Remove Spots on Ceiling

Rain spots on the ceiling can be removed with a little unslaked lime dissolved in alcohol, says Popular Science Monthly. The lime is thoroughly shaken up with the alcohol until it crumbles into a fine powder. The mixture is then brushed over the spot. When dry the ceiling can be painted.

Here and There London has 60 electric light and power companies competing for the business of the largest city in the world. Chicago, with less pepulation than London, has massed production and one company in the former city generates and sells twice as much electricity as London's 60 companies. Chicago's per capita consumption is six times that of London, and the price of current in Chicago is only a triffe more than half of the cost of London's electricity.

CONGRESS GETS BILLS

Would Prevent Floods, Irrigate Arid Lands and Supply Boundless Power

Washington, Mar. 10 .- The linking up of Muscle Shoals, Boulder Canyon and the Colorado river in a great public superpower system, functioning under government control, to produce and sell electricity. fertilizer and nitrates for explosives on a cost basis, and conservation and use of the nation's resources are the aims of a bill introduced today in the Senate by Senator Norris, rejulican, Nebraska, and in the House by Representative Keller, republican, Minnesota.

Creation of a federal non-political public service commission to cooperate with the various states. municipalities, districts and other political subdivisions in the development of the system, with its members appointed by the president, subject to approval of the Senate, is contemplated under the measure. The duties and function of the present Federal Power Commission will be assumed by the proposed public service commission. Its first duty would be to make a comprehensive power survey of the resources of the nation and determine the most economical and efficient means of developing the superpower system.

A bond issue of $500,000,000 as a revolving fund to carry on the initfal work and development would be authorized Meanwhile, the "eleven existing government owned hydroelectric power plants on the irrigation projects in the west and the government owned project at Muscle Shoals constituted the nucleus of a public superpower system already to hand" a statement from the office of Representative Keller declares.

"And here by the way, is a new and vital reason why Muscle Shoals should not be allowed to slip out of the hands of the government or bartered away," the statement continues. "It is tremendously important as one of the first units in the public superpower system. Besides these power resources already in the government's hands, there are 2,318 municipally owned electric power "ints in the United States which will fit in most advantageously as units of the public superpower system.

"Heretofore, congress has appropriated vast sums of money for flood protection without any thought of ever getting it back. This bill will involve an investment, every cent of which and more will come back to the government. The same dam that protects the Imperial Valley from flood will irrigate a million acres of desert land at the same time, if properly constructed, will produce power enough to sell at low cost to the cities and communities adjoining to pay back every cent the government invests in not more than 30 years. Similarly, the same power from the other great projects whether for irrigation, navigation or flood control, may be made to pay back the entire cost of develop-

Declaring that only the government can "cut the cost of production to the bone," the statement gives a., reasons:

1-"The government can borrow the capital for from 4 to 5 per cent. while the private companies pay 6 to 8. That alone on $500,000,000 means a saving of $10,000,000 a year to cut the cost of current.

2-"The government amortizes the capital account so that in 25 or 30 years it is all paid off. That means ultimately this system, on the basis of $500,000,000 at 5 per cent, would save $25,000.000 and the cost of electric service could thus be cut accordingly."

The Norris-Keller bill is declared to be "the outgrowth of the work of the Public Ownership league of America, in co-operation with Senators Norris, Dill, Frazier, Howell, La Follette and others in the Senate, and Congressmen Keller, Swing, Wefald. La Guardia, Sinclair and others in the House.'

LITTLE HOPE IS HELDFOROTHER ENTOMBED MEN

Helmeted Rescue Crews Continue Search of Pits Throughout Night

DEAD IDENTIFIED

Govrnor Asks Aid for Families of Victims-Compensation Promised

Salt Lake City, March 10 .- The clogged Castle Gate mine of the Utah Fuel company, where last Saturday morning a series of explosions entombed 178 miners who had just started their day's labous, Monday morning began to give up its toll of victims. By ones and twos from early dawn until dusk the bodies were carried out-for none were found to be living of the men who went to work, and there is scent hope that any who are found when the inner chambers are finally reached will be taken out alive.

At 4 o'clock Monday night 51 bod ies had been taken from the mine. There appeared to be no hope that any would be found alive in the interior. Thirty-nine of the hodies have been identified.

Continue Search The rescue gangs will continue search without letup all through the night and the remaining dead or poseibly living victims may be reached before another sunrise.

As the bodies were carried to the morgue they were followed by walling wives and other women and kin of the dead, their loud lamentations furnishing the funeral march to the tiny house where embalmers were awaiting to prepare the bodies for burial. Some of the bereaved widows threatened to make way with themselves, others were more selfrestrained

Governor Mabey returned to Salt Lake City Monday night and Issued a proclamation calling for statewide contributions for the families of the dead miners. It is possible that out of the state aid also will be sought. Guards Patrol Scene

Guards continue to patrol the section and barricades are maintained to shut out the idle curious. Splendld order has been reported since the special police assumed direction of matters. Castle Gate's grief is, for the moment, swallowed up in the heroic efforts to assuage it possibly with a rescue, hopeless efforts, it is here, but not to women in whom hope will not die until it is killed. A survey of the Carbon County Red Cross and the Castle Gate American Legion auxiliary shows that 868 persons are left dependent by the disaster, in case none of men entombed are saved. Only rescue men wearing helmets are able to work in the mine and even then occasionally one is over-

One Japanese miner working in the main tunnel Monday removing debris was overcome, but was resuscitated. All of the rescue men who were overcome Saturday and Sunday have recovered and the greater proportion of them are now working in rescue parties again.

Bereavement over losses in the Castle Gate diaster strikes at the heart of families all over the state. As the names of men caught in a living grave in the mine workings became known, inquiries are made from all sections.

Compensation Promised Losses strike at families not only in the more populous sections, but appear to come, in some instances, from remote corners where a head of a family or son had left the farm or ranch for employment in the Carbon county coal fields. "Full compensation under the workmen's compensation law will be paid by the Utah Fuel company," is the information that was received by W. M. Knerr, state industrial commissioner, from Commissioner McSkane, president of the commission, who is at Castle Gate.

Late Monday evening there were reports that more bodies could be seen but not reached owing to the increasing difficulties of getting into the mine as greater obstacles and water were encountered.

MAN PLANNED TO SLAY THREE

Expected to Kill Victim and Women If Operation Failed

Chicago, March 10 .- Richard Heaton, wealthy broker of Louisville, Ky., who was killed when he sought to mutilate William Gates, had intended to kill three persons in the event his operation failed.

One of these was Mrs. Heaton, the others were Gates who assumed responsibility for the slaying, and Mrs. Jennie Moore, a detective who had been employed by Heaton to shadow his wife

This was the belief expressed by Mrs. Moore Monday in revealing episodes of her own imprisonment by Heaton.

Mrs. Moore added that she believes that Mrs. Heaton knew of her husband's plan in regard to performing an operation on Gates. Mrs. Heaton, according to Mrs.

Moore, had a derringer type revolver in the drawer of her dresser, similar to the one with which gates said he had killed Heaton Saturday night. Wife Knew of Plans "From Mrs. Heaton's actions during the two weeks I was stationed as a 'guard' over her," Mrs. Moore said, "I think she knew all the time what her husband was planning to do, although I was completely in the dark about it. "I think now that he had planned, if the operation on Gates resulted fatally, to kill Mrs. Heaton and myself so we would not tell.

"Last Saturday afternoon about 5 o'clock, Mrs. Heaton apparently could not stand it any longer. She left the house and came back in 15 minutes "After she left the house I looked in a dresser drawer and saw two guns. One looked like a derringer, "She went out again soon after she returned and didn't come back. I looked in the drawer again and discovered that one of the guns was gone. It was the one that looked like a derringer."

While Mrs. Heaton was gone, the second time, her husband was shot and killed in the house a room of which he had fitted up as an operating room.

Mrs. Moore said she had been employed by Heaton to aid him in trapping an abscender and that his wife had wished to help him but that he wanted his wife "kept out of the mess." Mrs. Moore was detailed to answer the telephone and report to him what messages she had received for Mrs. Heaton. Gates had telephoned several times, she said.

During the time she was assigned to the case, Mrs. Moore said, the home was guarded by armed men.

Mrs. Moore returned to Chicago Monday where she is employed by the Turner Detective agency.
