The annual congregational meeting and supper of the Presbyterian church will be held Monday evening, March 24th, at seven o'clock. All members and friends of the church are expected to be present. Election of officers and other general business will come before the meeting.

Thirty-one friends and relatives gathered last Saturday at the home of J. U. Maring, five miles south of Emmet, in honor of the eightieth birthday anniversary of his mother, Mrs. Hanna Maring. A three course dinner was served by Mrs. J. U. Maring assisted by Mrs. Emma Maring and Mrs. John Horn. The center of the table was graced by a large eight-layer birthday cake with eighty candles. All voted a good time and wished the guest of honor many happy returns of the day.

Chas. H. Sloan for United States Senator

The following editorial recently appeared in the Wilber Republican regarding the candidacy of Hon. Charles H. Sloan for the Republican nomination for United States Senator:

We are pleased to note that Hon. Charles H. Sloan, of Geneva, has consented to stand as a candidate for the republican nomination for United States senator. Mr. Sloan combines all the qualities that make an ideal senator. He is a scholarly man, of broad vision, and is not apt to be swept off his feet by any of the fleeting fancies that are so often presented to legislators as a panacea for the ills of the people, and yet he is always ready to give open-minded consideration to every movement having for its object the advancement and well-being of his constituents.

of shots managed to knock the sleeping bird off the limb. Then, with Mr. Davis carrying the quarry, they moved on down to the other end of the grove, where another bird was located. Arriving in range Mr. Davis laid down the first bird and they both prepared to shoot. The simultaneous discharge of the two shotguns so frightened the dead crow that he flew away and as the second bird was missed the gentlemen were compelled to return to town without any crow heads.

EWING CROW HUNTERS HAVE HUNDREDS OF DEAD CROWS IN COLD STORAGE

Ewing, Neb., March 20.—Special to The Frontier.

Somewhere south of Ewing hundreds of dead crows are in cold storage, awaiting the spring thaw that their heads may be counted for the east side in the big crow hunt which ends April 30. The birds were killed in a grove, the exact location of which has not yet been determined, sometime Sunday night, by "Ev" Ruby, Bill Stanton, Coe Butler and "Dutch" Sanders. The boys came upon the crows in their rookery in the grove, after the birds had retired for the night, and at once opened up a bombardment which lasted until the supply of ammunition, amounting to 300 shells, was exhausted. Then from the four foot blanket of snow which lay beneath the trees they sorted out 110 of their kill and started back to town along about midnight. Owing to the deep drifts and the heavy roads Ewing was not reached on the return trip until noon of Monday and the hunters had to stop several times along the route to borrow gas. If the boys can find the grove again, which they believe to be located on the John Berrigan ranch, they are confident that enough more dead crows can be recovered to win the crow shoot for eastern Holt. The hunters turned in their 110 crow heads to J. N. Trommershauser, who will have charge of them until the official count is made.

APPORTIONMENT ANNOUNCED FOR REPUBLICAN CON- VENTION TO BE HELD MAY 1

Holt county is entitled to thirteen delegates in the republican state convention to be held in Lincoln, beginning at 12 o'clock noon, Thursday, May 1. In the call issued by State Chairman E. B. Perry, Saturday the representation is fixed at one delegate for each 250 or major fraction thereof of the vote cast for Warren G. Harding for president in 1920. This will provide a total of 994 delegates for the convention. The call states that members of county central committees must be selected at the several delegate county conventions and their names reported immediately thereafter to the secretary of the state committee. Credentials of delegates to the state convention are requested to be filed with T. W. Bess, secretary of the state central committee at least five days before the date of the state convention.

A PROCLAMATION BY THE GOVERNOR

A cry of distress comes to the American people from over the sea—not from hundreds but from thousands, even millions of innocent children are perishing for want of food in Germany. They are asking for bread. Many of our leading American men and women have been there and truthfully represented conditions as appalling.

Our American people have always been responsive to the cry for help and will not be "found wanting" at this time. In conjunction with the national campaign for relief of the German children an Omaha Committee has been organized with Frank B. Johnson, Chairman. A number of leading men are on the committee, among them James C. Dahlman Mayor, W. W. Head, Ford E. Hovey, N. B. Updike, Carl R. Gray, and F. W. Judson.

In order that a general notice be given and an opportunity to do effective work I would request that the various communities organize themselves into individual groups to collect funds for the purpose herein indicated. The campaign will officially close in March 22nd. What is done should be done quickly. The children are starving and delay will be fatal to scores that are ready to perish. Funds may be sent to Fred W. Thomas, Vice-President of the First National Bank, Omaha, Nebraska, who is Treasurer of the Campaign.

Given under my hand and Seal this 12th day of March, A. D., One Thousand Nine Hundred and Twenty-four.

CHARLES W. BRYAN,
Governor.

Origin of the Dollar.
The dollar was introduced into America by the West India trade before the Revolution. The coinage act of the 2nd of April, 1792, legalized it and established it as a unit of American currency. The inconvenience of the English system of money led congress in 1781 to instruct Robert Morris to devise a system of national coinage. His suggestions were not adopted, but those proposed by Jefferson were approved. He proposed the dollar as a unit to be equivalent to one hundred cents.

Who Pays Taxes

EVERYBODY PAYS TAXES!

One may not own land, or a house or a business but one living a normal life lives in a house and follows some occupation.

He who owns a house pays taxes direct. He who rents a house pays taxes indirectly through the owner.

An increase in taxes on real estate causes an increase in rents.

An increase in taxes paid by the manufacturer causes an increase in the price of manufactured articles.

The railroads pay taxes direct to the state and national governments amounting to about 5½ cents out of each dollar earned.

The railroads pay their employees wages out of which the employees pay taxes both direct and indirect.

The railroads buy material from the manufacturers who pay taxes both direct and indirect.

Economists have figured out that one dollar in every eight of the nation's income is paid as taxes.

The indirect taxes are approximately equal to the direct taxes.

The direct taxes paid by the railroads plus the direct taxes paid by their employees together with the indirect taxes paid by both, are equivalent to considerable more than one-eighth of the railway operating revenues.

It would be more nearly correct to say that out of every dollar paid the railroads for transportation, twenty cents, or more, eventually finds its way through the various channels of taxation into the coffers of the government, national, state and municipal.
