Dr. C. H. Lubker spent Sunday with his family at Arlington, Nebraska. The Doctor has rented the Henry Stanton residence in the north part of the city and will move his family here the latter part of this week.

The bazaar dinner and dance given by the Catholic ladies, at the K. C. Hall Wednesday and Thursday of this week was a success in every way. The Ash Srtatton orchestra, of Omaha, furnished the music for the dance each evening.

A young fellow, a deaf mute, was picked up at Spencer today in possession of an auto belonging to Carl Tenborg, which he is supposed to have appropriated from the streets of this city a short time before he was taken up by the authorities. His hearing will be held Saturday.

A family reunion is being held at the home of Tony Greseck. A sister, Mrs. Byslin accompanied by two half-sisters and a half brother, Mrs. Hannah Alm, Mrs. Lulu Ziemer and Fred Meyer drove over from Fairmont, Minnesota, last Wednesday evening. This is the first time that the family has been together for twenty-five years.

FARMER'S HOPE IS IN G. O. P. ASSERTS SENATOR NORBECK

Legislation to place the farmer's dollar on a parity with those of other classes, and the chances of securing it under a Republican, a Democratic or a La Follette administration, was the theme of United States Senator Peter Norbeck of South Dakota, speaking to a good audience at O'Neill Friday afternoon and to a large one at Atkinson Friday night.

It is the history of farm-labor and producer-consumer organizations, he said in first paying his respects to the La Follette movement, that they eventually throw their strength and support to the stronger of the two factions composing the organization, which because of lack of organization is never the farmer or producer end of the combination.

When, during the war, he continued, the price of wheat was fixed at $2 by the administration it in reality was a maximum price which when the price of labor and other commodities soared away out of proportion to that of the farmer's product, became an unjust and restrictive oppression to the producer. At that time he as the governor of South Dakota, acting with the governors of Nebraska and the other northwest agricultural states and their congressional delegations, besought the administration to raise the price of wheat or at least take off the restriction. Their petitions and efforts had some prospect of success until the head of the largest farm-labor organization, the Non-Partisan league, in a letter to the administration declared that the farmer at $2 per bushel was getting enough for his wheat. This ignoring the rights of the minority to pander to the majority merely bore out the history of the farm-labor organization.

He urged the return of Congressman Simmons from the Sixth district and the election of Republican congressional candidates in the state in the interest of agriculture and to avoid disaster to the northwest.

Comparing the Republican policy of including agriculture in the protective tariff with the Democratic doctrine of free trade, the senator recited a little British history of the last sixty years under a free trade policy which, he said, had ruthlessly sacrificed the British farmer for the manufacturer. And then, in closing Senator Norbeck asked why, if as La Follette had said, congress is not to be trusted, does the Wisconsin senator want congress to review court decisions?

Senator Norbeck's addresses at O'Neill and Atkinson met with the endorsement of his farmer audiences and were favorably commented upon afterward. They concluded his speeches in Nebraska and he spoke in Gregory county, South Dakota, Saturday.

JOSEPH CLEMENT HORISKEY.

Joseph Clement Horiskey was born in Elkader, Iowa, and moved to Holt county with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Horiskey, when a small child. He spent the early part of his life on the homestead northeast of O'Neill. He moved to O'Neill with his parents at the age of fourteen years and at the age of fifteen years began working in a grocery store, and continued this line until in 1902 when he entered the grocery business for himself and has continuously conducted the store until his death last Sunday evening.

Joe, as he was familiarly known, enjoyed a wide circle of friends among all classes and was an untiring worker for the best interests of O'Neill and adjoining territory. He was one of the leaders in the community's progress.

A number of traveling salesmen who had been calling on Mr. Horiskey for many years, called at the home Monday in respect for their departed friend.

He was united in marriage to Miss Susie McManus of this city, on October 22, 1907.

The deceased leaves a father, three sisters, Mrs. W. H. Miller and Miss Dorothy, of Salina, Kansas, and Miss Mary G., of this city; three brothers, John, of Cody, Wyoming; Walter and Michael of this city, besides a host of friends.

The entire business section of O'Neill was closed during the funeral hour Wednesday morning.

The funeral services were held from St. Patrick's church Wednesday morning at nine o'clock. Burial was made in Calvary cemetery.

FOOT BALL.

The Butte high school came, saw and was conquered to the tune of 57 to 0, Friday, October 24. The entire squad was used in the game.

At all times the locals were masters of the situation being forced to punt but once. Butte came into possession of the ball on intercepting passes and fumbles only to be held for downs and forced to punt.

The brand of foot ball displayed, though against a weaker team, was a great improvement over that of the previous games and with more work they should compare favorably with the teams of this section of the state.

There were no outstanding stars in the game for the accomplishments of any individual were made possible by the "team work" of the eleven men. A noticeable feature was the greater fighting spirit of the entire team.

This week's game will be played at Spencer, an aggregation reputed to be both husky and speedy. O. H. S. can be depended upon to fight it out to the finish.

His Best Years for Service Ahead

An Unsolicited Testimonial
W. L. PHILLEY
What his home town friends think of him

W. L. Philley, candidate for the State Senate, District No. 22, is a man of more than ordinary business ability. He is frequently consulted and his council has invariably resulted in sound procedure.

His entire time is devoted to the betterment of everybody.

He is a first-class man on general principles.

He assisted in the organization of and later managed the Ewing Creamery which has for a year and a half been successfully operated. This Creamery has resulted in a higher price for butterfat about four cents more per pound being paid in southern Holt county because of it.

At this time he is secretary and treasurer of the Ewing Agricultural Credit Corporation, which organization has loaned the farmers of this community ninety thousand dollars at six and one-half per cent interest.

This organization is composed almost entirely of farmers and was organized for the purpose of obtaining money from The Federal Intermediate Bank.

He has always been a booster for this part of Nebraska, is a land owner and personally interested in the welfare of the farmer and stock raiser.

Mr. Philley believes that as a member of the Senate he can greatly extend his usefulness and his record at home attests the fact.

The undersigned citizens and business men heartily recommend him to the voters of the 22nd State Senatorial District.

Simmons. We have one good reason for this and a lot of other reasons which are nearly as good. The one reason is that he has a future in Congress. The Sixth district should be represented by a man who can get something done. Congressman Simmons didn't get much done last term. He was too new. There are several hundred congressional districts in the United States where the voters are scrapping over democrat and republican and changing congressmen back and forth and they are scarcely represented at all in congress. Then there are a number of districts where the voters have learned that it is not so important whether their congressman is democratic or republican as it is to find a good man and then keep him there. These districts are getting all the favors. We would like to put the sixth Nebraska in the latter class and keep Bob Simmons in Washington as long as he behaves himself. That isn't saying anything against his opponent.—Editor Wilson, Tout in The North Platte Tribune.

S. E. KELLEY FOR COUNTY JUDGE

To the Voters of O'Neill and Holt County:

I am a candidate for County Judge and would appreciate your support. Have an L. L. B. Degree, also certificate of Admission in the State of Indiana, and feel confident to take care of the office, if elected.

S. E. KELLEY.

NOTES FROM THE EAST END.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Hansen, of Gregory, South Dakota, was looking after their farm property in this vicinity last Friday.

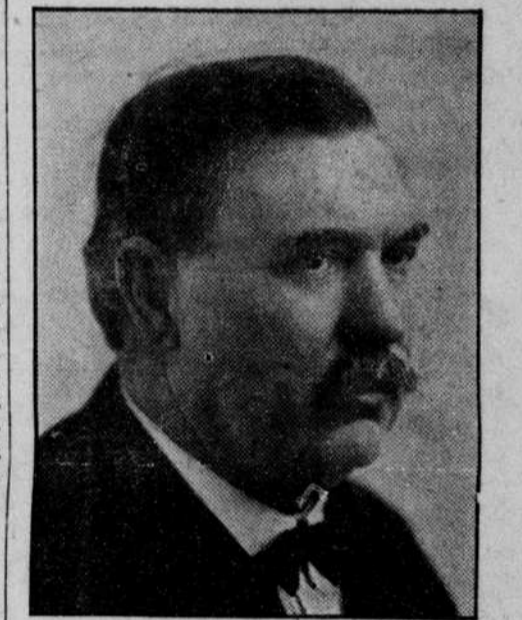

Mrs. M. A. Summers accompanied her son, Leslie, to Yankton, South Dakota, on Wednesday of last week when he was united in marriage to Miss Ethel Goree, of Inman. Mrs. Summers says that the new bride is a wonderful sight and a great benefit to both states. There is a large boulder on the court house grounds at Yankton that featured in the Indian raid of 1862 when the white people took refuge there when they were attacked by the Indians.

GET AT THE CAUSE!

Many O'Neill Folks Are Showing How To Avoid Needless Suffering.

There's nothing more annoying than kidney weakness or inability to properly control the kidney secretions. Night and day alike, the sufferer is tormented and what with the burning and scalding, the attendant backache, headache and dizziness, life is indeed a burden. Doan's Pills—a stimulant diuretic to the kidneys—have brought peace and comfort to many O'Neill people. Profit by this O'Neill resident's experience.
