MEMORIAL DAY

OBSERVED IN O'NEILL

Decoration day was duly observed in O'Neill this year by appropriate exercises at the K. C. opera house Friday afternoon under the auspices of the American Legion and Auxiliary.

The line of march began at the American Legion headquarters; headed by the O'Neill Concert band the procession composed of American Legion, Auxiliary members, soldiers of the different wars and flower girls marched to the K. C. opera house where the program was held.

George Harrington commander of Simonson Post American Legion presided over the assembly and made a very interesting talk in introducing Hon. T. V. Golden, who very kindly consented to make the address of the day on short notice, owing to the fact that Hon. J. W. Rice, of Norfolk, was unable to appear here as advertised. Mr. Golden delivered a very appropriate and interesting address, paying tribute to the worthy sons who gave their lives for their country and to those who were permitted to return from the various conflicts of war to which this country has been subjected.

"AIN'T NATURE WONDERFUL"

(By Uncle Pete in Omaha Bee.)

O'Neill, Neb., June 1.—Chief Game Warden George Koster will have to notify his carp to quit trespassing upon the stock and feed yards of Beaver Flats or the chamber of commerce of the flats may ask the fish and game department to reimburse members for large quantities of corn the hyphenated fish have been stealing from the yards.

Cattle and hog feeding is carried on on a large scale in the Beaver Flats yards, that are located along the Calamas bottoms, which incidentally are in the famous flowing well and lake district of the state.

Owing to the heavy snows in the Wyoming mountains last winter and the consequent raising of the water table this spring portions of the stock yards are flooded with seepage water which trickles on down to the river. The first carp ever seen in the Calamas made their appearance this spring and they are supposed to be part of a bunch which went astray when the immense carp immigration from Goose lake to Swan lake through the snow drifted valleys took place last winter.

The herd which became divided from the main body last were tracked a considerable distance through the snow and then were headed in the direction of the river.

The carp, which are inordinately fond of corn early discovered the entrance through the drainage ditch from the river to the stock yards and began swimming into the latter to devour the corn left on the low ground by the cattle and hogs. Some of the wiser ones soon discovered that the best corn lay upon the higher portions of the yard and solved the problem of getting at it by rooting canals to the richer bases of supplies.

Stock feeders paid no attention to the big-scaled fish as long as they confined themselves to devouring the corn left by the fattening animals, but when the more pugnacious members of the finny aggregation began to frighten the timid range cattle from their meals by splashing mud in the eyes of the latter with their tails forbearance ceased to be a virtue and war has been declared.

THOMAS WALDRON MEETS BROTHER HE HAD NOT SEEN FOR FIFTY YEARS

Thomas Waldron of this city, while attending the funeral services of his sister, Mrs. George Duman, in Sioux City, on Monday of last week, met his brother, Martin Waldron, of Chicago, whom he had not seen since leaving home over fifty years ago. Thomas, at that time was only ten years of age. He first went to England where he resided until the spring of 1877 when he came to America and to O'Neill. His brother did not come to America for some years later and as they have been located in widely separated parts of the country they did not visit each other.

PROFESSOR SUHR'S FATHER DIES AT HIS HOME IN LINCOLN, NEBRASKA

The Lincoln Star of Wednesday contained the following account of the death of Hans Suhr, father of Professor E. H. Suhr, of this city, at his home in Lincoln that morning:

"Hans Suhr, 72, formerly a prominent Iowa lumber dealer, died at his home, 519 South Twenty-seventh street, at 9 o'clock Wednesday morning. Death was due to paralysis.

"Mr. Suhr came to Lincoln ten years ago from Westside, Iowa, where he had been engaged in the lumber business, so that his children might attend the University of Nebraska.

He was born in Germany and came to the United States in 1870.

There are nine children living. They are: J. C. Suhr, Omaha; William Suhr, Grand Island; Anna Suhr, Lincoln; E. H. Suhr, O'Neill; Laura Suhr, a missionary in India; Mrs. Marvin Hurd, Berkeley, Cal.; Mrs. J. C. Tyler, Fallsade, Nev.; Emma Suhr, Sioux City, and Henry Suhr, Kansas City.

PROWLERS ARE BUSY DOWN AT ORCHARD

(Orchard News, May 30.)

There seems to be a prowler or a number of them working the west part of town the last few nights. He has been seen throwing a flash light into windows, and prowling about houses at late hours. On one occasion this week Jas. Withee was awakened by
