

SEVERAL LIVES LOST IN STORM; DAMAGE HEAVY

Tornadoes Sweep Minnesota and Wisconsin—Lake Region Warned

Chicago, Sept. 21.—Minnesota and Wisconsin were struck by a storm Sunday. A number of lives are reported lost and property damage has been heavy.

The storm followed in the wake of a hot wave that sent the temperature to 90 degrees in Chicago shortly after noon, a record for this season of the year. After the storm there was a sudden drop in temperature and frost was predicted for states in the northwest.

The path of the storm was through central Minnesota and northern Wisconsin.

Near Eau Claire, a tornado wrecked a score of farm buildings. It was in this district that first loss of life was reported. A farmer and his wife and daughter, driving in an automobile were injured when the machine was carried high in the air by a tornado and crashed to earth. A 16-year old girl and a 70 year old man were killed near Thorpe.

Damage Near LaCrosse

A dispatch from LaCrosse, Wis., on the Mississippi river, told of heavy damage in that district when a tornado crossed from the Minnesota shore. The street railway power house was practically wrecked and buildings were unroofed.

Rain fell in torrents throughout the storm district and many streams were running bank full. Railroad and highway bridges were inundated and serious interruption of traffic was reported.

Heavy rain was reported from the Canadian border to Texas.

At Brockenridge, Tex., a small stream that passes near the town flooded more than 25 homes.

Storm warnings were issued for Lake Michigan. The storm that passed over Minnesota and Wisconsin during the day is gaining in intensity, the weather bureau report indicated Sunday night. It is traveling in a northeasterly direction and is expected to be felt over the entire lake region within the next few hours.

Chicago Escapes

Chicago is believed to have escaped the greatest fury of the storm. The temperature started mounting in Chicago early Sunday morning and reached 90 degrees at 8 o'clock. There was a sudden change of the wind and the temperature began falling and at midnight was down to 60 degrees. Colder weather was expected by morning.

The temperature has fallen decidedly in the rear of the storm, including most of the Mississippi valley and the southern plains states.

Wire communication was seriously interrupted through parts of Minnesota and Wisconsin and it was feared that the death list would be increased when communication is established. Invariably the places where heaviest damage results from storms are slow to report because of interrupted communication, weather bureau employees reported out.

High temperature was reported from stations in the southwest. San Antonio, Tex., reported 96 degrees, Mobile, Ala., 96 and Vicksburg, Miss., 94.

New York City Crowd Cheers La Follette

Candidate Given Great Ovation at Memorial Meeting To Von Steuben

Universal Service
New York, Sept. 21.—Thirty thousand people arose and cheered Senator Robert M. La Follette Sunday afternoon when he set foot in the Yankee stadium to be the guest of honor and to deliver the principal address in commemoration of the service rendered to this country by General Von Steuben.

When he mounted the speaker's stand, John Grossgebauer, chairman of the United States Societies of America, presented him as "the great American who is striving to bring the American constitution back to itself," and as "the next president of the United States."

Passing elevated trains interrupted him at times. "I've had trouble with the railroads all my life," he said with a broad smile. The audience laughed with him.

In his complimentary references to the people who have contributed to the best in American history, La Follette was interrupted when he mentioned "the Irish."

"Hooray for the Irish," yelled a group of voices.

The audience again cheered. When it had subsided, La Follette said "God bless them."

CANOVA ORGANIZED TO CURB CRIME EPIDEMIC

Canova, S. D., Sept. 18. (Special)—The town of Canova is taking every precaution possible to guard against robberies and daylight holdups. The business men are hiring an additional night watch who will patrol the streets in company with the regular night watch and, if occasion demands, an additional volunteer patrol may be added as a vigilance committee has been organized to protect the town from the hold-up artists who seem to be making South Dakota their field of operations.

NEW ANGLE IN ILLINOIS CASE FOUND SUNDAY

Attempt Made To Conned Divine With Death of Young Girl

Universal Service
Mount Vernon, Ill., Sept. 21.—Possibility that Rev. Lawrence M. Hight, sedate Methodist minister, held in jail here as a suspect in the fatal poisoning of his wife, Anna Hight, and Milford Sweetin, may also have been responsible for the death of a 16 year old girl at Centerville, Ill., three years ago, was being investigated by authorities here Sunday.

The story of the girl was learned when the picture was found in the Hight home. She died of ptomaine poisoning, which was first thought to have caused the death of Mrs. Hight and Sweetin. Later investigation, however, developed that arsenic in large quantities had been found in the stomachs of both Mrs. Hight and Sweetin.

Wife Jealous of Girl

Discovery of the hidden picture developed that it used to have a place on the Hight mantle, but that Mrs. Hight was jealous of the girl and demanded that her minister-husband remove it. He placed it in a frame behind a picture of his own.

Rev. Mr. Hight admitted that he had known the girl, authorities said—admitted that she had been a close friend. But he said that he could not recall her name.

"We are not overlooking any possibilities," said States Attorney Frank G. Thompson, in charge of the investigation. "It seems peculiar that Dr. Hight cannot remember the name of the girl."

Two Poisoned.

Rev. Mr. Hight was arrested last week then the authorities started an investigation of the death of his wife. Chemical analysis of the stomach of the dead woman disclosed the arsenic and not ptomaine poisoning was the cause of her death. Following this disclosure, an investigation into the death of Milford Sweetin, who died a short time before the death of Mrs. Hight, was also started. He also was supposed to have been a victim of ptomaine poisoning, but a report of chemists, given Sunday, said that he had been killed by arsenic.

Sweetin was the husband of Mrs. Elsie Sweetin, a special friend of the minister. They had been friends two or three years, close friends.

Motive is Clear.

Sate's Attorney Thompson has pointed out that there is a clear motive for the crime—if the minister is guilty. The investigation so far would indicate the minister wanted Mrs. Sweetin for himself. To get her, poison was administered her husband. Physicians believed he died of ptomaine poisoning. The next step was to be free from his wife. Poison also solved that problem.

While the authorities worked without rest to collect every bit of evidence that would shed light on the strange case, Rev. Mr. Hight was being closely guarded in the county jail. His children were allowed to visit him for the first time Sunday since his arrest.

Prisoner Breaks Down.

The minister broke down and cried when his youngest daughter told him that she did not believe him guilty and would pray for him every night.

"I will need all your prayers and I want you to pray for me as often as you can," he said. He told the little girl that he was not guilty.

His oldest daughter, Marie, with her husband, Robert Eaton and Robert, the minister's 12 year old son, were also present.

Mrs. Sweetin, the pretty young widow with whom the minister is said to have shown much attention both before and after the death of her husband, is ill at her home. The state's attorney plans to question her as soon as her health will permit.

PRINCE QUITS U. S. FOR VISIT TO HIS RANCH IN CANADA

Universal Service
Syosset, L. I., Sept. 21.—With a deep regret that he could not stay indefinitely in this most luxurious play-ground of history, the Prince of Wales terminated the diverting part of his vacation and entrained for Canada where he is to spend a period of monkish retirement.

There are only eight bedrooms in his ranch house, and these are furnished with bare and unpretentious simplicity. His nearest neighbors will be some 20 miles away, and there is no "social life" nearer than Calgary—67 miles.

STEAMER ON FIRE.

Hullfax, Sept. 21.—The big oil tanker Ivor from Philadelphia, is on fire at sea 500 miles off Cape Sable, N. S. The ship has been abandoned by the crew and is doomed, according to radios picked up here.

HE THINKS JUDGMENT MUCH TOO HEAVY

Lincoln, Neb., Sept. 17. (Special)—Arthur Atkins, filling station magnate of Buffalo county, has appealed to the supreme court from a judgment that he pay Jesse C. Skov $15,000 for alienating the affections of Mrs. Skov. He says that the proof failed to show that he had done any alienating, and that the verdict is so large as to justify the belief that it was the result of passion and prejudice.

MEANS ADMITS HE LIED BEFORE SENATE INQUIRY

Chief Investigator says Much of Testimony Against Daugherty False

Universal Service
Washington, Sept. 21.—John W. Davis, democratic nominee for president, was denounced in strong language by former Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty, "for various insinuations implying misconduct" while he was head of the department of justice.

In a letter made public here, Daugherty berated Davis for accepting without verification, testimony offered before the Brookhart-Wheeler committee as the basis for "innuendo suggesting improper conduct by me in my official capacity."

Accompanying the Daugherty broadside, was a statement signed by Gaston B. Means, chief investigator for the Brookhart-Wheeler committee, in which Means candidly confessed that he perjured himself in his testimony before the Senate committee in his reflections on the work and conduct of Harry M. Daugherty when head of the department of justice. Means stated:

"The testimony given before the Wheeler committee by Roxie Stinson, R. Momand, myself and the majority of the other witnesses, was nothing but a tissue of lies put in the mouths of these witnesses by Senator Wheeler primarily to confound and discredit the department of justice and the administration."

Daugherty, in his letter to Davis, said the exigencies of a political campaign did not warrant the democratic candidate in connecting his name with "others" and he declared that "to insinuate something improper to me is neither in harmony with the facts nor consonant with the reputation you have enjoyed."

He told Davis that the government's special counsel—Pomerene and Roberts—completely exonerated him from any connection whatever with the oil leases.

As to the Brookhart-Wheeler investigation, he told Davis he should have verified the evidence submitted before that committee, as a matter of fairness, before using any of the material in the campaign, "to besmirch me."

Daugherty declared he has not yet been charged with one specific offense reflecting upon his official integrity or personal honor. He said even the Brookhart-Wheeler committee reluctantly acquitted him of any negligence in the prosecution of the cantonment and the war fraud cases.

Efforts of the committee made by corrupt means, he added, to connect him with alleged improper transactions on the part of others, failed utterly, "despite the indecent methods and prejudicial conduct."

Daugherty emphasized the retraction by Means of his statements before the Brookhart committee. He said that "Means lays bare the details of the conspiracy of a majority of the Senate committee, not only to ruin me and those connected with the administration but to discredit the department of justice."

Daugherty ended his letter by a veiled attack upon Senators La Follette and Wheeler. He said the fundamentals of this nation are besieged "by a desperate element composed of the malcontents, the misguided, the revolutionists and the light-minded, ever ready for a change, no matter what."

He declared it is not so much "whether we are republicans or democrats this year, but the test is, are we real Americans?"

Comfortable Traveling

For comfort in summer motoring wear bathing suits, say Misses Flora McGish and Belle Taunton of Ash-tabula, Ohio, who were the well-known cynosure of all eyes when they passed through Westfield attired in one-piece bathing suits. Much Honey in Tree Trunk

In taking up a big black oak on an Orwell (Vt.) farm, A. A. Saunders and his son Dorus found a cavity in its trunk twenty inches in diameter and six feet in length completely filled with honey. Two hundred pounds were taken from the tree, and the owner of the farm, Frank Charlton, was present when the bees were transferred from the tree, and received for his share two ten-gallon milk cans full of honey.

Light Church Bells

The village of Allraht, near Cologne, Germany, boasts of the first church bells made of alloy of aluminum and copper. Their weight being only one-third of the traditional bronze bells, the superstructures of the steeples may be built more lightly and inexpensively. Furthermore, there is no danger of the bursting or rusting of bells made of aluminum.
