large gallery of onlookers. Mr. Chapman has met Mr. Voss several times during the past year and has always maintained the honor of the club, not allowing the Lincoln man to get away with the bacon. The recent series terminated with two wins each and six draws. Those who witnessed the session say that Mr. Chapman should have won the series but lost one of the games purely upon an oversight.

Simonson post of the American Legion installed its new officers Tuesday evening with a banquet and get together meeting at the Hotel Golden. About forty members of the Legion, with several visitors from abroad and other guests participated in the festivities, which were presided over by the new commander, George Harrington. The menu was a most delightful one and the music by Mr. and Mrs. Ted Cooper added much to the enjoyment of the occasion. After the eats short informal talks were made by Donald Mapes, of Norfolk, Thomas Keenan, of Geneva, Past Commander Cecil W. Conklin, Past Adjutant Hugh Birmingham, J. D. Cronin, John Lansworth, Jack Higgins and Adjutant Fred W. Rose, and then a general gabfest was indulged in. The gathering was first of a series to be held this winter.

Chester Morgan and Floyd Barnhill, of O'Neill, and McKinley G. Dennis, R. C. Carroll and Ward Hatcher, of Lincoln, were sentenced to ten years in the penitentiary, each, at hard labor, Wednesday of last week by District Judge Morning, of Lincoln, for holding up a street car conductor for that city the Sunday night previous. The five young men were apprehended at Fremont several days after the robbery and taken back to Lincoln, where they confessed. Chester Morgan, who was the driver of the Ford car from which the bandits staged the hold up, seems to have been the dupe of the other men and to have counseled

PADDOCK CORNHUSKERS ISSUE DEFY TO REST OF HOLT COUNTY

Corn huskers who think they can shuck corn in championship quantities are invited to meet Joe Martin and Harry Lansworth, of Paddock township. The friends of the two gentlemen named have been reading in the papers about the championship claims of several huskers in the county and have authorized the sporting department of this great family and religious journal to issue a challenge to Holt county in general, offering to bet the sum of $25 that either Mr. Martin or Mr. Lansworth can husk and crib more corn in a day than any other man in Holt county. Also a bet of $50 that the two gentlemen can husk and crib more corn than any other two men in the county. Paddock township also claims the husking champion threesome in James Crawley, Jr., W. J. Langon and John Langon, Jr. The three, recently, working in 10-bushel corn, which had been hauled out, husked and cribbed 375 bushels of corn in exactly six hours. Any other three men in the county, Joe Martin and Harry Lansworth, can make $75 by defeating them in a contest.

Mr. Connolly:—We have had our agents getting information as to the prospects of oil and gas on your farm. Things look very promising. Would you consider an offer of $500 an acre. If so let us know at once.
