

MRS. BUSH TELLS OTHER WOMEN

How Pains in Side and Dragging Down Feelings Were Relieved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Massena, N. Y.—"I had terrible pains in both my sides and a dragging-down feeling that affected me so that I could hardly walk, and I got run-down. A friend who had taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advised me to try it and I have taken it with the best results. I do my housework and also some outdoor work on the farm. The Vegetable Compound has given me back my health and I can not praise it enough. I am perfectly willing that you should use these facts if my letter will help other women who still suffer."—Mrs. DELBERT BUSH, R. F. D. 1, Massena, N. Y.

The spirit of helpfulness shown in the letters we are constantly publishing is worthy of notice. These women know by experience what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will do. Your troubles are the same as theirs. Isn't it reasonable to expect the same results? If you have pains and a dragging-down feeling and are nervous and irritable, profit by Mrs. Bush's experience and give the Compound a trial.

Danger Pointed Out

A gilded youth went into a doctor's office for a nasal treatment, the office boasting one of those machines which spray pine balsam and other soothing medicaments. The doctor pointed out that he was very busy, but that the nurse in attendance could administer the treatment quite as well. To this the youth assented with a supercilious smile. And as the nurse was making things ready he heard the physician say to her in a loud whisper: "Now, be careful or you'll blow his brains out."

MC COY ADMITS KILLING WOMAN

Ex-fighter Said to Have Confessed to Moving Picture Actor

Universal Service
Los Angeles, Aug. 17.—A reputed confession alleged to have been made by Norman Selby, known as "Kid" McCoy that he killed a woman on the night that Mrs. Teresa Mors, wealthy antique dealer, died here at the Nottingham apartments, is in the hands of District Attorney Asa Keyes.

According to the authorities, a motion picture actor whose name is withheld, is said to have received McCoy's confession a short time after Mrs. Mors was slain last Tuesday night. The actor, the authorities said, had informed them that McCoy told him "he had killed a woman."

McCoy, according to the actor, had been drinking.

The actor's story that the county authorities have been investigating, was to the effect that he was walking east of the Nottingham apartments when he met McCoy driving a car about midnight. McCoy, the actor said, invited him for a ride and then told him he had just killed a woman he had been living with.

The actor went into the county on location the next day, leaving instructions for a woman to inform the authorities of what had taken place. The woman reported to District Attorney Keyes Saturday and since then operatives have been attempting to locate the actor.

Keyes said that he was making a thorough investigation of the reported confession, which is the second in the case. McCoy's sister, Mrs. Jennie Thomas, has already told the grand jury her brother confessed to her early Wednesday morning, "he was afraid he had killed a woman."

EXPECT 25,000 AT LINCOLN

Democrat Leaders Gather for Notification of Governor Bryan

Lincoln, Neb., Aug. 17.—(Special) Democrats of all degrees began arriving in Lincoln Sunday to participate in the ceremonies attending the notification of Governor Bryan of his nomination for the vice presidency Monday evening. High lights of the party, including Senator Pat Harrison, who will make the notification speech; National Chairman Clem Shaver, W. J. Bryan, Governor Davis of Kansas and former Governor Sanders of Louisiana are expected to reach here Monday morning.

Prominent democrats from every section of the state, it was said, will be present, and Chairman Lord, of the local committee, made an estimate of an attendance of 25,000. The exercises will be held in the University of Nebraska stadium, capable of seating nearly 40,000.

Aside from the formal notification speeches, which will of course have a partisan flavor, the observance is intended to be as free from party politics as possible, many republicans being on the reception committee and otherwise assisting in welcoming and entertaining the visitors. During the afternoon political managers plan to hold conferences in connection with the campaign.

The chances for the completion of the world flight now necessarily diminish hourly. The fliers must be out the region of Greenland within 24 days or weather conditions will surely compel the calling off of the flight.

In the meantime the navy is having the real hardships of the flight. Ten crack ships of the line, carrying over 2,000 men, have been waiting for a month on the fliers. Two of the four ships on this leg of the flight from Iceland to Greenland are having serious trouble with the weather.

Famous Woman Explorer To Study Babies of Africa

Universal Service
New York, Aug. 17.—Mrs. Della J. Akeley, explorer and big game hunter, is going into the wilds of Africa again.

But this time for the "little game"—the babies of Africa.

"I am going to study baby life there," said Mrs. Akeley. "The last time I was on the dark continent I became very much interested in the women and children of the country. I will live with them, as one of them. When I get back, I am going to talk to the children of my own country about their African brothers and sisters."

Mrs. Akeley is being sent by the Brooklyn museum.

ILL HEALTH CAUSES MAN TO TAKE OWN LIFE

Lead, S. D., Aug. 18.—The lifeless body of John Sulentic, 46 years old, married, found suspended by baling wire to a tree on the hillside south of town Thursday afternoon by Eleanor Landis, 19 years old, had been dead but a few hours, according to the coroner. He was born in Austria and had worked for seven years for the Homestake Mining company. Ill health is assigned as the reason for the act.

She will have a studio in the new administration building and will instruct in oil painting, water colors, crayon work, china decorating and fancy work.

When It Comes to Propaganda Turkey Has All Western Nations Distanced

By Edward Hale Bierstadt, in the Christian Herald.
Turkey has evolved the best means of concealing truth and spreading untruth that has ever been utilized. She makes her friends work for her.

So far as can be ascertained the direct propaganda in which Turkey indulges is comparatively small. There is much talk of a big propaganda bureau in the United States equipped with a large sum of money. This may or may not be true, but in any event it matters very little. The real gist of the problem is that there are various sets of interests to whose advantage it is to play in with Turkey, and it is these interests which, consciously and unconsciously, do her propaganda work for her.

The governments of the powers much prefer not to have the public behind them know the truth about Turkey, because if they did the governments would be unable to sign friendly treaties with her, and might indeed be forced through public opinion to take direct and aggressive action against her. The economic interests are entirely willing to pull Turkish chestnuts out of the fire, because it is obviously to their advantage to keep the good-will of the Turkish Nationalist government. Otherwise they can not do business in Asia Minor. Besides these, there are certain representatives of our philanthropic interests who feel that they likewise must conceal the truth because if they made it public the Turk would drive them out of Anatolia. Among all these factors the issue becomes hopelessly obscured, and misconceptions flourish.

There is much talk today about the "new" Turkey. We are asked to believe that the leopard has changed his spots overnight; that the harem system has been practically abandoned; that the Turkish women have discarded the veil and take an active part in political affairs; that the Nationalist government is democratic to a degree, resting on the pure will and consent of the people; and much more to the same point. The actual fact is that these things are all a part of the Turkish system of propaganda.

The Turk is as he has always been. Even with the "intellectuals" the reform is simply a mask. These Turks are the identical people who directed the extermination of the Christian minorities just a few short months ago.

Turkey has been "reforming" for six hundred years, but she has reformed only from the teeth out. She has dealt invariably in fair words and promises, and never in deeds. The young Turks promised all manner of fine things in 1908, and tried hard to convince the world of the moral regeneration of Turkey, but within a year there were massacres, and a deliberate policy of extermination was adopted toward the Christian minorities; that policy has culminated under the new Turkish Nationalist government. Now we have more promises, more reforms; Turkey is suddenly what she has never been in all history—but shall we believe her? Actually there is not one grain of real evidence to support Turkey's contention that she has turned over a new leaf. All her history from 1300 to 1923 is absolutely consistent in the promise of reform, and in the failure to bring it about. To take Turkish statements today at their face value betokens either a fatuous credulity or a desire to believe what is known to be untrue.

The ultimate settlement of the Near Eastern problem rests on our ability to see through the clever Turkish camouflage to the hidden truth beneath. When once that truth is seen and appreciated it can and must be dealt with. And when that day comes Turkey will truly reform because she will be given no opportunity to do otherwise.

Irving Fisher's Weekly Index

New Haven, Conn., Aug. 17.—Last week's wholesale prices of 200 representative commodities averaged 148.5 per cent. of the prewar level according to Prof. Irving Fisher's weekly index number. The purchasing price of the dollar is 67.4 per cent, this week's index number shows.

Both the commodity and the purchasing power of the dollar are relative to the prewar period of 1913. Thus the "low" prices in January, 1922, for instance, exceeded prewar prices on the average by 28 per cent, that is the dollar was worth 72.5 prewar cents.

A summary of conditions follows:

Index Purchasing Number	Power
1913 (Urewar)	100.00
1920 (Peak)	40.5
1922 (Low)	72.5
1923 average	68.4
Second quarter, 1924	69.1
Average for July	145.2

(Mr. Fisher is a noted professor at Yale university. His weekly index is appearing exclusively in Sioux City in The Tribune every Monday. It is the only weekly index of general prices in the world.)

Costs $40 a Day to Feed His Family

Aristides Mendes, former Portuguese consul-general in California, is visiting in Boston with his wife and their 10 children, all of whom are less than 14 years old. It costs him $40 a day to feed his brood, but he is happy, and he can afford to be, for he is a millionaire several times over. He is an advocate of large families and a Roosevelt opponent of race suicide.

Indian Office Works to Eradicate Disease

The recent trip made by Secretary Work and Indian Commissioner Burke to survey health conditions among the southwestern Indians has produced definite results. A crusade to eradicate trachoma among the Indians of New Mexico and Arizona was inaugurated on July 1, under the direction of a special physician of the Indian office, assisted by surgeons of the United States public health service.

Indian school buildings will be used as temporary trachoma hospitals during vacation period, according to Indian Truth. Three operating units will be maintained in the field, each headed by a special physician with a corps of Indian employees sufficient to carry on the work of examining and treating efficiently and expeditiously Indian patients suffering with trachoma.

Similar groups of medical experts will be organized later by the bureau of Indian affairs in an endeavor to eradicate trachoma on any other reservations where that disease exists.

Paris After Dinner

Establishment of an after-dinner express at 100 miles an hour between London and Paris is now being planned by the Imperial Airways, Ltd. This will enable business men to dine after a week's work in London and get to Paris at bedtime. A service of big planes with comfortable sleeping berths, traveling at night between London and distant European capitals, also is planned by the company.

Cougar Attacks Man

An attack by a cougar, one of very few on record, has been reported from the Olympic National forest, western Washington, by Glen Merchant, a former forest guard, says an Associated Press dispatch from Olympia, Wash.

Mr. Merchant said the cougar sprang from some brush and tore off a trouser leg and severely scratched him. He hit the cougar on the nose with a fishing rod, and ran. The beast did not follow.
