

HEADACHES GONE TIRED NO MORE

Gives Credit to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Hopes Other Women Will Benefit by Her Experience

Skowhegan, Me.—"I was sick most of the time and could not get around to do my work without being all tired out so I would have to lie down. One day when I was reading the paper I saw the Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advertisement and saw what it did for other women, so I thought I would try it. I have taken three bottles, and cannot begin to tell you what it has already done for me. I do all my work now and keep up the whole day long without lying down. I have no more headaches nor tired feelings. I hope every woman who takes the Vegetable Compound will get as much benefit out of it as I have."
—Mrs. PERCY W. RICHARDSON, R. F. D. No. 2, Skowhegan, Maine.

You have just read how Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound helped Mrs. Richardson. She gave it a trial after she saw what it had done for other women. For nearly fifty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been thus praised by women. For sale by druggists everywhere.

Whale Meat as Food

Whaling has now been established on a scientific basis by the Norwegian industry. After years of extravagant killing when nothing but the blubber was utilized, whales are now being utilized completely, boneless whale meat being an important product.

It was considered necessary last year to grant whaling permits under concessions covering all Norwegian waters, in order to prevent undue competition and to insure the best utilization of the whale. Fresh whale meat compares favorably with other meats, according to scientific tests conducted by Christiania university.

The Same Old Backache!

Does every day bring the same old backache? Do you drag along with your back a dull, unceasing ache? Evening find you "all played out"? Don't be discouraged! Realize it is merely a sign you haven't taken good care of yourself. This has probably strained your kidneys. Take things easier for a while and help your kidneys with Doan's Pills—a stimulant diuretic to the kidneys. Doan's have helped thousands and should help you. Ask your neighbor!

A South Dakota Case

John E. Anderson, retired farmer, 117 S. Pleasant St., Canton, S. D., says: "My kidneys caused a great deal of suffering. My back ached so I could hardly bend or stoop and it was just as hard to straighten. My kidneys acted irregularly, too. Doan's Pills rid me of the backaches and strengthened my kidneys. I use Doan's once in a while to keep my kidneys in good order."

MASTER MINDS TRY TO SMOOTH G. O. P. SQUABBLE

Czarism Methods of Butler Roils Old Timers in Party

BY PHILLIP A. ORME,
Universal Service Correspondent.

Washington, June 15.—A redrawing of the republican party alignment was actively under way Sunday afternoon on the presidential yacht Mayflower. In conference with Frank W. Mondell, permanent chairman of the G. O. P. convention at Cleveland and Senator Smoot of Utah, skilled politicians, President Coolidge attempted to solve the problem of reconciliation between the "old guard," the new idea and the Butler regime.

The Mayflower cruise, a weekly affair, gains real importance this week end as a preliminary step in healing the well established schism between William M. Butler, chairman of the new republican national committee and Coolidge's campaign manager, C. Bascom Slem, the president's secretary, the old timers, as instanced by Senator Watson of Indiana, and the more or less conservative farm group which caused on a vice presidential nominee in Cleveland.

Old Timers Offended.

Mondell and Smoot are well aware that Butler's czarism must be ended if any semblance of party solidarity is to be brought about. The president's manager, now busily arranging western headquarters in Chicago, succeeded during his brief stay in Cleveland, in offending the old line republicans, the farm belt delegates and Secretary Slem, a most astute politician, and now admittedly the man who should have had Butler's place.

Mondell's counsels will be of value in giving the president the "low down" on the scenes behind the convention. Smoot, a seasoned hand in such affairs, described just what may be expected from the west as a result of Charles G. Dawes' nomination as Coolidge's running mate. During the coming week, the first in which Coolidge's captains will have a chance to start "selling" him to the country, all dissatisfaction and enmity must be assuaged so far as is possible.

Watson in Revolt.

"Jim" Watson, the present mouthpiece of the "old guard," was in open revolt against Butler after the first day of the convention, and this was the sole reason he had himself put up for the vice presidential nomination. Slem was so disgusted with Butler's unyielding attitude in selecting a nominee that he inveighed against him in forceful language after the ballot in which it was shown Representative Burton of Ohio, could not get sufficient votes to win for nomination. Slem left hastily for Washington as soon as he and others had put over the Dawes nomination.

The farm group is particularly disgruntled. Representatives of 15 states held a caucus in Cleveland and put forth the names of 10 men who might be acceptable for the vice presidential choice. They were summoned to Butler's hotel suite, presumably to present their views. Once there, they were told that President Coolidge's choice was Senator Borah of Idaho, and it was strongly intimated that they should endorse him.

Scheme Shattered.

That Butler scheme was shattered the same night when Borah, in no uncertain language, made it known he had no idea of accepting the empty honor of second place on the ticket. The farm group felt they had been tricked and robbed of united force in the voting for a vice presidential nominee next day.

As regards the labor and soldier vote, the party steers are resigned to whatever losses may be sustained at the polls. Just before the vote which put Dawes over, Senator Pepper of Pennsylvania, consulting with delegation leaders from Massachusetts, New York and Ohio answered the anxious query: "Won't Dawes lose us all the labor votes?" By saying: "We've lost labor anyhow. There's no use in making any bones of that."

The soldier's vote, it is felt, will be fairly safe. The republican heads argue it this way:

"It was a nominally republican congress which put over the adjusted compensation bill.

"Coolidge vetoed it, truly, but then Coolidge is the head of the party which gave the veterans their just due. They will vote for the representative of the political divisor who voted in their interests."

LAWYER DEFIES KLAN THREATS

District Attorney Warned to Drop Cases Against Pennsylvania Klansmen

BY CHARLES B. PARMER
Universal Service Staff Correspondent

Johnstown, Pa., June 15.—The Ku Klux Klan, 14,000 strong in Cambria county, has threatened to kill District Attorney D. P. Welmer of Cambria county if he brings another klansman to trial on charges of murder. Said the district attorney with a shrug of his thin shoulders:

"Sure, I've received those threats, but—"

Walking to a window of his office, he gazed for a moment out toward a spur of the Alleghenies, then stroking back his heavy graying hair, he continued:

"Over in that jail at Ebensburg there now are 17 more of that klans group, all facing three murder charges each, as a result of that riot at Lilly, April 5, when three men were killed."

"Each one of those men is going to be brought to trial. And the thirteen residents of Lilly who face the same charges—they're going to be tried, too. Of course, I've been threatened, but—who worries about such things? The trials go on Monday. We'll try a Lilly resident, William Monahan, I guess, and then another klansman. These trials don't stop for mere threats. Why worry about threats?"

But if the district attorney isn't worrying, others are. A section of the Metropolitan hotel in Ebensburg has been turned into a barracks for state troopers who have been assigned to maintain law and order during the trial.

These latest threats against Welmer are understood to have been caused by that officials determination to try Sam Evans again on two other charges of murder. On Saturday Evans, a stalwart and militant klansman, was found not guilty of murdering Frank Miasco.

Charge d' Affaires Defies Orders of Mexican Government to Quit

Universal Service.

Mexico City, June 15.—H. A. Cunard Cummins, British charge d' affaires under a government expulsion order, still was ensconced in the legation Sunday evening. He told members of the diplomatic corps he had no intention of leaving until he receives such instructions from his government.

For the first time since he barricaded himself to defeat the expulsion order, he ran up the British flag over the legation Sunday. Meanwhile secret police still surround the refuge, hoping that lack of food will force Cummins to surrender so they may escort him to Vera Cruz. He has been denied use of the telephone and telegraph and all other communication except with the diplomatic corps.

Consul General Dawson was stopped Sunday when he attempted to enter the legation with supplies. He was informed that only diplomats might enter and that he was without diplomatic status. British friends of Cummins assert he is supplied with canned goods and supplies enough for several days.

This little, slow-moving, easily-navigated airship, handled by an Army crew of five men, may prove a boon to every community.

'BILL' BRENNAN SHOT DOWN BY N. Y. GUNMEN

Well Known Pugilist Murdered in Cafe Sunday—Two Men Arrested

BY HOWARD R. BANGS,
Universal Service Correspondent.

New York, June 15.—Lured from his cabaret, the Tia Juana club, at 600 West One Hundred Seventy-first street, William (Bill) Brennan, one of only two men who ever went the route with Champion Jack Dempsey, was shot twice through the body and killed early Sunday by one or more of five men who lay in waiting.

An unkempt grey suited man, who gave his name as James Hughes, and who police believe to be a member of a West Side gun gang, is in police headquarters charged with homicide following his capture after an exciting automobile chase in upper Broadway. Hughes is the man who called Brennan into the passageway back of the cabaret, where the pugilist was shot. Arrested at the same time was Frank Rossi, an occupant of the taxi in which Hughes fled, and said to be Hughes' companion. He is a taxicab driver. Pistol Is Found.

Two shells from an automatic pistol were found near the spot where Brennan fell. A .25-caliber automatic pistol was picked up on the running board of the taxi commandeered by the fleeing Hughes.

Another man, James Cullen, a state trooper, who was one of a party of guests being entertained by Brennan, was shot through the neck as he attempted to capture the prize fighter's assailants. He is in a critical condition at Columbus hospital.

Lost in the maze of passageways at the rear of the Tia Juana club, the two men arrested, Hughes and Rossi, beat into unconsciousness Police Lieut. John Hagerty, who, hearing the shots, dashed in through the rear of the cabaret.

Brennan Called Out.

Brennan was lolling on a divan in his luxuriously appointed club, chatting with a party of friends. Among them was his sister, Shirley, an actress, known on Broadway as Shirley Sherman, and with whom Brennan lived. Hughes came in and tapped Brennan on the shoulder, saying:

"Bill, can I see you a minute?"

"Certainly," Brennan replied, and arose to follow Hughes through a heavy black curtain at the rear of the room. He seemed to know Hughes well.

Scarcely had the swish of the curtains ceased, when two shots were heard. Brennan's sister dashed for the spot and says she saw five men running down the corridor. She caught up with Hughes and attempted to detain him, but he drew a revolver and fired at her. The shots went astray and he shook the girl off and threw her to the floor.

Hughes and Rossi, in attempting to escape, became confused and were compelled to smash their way through glass doors at the end of the corridor. The other three fled through an alley.

Policeman Beaten.

The sound of the crashing glass brought Police Lieutenant Hagerty, who was in plain clothes, dashing around from the Broadway side. He grabbed both men, but was finally beaten into unconsciousness. By this time other patrolmen had arrived.

Rushing into the street, Hughes commandeered a passing taxi, and with Rossi sped up Broadway. Patrolmen in another cab gave chase and finally caught the fugitives at Broadway and One Hundred Seventy-second street.

They were questioned continuously throughout the day, but sullenly refused to tell the reasons for the shooting. It is believed that Brennan's death resulted from a dispute with bootleggers.

Brennan was 31 years old and married. He had a long and varied ring career, in which he has stood up with the best of them. He had only been knocked out twice and both times the knockout was administered by Jack Dempsey. His fight in Madison Square Garden four years ago, in which he stood up against the champion for 12 rounds, was one of the remarkable milestones in his life as a pugilist.

Boy Wizard

A thirteen-year-old boy with 14 radio sets disposed about his small person was the center of interest in a recent school playground contest in making radio sets. They were all in working order, too, says the Detroit News.

The boy was Wilbur Wetlin, and his sets were made out of such things as mother's vanity case, her powder box, a pencil and a fountain pen cap. Also serving were a penny match box, a mouse trap, an old watch case and two peanut shells. He considered the peanut set expensive, he said, for he had to buy a five-cent bag of peanuts.

Life gives you just 13 years of real health—and happiness

Average Health Span extends only from age 18 to age 31, according to United States Life Tables, 1920

Assuming that you are the average person, you will enjoy health—physical freedom and full vigor—only from age 18 to 31. This astounding fact is shown by the United States Life Tables, 1920.

Your earning power will decrease rapidly after 40. That period commonly called "the prime of life" will actually be an age of decay.

This sounds sensational. It is sensational. But it is true—and it is something to which the wise man or woman will give serious thought.

Of course, it is not natural, or right. It is the direct result of an artificial mode of life—of careless eating, sleeplessness, and stimulated nerves. Nature provides a danger signal—fatigue—to warn when the body needs rest. The person who regularly deadens the fatigue signal by the use of a drug is overriding the warning of nature.

That is what coffee does. The average cup of coffee contains 1 1/2 to 3 grains of the drug caffeine—classified as a poison. This is a dose of caffeine of the size often administered by physicians in cases of heart failure. It is a powerful stimulant. It appears to give new strength by deadening the fatigue signal. Actually, this new strength is robbed from the body's own reserve.

Coffee contains no nourishment. Its only virtues, as a beverage, are its warmth and flavor. A good, hot, drugless drink is a benefit with every meal.

Millions enjoy such a drink in Postum. A drink made of whole wheat and bran, skillfully roasted, with a little sweetening—nothing more. A drink with the rich, mellow, full-bodied flavor of this wholesome grain. Every member of the family can drink it every meal of the day, enjoy its deliciousness, crave it, knowing there isn't a sleepless hour, a headache, or a taut nerve in it.

For the sake of your years following age 31, we want you to try Postum for thirty days. You can't expect to overcome the effects of a habit of years in two or three days, or even a week. To make this a sporting proposition, we will give you a week's supply of Postum free. Enough for a cup with every meal for a week. But we want you to carry on for the full thirty days.

Carrie Blanchard, who has personally served Postum to over 500,000 people, will send you her own directions for preparing it. Indicate whether you want Instant Postum, the easiest drink in the world to prepare, or Postum Cereal, the kind you boil. Either form costs less than most other hot drinks.
